Mellon Knows How Suggestion, Offered Humbly Foolish Dream, Wise Man When We're in the Court

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

ON MONDAY, in this prosperous country, there was a "turnover" of one billion eight hundred million dollars in tax payments and Treasury financing alone. Not a ripple on the surface of the financial waters.

INTEREST rates didn't go up. "Call money," the kind used for Wall Street speculation, remained at 4½ per cent, with unorganized lenders, "on the outside" offering to lend at 4 per cent.

SECRETARY MELLON knows how to handle big finance smoothly. To him a billion dollars is ONLY a billion dollars. Perhaps that's because he has a billion or so of his own.

A mother with a baby handles other babies easily.

JOB was wise enough not to answer the Lord when speaking "out of the whirlwind," and a newspaper man should be wise enough not to offer suggestions to rulers of high finance.

Nevertheless, this suggestion is offered to President Hoover and to Secretary Mellon.

ISN'T the nation paying off bonded indebtedness with unnecessary speed?

Secretary Mellon has done marvels in reducing the national debt by billions during our period of excessive prosperity.

Would it not be worth while to hold down on bond retirements by income tax now, letting payments from foreign countries, IF and WHEN they pay us, retire some of the bonds? They got the money.

GIGANTICALLY heavy income taxes such as the nation now pays is bad for business, and general prosperity. No gathering of $100,000,000 will change the fact that excessive taxes discourage initiative and inflate Congressional spending?

After all, this generation didn't start the war, and didn't lend the thousands of millions to Europe. Why make the living pay the whole load in a hurry?

Why not reduce the payments on the principal of our national indebtedness to say $500,000,000 a year? If we can be so patient about Europe's payments to us, why not be patient about the American citizen's payment of the war debt, so asininely contracted?

AT Linares, Spain, a woman dreamed that a lottery ticket with the numbers 55,363 would win the grand $2,100,000 prize in the forthcoming lottery.

In Spain the people are encouraged to buy lottery tickets as they once were in this country. People don't like to pay taxes, but are willing to contribute to the state by gambling.

AFTER the lady dreamed, the crowd broke in and wrecked the store of the man that owned ticket 55,363, and police rescued him.

A foolish man would have waited to win the grand prize. Not so with the owner of the ticket.

He organized a lottery of his own, sold 4,000 shares in his dream ticket, and made a big profit.

IN THE Aegean Sea, Turkey and Italy claim 15 islands. Turkey asks the World Court, which in reality is the judicial arm of the League of Nations, to settle the question.

What questions concerning us will be submitted to the World Court when we get in?

And what chance will "Uncle Shylock" have in that court prejudiced and packed at least ten to one against him? Will the Court, first of all, re-interpret the Monroe doctrine?

THOSE, including European friends, that criticize our sending of Marines to Haiti, are reminded that they are there in virtue of a treaty made in 1906, under which the United States agreed "should necessity arise to lend efficient aid for the preservation of Haitian independence, the maintenance of government for the protection of life, and of individual liberty."

At present 100 different Haitian patriots are candidates for the presidency, all at once. That alone calls for Marines. Our brethern in Haiti run for president strenuously.

MANAGERS of business on a smaller scale will be interested to learn that Gen. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., with 40,000 employes, adopts the calendar year of 13 months for business purposes in place of the old year.

The 13-month year, 28 days in every month, one day over each year, every day of every week falling on the same day of the month year after year, facilitates and simplifies business, and makes it easier to make comparisons.

The 13-month arrangement ought to be adopted all over the world. But it is hard to change old customs.

MERCURY TO DROP 20 DEGREES

Snowdrifts and Gale Cripple Mid-West Transportation; Spread Death, Destruction

Much colder weather was headed toward this district today, with prospect of a 20-degree drop in temperature tonight.

By tomorrow morning the mercury will be between 20 and 25 degrees, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman predicted, compared with 43 at 8 a. m. today.

Light snow will follow the rain. Tomorrow the temperature will decline further, Brotzman said, and by Friday morning may be down to 10 degrees.

BLIZZARD HITS WEST

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—A howling, raging blizzard swept into the Middle West today, borne on a 45-mile-an-hour gale, and caused death, destruction of property, traffic accidents and impeded transportation in all sections.

Huge drifts of snow cluttered highways, delaying bus services. Trains crept into stations hours late. Air mail pilots were unable to complete their schedules and many planes were forced down when visibility became extremely bad.

Such was the force of the gale that several roofs were blown down in Chicago, imperiling the lives of many.

Telegraph and telephone facilities were hampered.

One man blown from a lake boat here was drowned and a policeman attempting to rescue the body was himself blown into the lake and rescued only with great difficulty.

Lake Michigan was churned into a heaving monster. Warnings were broadcast to lake vessels.

The storm was scheduled to cease by night, but zero temperatures were predicted to follow.

BRITISH FLIERS CRASH, REPORT

PARIS, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—The French air ministry this afternoon received a report that a large airplane, carrying two men, crashed at Zaghoun, in the south of Tunis, killing both occupants.

Fears were expressed that the plane might have been that of Squadron Leader A. G. Jones-Williams and Flight Lieut. N. H. Jenkins, British war aces, attempting a nonstop flight from England to South Africa.

The reports emanated from native sources in Tunis, and were without official confirmation. They said that the plane crashed and was destroyed some time yesterday, but that apparently the bodies had not been identified.

The air ministry immediately communicated with its agents in Tunis in an attempt to obtain confirmation of the report.

Slight Gain Made By Mabel Normand

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Mabel Normand, once one of the screen's most prominent actresses, is slightly improved, her physician, Dr. Francis M. Pottenger, said today, but her condition still is serious. Miss Normand has been making a desperate fight against tuberculosis at a sanitarium in Monrovia, Cal., near here, for several months.

"We have noticed a slight change recently," Dr. Pottenger said, "but Miss Normand's condition still is serious."

Miss Normand is the wife of Lew Cody, film actor.

Released Dry Law Violator In W. Va. Wounds 2 Women And Girl; Mobs Feared

ROMNEY, W. Va., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Three persons were killed and three others wounded by a man who visited them at their homes here early today and shot them down with a shotgun. A justice of the peace, the county jailer and another man were slain. An 11-year-old girl and two women were injured.

Walter Crabtree, 35, was arrested as the slayer. A list of names, presumably of intended victims, was found on him. At first it was believed he was crazed by rum, but officials later said he "did not appear to be so drunk."

TALKED OF 'CLEAN-UP'

Residents of the town said Crabtree had talked previously of the "clean-up" he was going to make, after he had frequently been in trouble with the authorities, serving jail terms from time to time.

One of the victims, Asa Wolford, 28, was slain as he sat at the bedside of his father, who was ill. The county jailer, Ben E. Miller, 55, was shot down at the jail, where he lived. Miller was decapitated by the charge from the shotgun.

The slain justice of the peace was H. C. Inskeep, 50, a prominent citizen of the town. He was called to the door of his home and shot in the abdomen.

The wounded persons were Mrs. Carrie Wright, Mrs. Grace Woolford and Mildred Hott, 11. Sheriff J. B. Saville said none of them was seriously hurt.

"DEATH LIST" FOUND

Crabtree was arrested an hour after the slayer man had walked through the streets of the town dealing out death with his shotgun. Crabtree completed a six months' jail sentence two weeks ago for possessing liquor.

County authorities said the death list, including the names of the slain men and others, was found on Crabtree.

Feeling in the town ran high against Crabtree, and he was

MERGER FORMS STEEL GIANT

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The third largest steel corporation in the United States was in existence in this midwest center of coal and iron ore distribution today through the genius of Cyrus S. Eaton, of Cleveland, who led the way to approval of a $350,000,000 merger by directors of four companies.

The merger, announced here last night, creates a vast system of operations centered in Northern Ohio, with Great Lakes fleets bringing down iron ore from the fields of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan and coal pouring in from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Alabama.

As important as this merger is, however, financial leaders see it as only the forerunner to further combinations with the Youngstown Sheet and Tube, of Youngstown, and the Inland Steel, of Chicago, forming a corporation

Whalen Lays N. Y. Crimes to Youths

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Reviewing the first year of his administration of the New York Police Department, which was completed today, Commissioner Grover A. Whalen declared there are no hardened criminals operating in the city now. "Every business must take stock at regular intervals," he said. "Our stock in trade is the criminal element. Through bringing the gangsters and other known criminals into headquarters we eliminated the criminal from New York. The crime we have now is of spontaneous origin and is done chiefly by the youths of 17 and 18 years of age."

TAKE 57 BODIES FROM MINE

Search continued for remaining bodies.

Danger of another explosion was threatened the rescue workers as they labored to bring to the surface the bodies of their dead comrades.

According to Miller D. Hay, chief state mine inspector, gas is so dense in the lower shaft where the bodies of the remaining victims are located that rescue workers are in constant danger.

The explosion of the Old Town mine was one of the greatest disasters in the history of the Southwest. The explosion shook buildings within a mile radius. The mine is located one mile north of McAlester.

Moody, Jr., San Francisco bond salesman, are expected to appear at the county clerk's office in Oakland and file notice of intention to marry. Three days later the couple may come back to obtain their wedding license.

Whether or not the marriage ceremony will take place at the expiration of the three-day filing period is not known.

Prisoner Seeking Quick Parole to Raise Poultry

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—Because March is a poor time to start in the poultry business, the State Board of Pardons today was asked to act immediately in the case of Charles H. McClintock, Franklin County.

McClintock will be eligible for parole in March. He was sentenced in 1924 to a five-year term for larceny of an automobile, but later escaped from jail and was given an additional one to two-year term when recaptured.

McClintock's counsel pointed out that although McClintock could be released in March the poultry business for next year will be too far advanced to enable McClintock to engage in it profitably at that time.

B. & O. BLOCKED BY DERAILMENT

A coal train wreck at Mars early today blocked traffic over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad between Pittsburgh and Butler.

One of a train of 60 cars was derailed in passing over a small bridge at Breakneck Creek. Half a dozen cars piled up while several others toppled into the creek and were demolished.

Two tracks were torn up for 50 yards. Crews were rushed from Pittsburgh and began clearing away the wreckage.

A broken arch bar on one of the cars was blamed for the wreck. No one was injured.

Snook Execution Delay Lengthened

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Failure of the Ohio Supreme Court today to pass on two motions for review of the case of Dr. James H. Snook, deposed Ohio State University professor, and slayer of Theora Hix, a co-ed, will not result Friday in his execution, it was said by court officials today.

Although the stay of execution granted by the court ends Friday, the petition in error as of right filed by Dr. Snook's attorneys will automatically stay the electrocution, it was said.

Cadman Sees Yule Spirit Widespread

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The real Christmas spirit has never been so diffused as at present, in the opinion of the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, who is 65 years old today. He believes there has been a tremendous increase in world-wide spirituality in recent years.

REAL ESTATE MEN BATTLE PROPOSED ADVANCE

Armstrong and Babcock Ill, Likely to Delay Hearing Until After First of Year

The protest against higher taxes swelled in volume today as citizens prepared to register formal objection to the proposed increase of one mill in the county levy.

It was announced that all the taxpayers' organizations which fought the raise in the city tax rate, approved by Council yesterday, would participate in a demonstration against a higher county millage. A number of organizations from outside of the city will join in the campaign.

REAL ESTATE BOARDS UNITE

McKeesport, Braddock, North Boroughs and McKees Rocks real estate boards will unite with the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, it was said, in representing to the commissioners that a raise in the levy will make the burden borne by real estate difficult to support.

Comprehensive data are now being prepared with a view to showing the commissioners how serious the effect of the increase will be.

J. W. Bamford, chairman of the taxation committee of the Buildings Owners and Managers Association, received today a letter from County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, stating that Joseph G. Armstrong, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, still was confined to his home by illness, but that on his return to his office a hearing would be granted on the tax matter.

BABCOCK ILL, TOO

Commissioner E. V. Babcock is also indisposed. It was said at the commissioners' office that there was scant likelihood that budget hearings would be held until after the first of the year, and that the protestants against tax increase would be heard at that time.

Bamford said today that while the increase of 1 mill on land and ½ mill on buildings in the city tax was a serious matter it might have been worse, and he believed the increase might have been greater had the citizens not made a formidable protest.

J. W. Cree, Jr., president of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, said he was "bitterly disappointed" over the action of Council.

FIGHT TO CONTINUE

Both Cree and Bamford emphasized that the plans for the protest to the County Commissioners would go ahead unaffected by the increase in the city tax rate.

While the taxpayers' organizations that are opposing increase in the levy are disappointed, they are not discouraged, it was said.

The Real Estate Board is preparing reports for the City Council in answer to that body's invitation to submit suggestions as to how the City-County Building can be more efficiently and more economically conducted, and the Growing Doll Demand Swamps Doll Lady

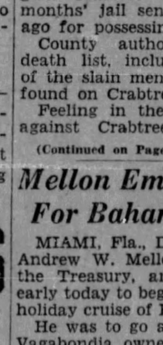
By THE DOLL LADY

Just another week before Christmas! My, my, how time flies! I wonder how many of my glorious wonder singing dolls I am going to give away during this week of all weeks.



Doll Lady

I know that there are hundreds of little girls in Pittsburgh and vicinity who are determined to own one of these dolls before the holidays are over. Hundreds and hundreds have faithfully promised me that they will do exactly what I have asked them to do. Many, yes, a great many, have already received their dolls and their happiness for the holidays is already complete.

When I promised to give away my dolls I knew that there was going to be a tremendously big demand but I never realized that it was going to swamp me.

SUBURBS REPRESENTED

In looking over the list of names and addresses, I found every community in and around Pittsburgh represented — Wilkinsburg, Clairton, East End, East Liberty, Homewood, Homestead, Brookline, Squirrel Hill—in fact, there didn't seem to be any residential section missing.

One of the fortunate little girls was Rita Wassel, 612 Holice street, Herron Hill. Rita is just six years old and is more in love with her big, singing doll than

ROSZIKA DOLLY FREE OF FRAUD

PARIS, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—A magistrate today dismissed complaints that Roszika Dolly, actress, had obtained $280,000 in pearls under false pretenses from Parisian jewelers.

Two necklaces which she refused to give up have been placed under sequestration. It is understood the jewelers will commence a civil process for their restitution.

Miss Dolly claimed the necklaces were given her by her husband, Mortimer Davis, Jr., son of the Canadian tobacco magnate They have been reported estranged and about to be divorced.

$100,000 Fee Awarded Davidson Attorneys

A fee of $100,000 for legal services rendered the estate of Mrs. Eleanor H. Davidson was awarded Attorney Arnold M. Replogle and the law firm of Thorp, Bostwick, Stewart & Reed, by Judge James D. Drew today.

The attorneys contended, in their claim for the large fee, that through their efforts approximately $410,000 of the assets of the estate which, they alleged, had been misappropriated, were recovered. They also declared they brought about the resignation of former Judge Henry G. Wasson and Attorney George H. Calvert, as a committee in charge of the estate of Mrs. Davidson, a mental incompetent.

Mismanagement of the estate was charged against Judge Wasson and Attorney Calvert by Attorney Replogle and the law firm with which he was associated in the case.

The court also allowed $2,500 for former Lieut. Gov. Walter Lyon, who served as auditor.

Claimants of the fee were engaged by the mother and two sisters of Mrs. Davidson, who contended the services were worth about $50,000.

Judge Drew held that the charge was practically a contingent fee, and had there been no recovery there would have been no fee for services.

A petition seeking the disbarment of Wasson and Calvert for their alleged mismanagement of the estate, recently was filed with the State Bar.

VARE AND DAVIS COMPLICATE STATE POLITICAL SITUATION

LABOR HEAD EYES FISHER MANTLE

'Firends Insisting I Run for Governor,' He Asserts; Vare Through, Says Kirby

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—Announcements from Washington and Philadelphia concerning the aspirations of political leaders today failed to clarify the situation in Pennsylvania.

In Philadelphia, William S. Vare is reported to have told his physician that he is tired of politics and wants a complete rest. This would indicate that Vare has removed himself as a candidate at the next election.

From Washington, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis has announced that requests by his friends that he be an independent candidate for governor are becoming more insistent.

"I do not see how I can refuse them," he is quoted as saying.

The Mellon-Grundy-Fisher combine is reported lining up behind State Chairman Edward Martin for governor. Vare, it is said, hopes to deal with that faction for former Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown for the gubernatorial nomination, giving Joseph R. Grundy a clear field for the Senate.

In the event that Secretary Davis fails to get the organization support there are rumors that he will align himself with Gifford Pinchot, who aspires to the United States senatorship.

SAYS VARE WILL QUIT

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—William S. Vare, recently denied a seat in the United States Senate on the ground of excessive campaign expenditures, was quoted last night by his physician, Elwood R. Kirby, as having declared that he was tired of politics and wanted a complete rest.

Dr. Kirby said Vare had made the statement when he examined him at his seashore home in Atlantic City.

Shortly after his rejection by the Senate, Vare announced that he was "in the fight to a finish" and that he would be a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination at the primary in May against Joseph R. Grundy or anyone else.

Last week Vare collapsed from fatigue and exhaustion, attributed by his physician to his fight for the Senate seat and a motor trip to Lancaster.

WILL QUIT RACE

"Unless some unforeseen political situation develops," Dr. Kirby said, "Mr. Vare will withdraw from the Senate contest to which he recently committed himself.

"I have said nothing definite to him on the subject as yet, but I shall. I may not force the decision on him for some time. It all depends on his condition and his mental attitude as to when I shall do so."

Mrs. Vare was said to have indicated that she was fully in accord with Dr. Kirby's opinion that her husband should retire from politics and to have intimated that any advice given by the doctor would be supplemented by her own and that of her daughters.

AIDES APPROVE GRUNDY

Several of the most powerful factors in the Vare organization here have publicly expressed their approval of Grundy's appointment to the Senate seat from which Vare was barred, and it is generally believed in political circles that Grundy will be unopposed in the primary.

Reports that the Vare organization would back former Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown for the Republican gubernatorial nomination as part of a [illegible] deal with the Mellon-Fisher-Grundy leadership could not be confirmed.

Governor of Korea Accused of Bribery

TOKIO, Dec. 18. — (AP.) — Japan's second major political scandal in three months came to light when the government, after obtaining permission from Emperor Hirohito, ordered the indictment of Gen. Hanzo Yamanaski, governor-general of Korea, whose regime has been charged with the acceptance of bribes.

The bribery accusation resulted from the granting of permission to establish a rice exchange at Fusan, Korea. News of the government's action created as big a sensation as did the arrest of Heikichi Ogawa, former minister of railways, on a bribery charge.

So when you come in to see me, be sure to register your name and address and I'll mail you a membership card to my National Doll Club. This card will admit you to all of these parties.

If you have had a talk with me and really started to do what I told you to do, you should come to The Sun-Telegraph Doll Lady headquarters and reserve the doll you want me to save for you.

If you'll come in today, I'll give you a charming little present and I'll put away the dolly you select with your name on it so that you will be sure to get just the doll you want. I've said so much about this marvelous, big singing doll that it seems like bragging but everyone of the thousands who have seen her, have heard her actually sing and recite with a voice that is so nearly human you couldn't tell it apart with your eyes closed, tells me that I have not overdone it.

In fact, many say that my descriptions really fail to tell how wonderful and how beautiful these dolls really are.

Now, little girls, don't wait until the crowds get so big that you won't have a chance to get acquainted with my marvelous dollies. Come in and see me right away. I'll tell you how easy it is to get a doll for yourself.

George M. Cohan Will Enter Films

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—The man who has waved the American flag over Broadway for 25 years is going to Hollywood. George M. Cohan, actor, composer, producer and director on the legitimate stage, today had signed a contract with the United Artists Corporation to give his talents to the screen beginning in March or April.

The first duty of the Broadway song-and-dance man will be to prepare a story, with music, for Al Jolson, who is leaving Warner Brothers to appear in a Cohan vehicle for United Artists.

Skirts for Spring Six Inches Below Knees

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Skirts for spring, as displayed at a fashion exhibition of the United Cloak and Suit Designers, are six inches below the knee. The showing precedes the usual Paris revelation of forthcoming modes by more than a month.

Up rises Jacques Worth, of Paris, with a 267-word telegram to the papers expressing astonishment over formation of a Fashion League by New York society women to resist manmade styles. All that he and other such creators do is to interpret women, he says.

He is applying for membership in the league.

REMUS MILLION CACHE TRACED

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. — (AP.) — The missing million dollars that George Remus is presumed to have cached was sought today in two safety deposit boxes, one here, the other in Evanston.

There has been much speculation of the large sum "the king of bootleggers" is presumed to have hidden away before he was sent to the Atlanta penitentiary, before he shot and killed his second wife in Cincinnati. Later Remus was freed of a murder charge on the ground of insanity and subsequently was released from the asylum to which he had been sent.

The order permitting drilling to open the boxes was issued yesterday, it was understood, at the request of the banks. The missing fortune is reported to consist of Liberty bonds, cash and diamonds.

Rob Shop Window Twice in 3 Days

For the second time in three days, a brick was hurled through the window of Kappel's jewelry store, 109 Sixth street, today, and jewelry taken. Monday, wrist watches worth $140 were taken. Today two men's watches worth $150 were stolen.

Thieves forced a window in Schenley Service Station, 3260 Bigelow boulevard, and escaped with $25 after smashing a pay telephone.

CITIZENS FIGHT INCREASE IN COUNTY TAX

stalls in the city market houses made to produce most revenue.

FLOOD RELIEF COSTLY

That body's financial problems were added to today when, at a meeting of the budget committee, Councilman Harry Little pointed out that the courts have already ordered $726,000 property damages incurred in raising North Side streets above the flood level. The property damage for similar work in 1930 was estimated at $1,070,000. It is not unlikely that these obligations will be met by issuing short-term bonds.

The four minority members fought vainly against fixing the levy at an increase at least until the department requests could be thoroughly examined in detail.

"If the Mayor suggests 26 and 13 mills we ought to agree," declared English, who made the motion to fix the rate.

Herron, who seconded English, remarked:

"If we set these rates we know what they will bring in and can cut the cloth accordingly."

The majority also increased water rents 2 cents on each class of metered service, placing an added burden, estimated at $200,000, annually on household and industrial consumers.

BUDGET UP $1,927,000

James W. Gray, chairman of the board of water assessors, said the 2-cent increase would yield $245,000 annually, which, based on this year's figures, would bring the water revenue total to $2,747,500 in 1930.

The budget submitted by Mayor Kline totals approximately $27,533,000, or $1,927,000 more than this year's appropriations.

That excess will have to be cut to about $675,000 to bring the estimated expenses within the increased tax, or it will have to be reduced greatly by chimerical revenues hinted at by the majority members.

Vehement denunciation of the increased property tax and water rates was expressed yesterday by representative real estate owners, civic leaders and officials of trade organizations.

Their protests will become more articulate, they declared, through a proposed organization of tax payers that will seek to protect their interests before and during consideration of future budgets.

PROVIDES PAY BOOSTS

Pay increases were the factors that compelled the higher tax rates, according to Mayor Kline, who explained to Council that but for the pay raises, the tax levy could have been reduced eight-tenths of a mill on land and four-tenths on buildings.

Factional politics seems to be holding Council back from legislating for the increased pay for policemen and firemen and other city employes getting not more than $2,040 a year.

Rumors indicate the plan is to defer passing the necessary salary ordinances until Malone and McArdle retire from Council next January 6 and thus deprive them of any political advantage that might come from supporting the pay raisers.

Money for the pay raises is included in the budget, but Council must pass enabling ordinances to increase the payrolls.

Motions to increase the taxes and water rates were supported by Alderdice, English, Herron, Kambach and Little. Opposed were Anderson, Garland, McArdle and President Malone.

'GHOST' DENIES OWN MURDER ON STAND

Youth Claims He Is Fiance Whom Girl Charges Was Slain and Body Buried

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark., Dec. 18.—The man who says he is Connie Franklin went on the witness stand here today and testified that he is the same person whom four men, now on trial, are charged with torturing and burning to death.

The witness said his real name was Marion Franklin Rogers, but in recent years he had gone under the name of Connie Franklin.

He said he was an inmate of the state hospital for nervous diseases for a few months and escaped in 1927.

WORKED AS FARM HAND

He described his arrival in the St. James community last January, staying the first night at the home of S. H. Greenway, father of Herman Greenway, one of the defendants.

His first job as a farm hand, he said, was with Joe White, another defendant. Next he worked for Herman Greenway, he said.

"We just sparked a little," the witness said when asked if he had a love affair with Tiller Ruminer, the state's star witness.

Then he began relating the story of his movements on the day Franklin was reputed to have been slain.

He and Herman Greenway, Hubert Hester and Alex Fulks, all defendants, started to Mountain View to get a marriage license for him and the Ruminer girl, he said. They all got drunk, he added, and he fell off a mule. He said he regained consciousness two or three hours later and went first to the Ruminer home and then to Herman Greenway's home. That night he and Tiller started to the home of Finis Ford a justice of the peace, to be married.

JUSTICE AWAY

They stopped at S. H. Greenway's, he said, and learned there Ford was away from home. Then they returned to Herman Greenway's where he went to bed while the girl sat up all night, he added.

"The next morning," he said, "Tiller told me she wanted to put off the wedding until fall. I told her there wasn't any use of doing that. She said, "Well, I want to."

"I walked across the porch and called her over. She said if I had anything to say, go ahead and say it because she was through. I said, 'Well, I'm through, too.'

"I walked out the gate and started after my cap where I'd lost it the day before and just kept on going."

He told where he spent the first night and continued to trace his movements from that time until he was found at Humphrey, Ark., 10 days ago.

In concluding the direct questioning defense counsel asked:

"You weren't beaten to death and burned last March were you?"

"Well, I don't look like it and don't feel like it," he replied amid laughter.

TWO STAR WITNESSES

The state's case, closed last night, was built largely on two witnesses—the Ruminer girl, who is 17, and Reuben Harrell, a deaf mute youth, who had to testify through an interpreter.

Tiller denied that the youth who says he is Franklin was her sweetheart.

"That man says he is Connie," she said, pointing to him across the courtroom, "but he is not my Connie."

The girl said the last time she saw her fiance was when he was lying on the ground in the St. James hills sobbing "You've killed me," and breathing with difficulty from a beating administered him by the four defendants.

The deaf mute boy testified that on Sunday, March 10, the day after the Ruminer girl said she witnessed the beating of Franklin, he was strolling in the woods in that vicinity and saw Greenway dragging Franklin's body toward a big log fire. Three other men were with Greenway, he said.

throughout the night, reported the dense gases and afterdamp precluded any possibility of the rest being rescued alive.

KEEP VIGIL IN COLD

Near zero temperatures here last night brought Red Cross workers to administer to the women and children who refused to relinquish their vigil in the cold.

Chief Mine Inspector Hay began an investigation today which may determine the exact cause of the blast which has tentatively been laid to cumulative gases.

Five rescuers who came to the surface said the bottom of the mine had been reached by the squads working slowly down through the eastern side of the mine. The men then turned their attention to the western side, where the dread gas floated, and began the slow process of ventilating the mine.

Hugh C. Rive, general manager of the mine, said the company carried no compensation insurance for the workers. He intimated that the company probably would be unable to give much financial aid to the destitute relatives of the dead miners and said he did not know whether the mine ever would be reopened.

It would take a huge sum of money, he said, to put the mine in operation again and the company also would be faced with the superstition of miners, who shun shafts in which great disasters have occurred.

TROOPS HUNT GANGLAND KILLER

Burke, Arch-Slayer, Reported Seriously Injured in Lair; Four Arrested in Detroit

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Dec. 18. — Information that Fred Burke, wanted in a dozen killings, including the "execution" of seven Chicago gangsters, is in the vicinity of Armstrong, chief of the state highway police, to call in every available trooper within 100 miles radius, in their search for his hiding place. Burke was reported seriously injured in an auto crash and in desperate need of medical attention.

Since last midnight all roads leading from the Paw Paw Lake region have been under guard. Vehicles of all kinds are stopped, searched and allowed to proceed only after their occupants have been questioned to the satisfaction of the state troopers.

Martial law in this vicinity could not produce a stricter surveillance of all arterial highways. The troops are armed with submachine guns, high powered rifles, shotguns and a variety of small arms.

4 ARRESTS IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—Two men and two women were arrested today by Detroit police following raids on apartment houses in which Fred R. Burke, 44, machine gun slayer, alleged bank robber and kidnaper, was reported hiding. One couple later was released.

The prisoners are Harry Hallisey, 35, and his wife, Doris, 29. Those still held are Harry Hallisey, 35, and his wife, Doris, 29. Detectives of the Canfield station, who made the arrests, refused to say why the suspects were detained.

Burke is variously believed to have found refuge in Detroit, where he organized his mob of machine gunners and engaged in wholesale abductions; in Chicago, where he led his killers in the St. Valentine's Day massacre, and in Coloma, Mich., where he was last seen, following the shooting of Policeman Charles Skelly in St. Joseph.

HUNTED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—Spurred by the report of a former acquaintance that he saw Fred Burke eating in a downtown hotel cafeteria, police today intensified their search for the man described as master killer, kidnaper and bank bandit.

With the report of Burke's presence in Chicago last night came notice from Detroit police that the gangster is wanted there for a series of crimes which include murder, robbery and kidnaping, the profits from which are said to range in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

As the head of an extortionist band Burke obtained at least $200,000 in ransoms from friends and relatives of kidnaped victims, Detroit police estimated.

"We want Burke also for the machine-gun killing of two men here in 1927," Inspector Henry Garvin, of the Detroit police, said.

In addition to scores of other crimes charged against him, Burke is also believed to have been involved in the killing of Frankie Uale, Brooklyn desperado.

77 Years Don't Halt Noted Scientist's Light Study

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Although but recently released from a hospital room, Prof. Albert A. Michelson, world-famed University of Chicago physicist, will observe his seventy-seventh birthday tomorrow evincing an eagerness to return to his research on the speed of light.

First American to win the coveted Nobel prize and one of the few men who understands the Einstein theory, Prof. Michelson broke an interviewer's moment of silence with:

"I am afraid I am a back number. I believe men make their greatest contributions to the world during the span of life between 25 and 45."

Prof. Michelson, more than 30 years past this mark, hastened to say that after a rest in the South he will go to California to resume his work in calculating at a greater accuracy the speed of light.

The famed professor gave out his philosophy of life when he said:

"Keep amused. Don't take life too seriously."

Some of his pastimes are chess, painting and solitaire.

"Solitaire," he said, "is a sort of idiot's pastime, but it's a great sleep inducer."

Penn State Campus Rum Seller Gets 6 Months

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—After severely condemning the practice of selling liquor near the campuses of Pennsylvania colleges, Judge Albert W. Johnson today sentenced Simon Rudy, crippled teamster of State College, to serve six months in jail. Rudy was charged with selling a pint of liquor near the Pennsylvania State College campus.

Homer Krieder, attorney for Rudy, pleaded that no testimony had been presented to show that the defendant had sold liquor to college students and urged that Rudy "should not be blamed for all the crimes around State College."

Wilbur Leitzel, former deputy prohibition administrator for the Middle District, however, declared that Rudy had been selling liquor to college students for years.

In imposing sentence, Judge Johnson said:

"A lot of foolish, half-witted college students are very ready to buy and if there are any bootleggers inside of 10 miles, they know about it. The parents of these 4,000 students expect authorities to protect their sons and daughters when they are away from home.

"Rudy is getting a very mild sentence," he concluded.

Arthur Jarrett, Selinsgrove plasterer, was sentenced to 30 days in jail for sale and possession of home brew. He pleaded guilty to the charges, but said he had made the drinks for a firemen's Fourth of July celebration.

U. S. AND JAPAN 'SATISFIED'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Satisfaction over the results of the first exchange of views between the principal American and Japanese delegates to the London naval conference was evident today as the visiting delegation laid aside official work for the first time since leaving home shores three weeks ago.

Conversations which were initiated yesterday at a three-hour conference at the home of Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state, and chairman of the American delegation, will be completed tomorrow in the few remaining hours before the Japanese leave for New York preparatory to sailing for London.

At the conclusion of the conference Secretary Stimson and former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki issued a joint statement expressing "optimistic hope" for the successful termination of the London gathering and the increase of good will between the two countries.

Freed temporarily from rounds of conferences, the visitors from Japan motored through fog and rain to Mount Vernon and Arlington and paid the tribute of their country to the memories of Washington and the Unknown Soldier by laying a wreath upon the tomb of each.

CAPITAL POLICE PROBE ENDS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—(AP.)—A grand jury today reported that the death three years ago of Detective Sergt. Arthur Schrivener, of the Washington police department, was caused by a bullet wound inflicted by himself.

Police investigation of the case had been assailed on the floor of the Senate by Senators Blease, of South Carolina, and Heflin, of Alabama, who charged efforts had been made to cover up evidence pointing to the slayers of the detective.

Statements by Blease and Heflin led to their being invited by District Attorney Rover to present such information as they possessed to the grand jury. When they failed to respond to the invitation the grand jury issued subpoenas for their appearance. Blease stood on his congressional immunity, while Heflin explained his evidence to Rover in a letter.

HOOVER NAMED IN SUGAR QUIZ

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—President Hoover ordered "contact" established between Cuba Company workers for a low sugar tariff and the House Ways and Means Committee which formulated the new tariff bill, H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuba Company, asserted in a letter revealed today at the Senate lobby inquiry.

Mr. Hoover ordered his secretary, Walter Newton, former Republican representative from Minnesota, to "establish contact." Lakin wrote to Mason B. Starring, president of the California and Pittsburgh Utilities Corporation, in New York.

Lakin testified he "didn't believe anything was ever done about the matter."

The letter also spoke of Lakin's "interest" in bringing pressure to bear on a number of representatives and senators to vote for a low tariff on sugar.

The Lakin letter, dated April 6, 1929, revealed how the Cuban sugar interests were making desperate efforts to influence the action of Congress.

DRY ERA RAISES POLICE COSTS

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Operation costs of police departments in cities of over 30,000 population increased from $75,143,400 in 1919, the last year before official prohibition, to $184,501,500 in 1927, Bennet Mead, of the Census Bureau, said today in an analysis of law enforcement.

A portion of this increase since prohibition was attributed to growth of population, although the per capita costs leaped from $2.19 in 1919 to $4.32 in 1927, the last year for which accurate statistics were available, indicating the aggravation of crime conditions.

Mead called attention to the bitter controversy between the advocates and the opponents of prohibition concerning "the significance of the marked increase in arrests for drunkenness which have occurred in many localities during recent years."

Remarking that there have been many changes of policy relative to arrest and trial of persons held for drunkenness, Mead said:

"Many, perhaps most, of the statistics of persons charged, or of arrests which are now available in police reports cannot safely be used to measure the prevalence of the trend of minor offenses."

BAN BY MEXICO HURTS LAREDO

LAREDO, Tex., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Merchants of Laredo, in the midst of the holiday shopping season, today learned that Mexicans living south of the Rio Grande no longer would bep ermitted to carry small imports—household articles and similar goods—duty free from the American to the Mexican side of the boundary line here.

Notice of this latest move in the boycott against Laredo by the Mexican government in retaliation for District Attorney John A. Valls' attempts to arrest former President Calles was posted on the Mexican side of the international bridge. Trade from Nuevo Laredo and other Mexican points constituted a considerable portion of Laredo's retail commerce.

This step follows closing of the Laredo consulate, the Mexican customs house at Nuevo Laredo and the cancellation of Laredo's Chamber of Commerce privilege to issue tourist passes.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The State Department is considering Gov. Moody's request for aid in having the Mexican government reopen the consulate at Laredo, Tex., which was closed as a result of District Attorney Valls' threats to arrest former President Calles.

Under Secretary Cotton said today that the department's action in the matter had not been determined as yet, but that it was desirous of securing a re-establishment of commercial relations at the Texas city is possible.

ILLINOIS STRIKE BROKEN

TAYLORVILLE, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Even the remnants of the National Miners' Union strike in the Christian County coal fields seemed to be vanishing today. Bosses at Peabody Mine No. 7 were prepared to resume loading coal and this mine at Kincaid, 10 miles northwest of here, was regarded as the seat of the miners' walkout. It is the last of the six mines in this area shut down by the strike, to get back to work.

With their foothold at No. 7 slipping, leaders of the strike have apparently abandoned their activities in this district. However, there continued to be considerable talk of unrest among the miners, and some feared there would be trouble after the National Guard troops were withdrawn. All five companies of the state militia, mobilized here when the strike was called 10 days ago, are still on duty.

LIBERALS FIGHT DRY APPOINTEE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—A warm fight over confirmation of Richard J. Hopkins, appointed by President Hoover as a federal judge in Kansas, in which the wet and dry issue entered to some extent, opened in the Senate this afternoon.

Hopkins was affiliated with the Anti-Saloon League in Kansas and the charges that he accepted $1,200 in fees from the league while serving as State Supreme Court justice led the Senate Liberals to declare him "unfit for the bench." The money was paid for lectures and traveling expenses.

BABY, 3, KILLS GRANDFATHER

Antonio Certelli, 53, a grocer, of Jefferson road, West Elizabeth, was dead today, a victim of a bullet fired by his 3-year-old grandson, deputy coroners reported.

The grandson, Antonio Certelli, was playing in the dining room in the rear of the store when his eyes came upon a revolver protruding from his grandfather's pocket who was sleeping in a chair. The child took the weapon from his grandfather's pocket and was playing with it when it was discharged.

The bullet struck the grandfather in the abdomen and resulted in his death five minutes later, it was reported. The same bullet ripped a finger on the child's left hand.

The child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Certelli, who lived with the victim in another part of the house, rushed into the room upon hearing the report of the shot and found Certelli slumped in the chair.

A physician was summoned but Certelli was dead when he arrived.

County detectives began an investigation.

GIRL REFUELING TEAM BREAKS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The feminine endurance flight team of Bobbie Trout and Elinor Smith appeared to have split today with announcement that Miss Smith had departed suddenly for her home in New York.

The two girls recently remained aloft 42 hours 18 minutes, being forced to land by inability to refuel in the dark. Another attempt at a record was planned, and mechanics have been working on motors of the refueling planes in preparation for the flight.

Miss Smith's only explanation of her departure was that her grandmother was ill in Freeport, N. Y.

Miss Trout said that on the next flight "Miss Smith will not be in the plane." During the last flight Miss Smith flew the ship, while Miss Trout handled the refueling hose. Miss Trout said that hereafter she will be at the controls, with whoever she selects as her new partner handling the refueling.

Both girls have at one time or another held the solo endurance record for women.

SOUTH AMERICA FETES FLIERS

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—All South America today awaited the opportunity to welcome Maj. Tadeo Larre-Borges and Lieut. Leon Challes, the daring pair of airmen who successfully spanned the South Atlantic in their attempt to fly from Seville, Spain, to Montevideo, Uruguay, only to be forced down at night in the wild Maracuja region of Rio Grande North State, Brazil.

Although the powerful, single-motored plane which bore the fliers safely over a distance of more than 3,600 miles in about 36 hours was badly damaged, the Uruguayan major emerged from his experiences virtually unscathed.

Larre-Borges spent the night at a ranch outside Santo Antonio, the town to which he and his French companion had been taken in automobiles after they were discovered miles from any habitation.

Lieut. Challes was in a hospital at Natal today where the cut over the eye and other minor injuries he sustained were being treated.

As soon as possible, it is expected the fliers will proceed here by plane and thence to their original objective, Montevideo, via the same route. Tremendous welcomes await them at both places.

Convicts List Reasons for Discontent in Prisons

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—A report issued today by the National Society of Penal Information contains an explanation by the convicts themselves of the underlying cause for recent prison outbreaks.

The explanation was given in a report by the executive committee of the Mutual Welfare League of Auburn Prison, where two outbreaks in recent months have taken the lives of a dozen prisoners and keepers.

The Mutual Welfare League is an organization of prisoners.

Their report lists five reasons for prison discontent:

1—Excessive sentences with the inducement of earning time off for good behavior cut to a negligible amount by recent laws.

2—Men actually innocent of the crime for which they have been found guilty who brood over their wrong and spread discontent.

3—Monotonous and insufficient diet, for which the warden is not responsible since supplies are secured through a purchasing agent and contractors. They also charge that the money allotted for food is insufficient.

4—Applying to convicts sentenced under the old laws the more stringent provisions of recent legislation, the most drastic being the rule that earned good time compensation does not take effect until after the minimum sentence has been served.

5—Withholding from long term prisoners the compensation they earn in prison until their discharge.

Chair in Which Lincoln Was Slain Brings $2,400

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—(AP.)—The old black walnut rocking chair in which President Abraham Lincoln sat when he was shot by John Wilkes Booth, in Ford's Theater, Washington, April 14, 1865, was sold at auction last night for $2,400. The purchaser was I. Sack, a dealer of New York and Boston.

Worn and stained with the life blood of the Great Emancipator, the red damask upholstered rocker was the property of Mrs. Blanche Chapman Ford, descendant of John T. Ford, owner of Ford's Theater.

Lincoln's famous letter of December 30, 1861, to the editor of the New York Times on the slavery question was sold for $7,800 to Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, of New York and Philadelphia. The letter was owned by Henry J. Raymond.

Dr. Rosenbach also bid in an original rough draft of portions of Washington Irving's "Knickerbocker's History of New York" for $4,100 and Edgar Allen Poe's letter giving his reasons for leaving Graham's Magazine, for $3,000.

The airplane fell in the park where hundreds of children were playing, killing three of them and injuring six others.

Spurns Freedom To Stay With 'Buddy'

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 18.—Floyd Wellner, 17, of Herman, refused to accept the offer of his father to pay a fine of $10 and costs and keep him from serving a five day sentence in the County jail. He is in jail with Ray Eichenlaub, 16, his buddy.

The youths were charged with borrowing the automobile of Eichenlaub's brother. They were arrested when they crashed into a car driven by Frank Rivers.

Saxophone Stolen, Suspect Arrested

William Wesley, 21, of Monessen, was turned over to a constable from Charleroi following his arrest here for the alleged theft of a $150 saxophone from the home of Theodore Spahr, Lock No. 4, Charleroi.

Wesley was arrested yesterday while attempting to pawn the instrument in a downtown pawnshop, less than 12 hours after the theft had been discovered, police said.

MERGER FORMS STEEL GIANT

which would rank in production above Bethlehem Steel and second only to the United States Steel Corporation.

The new organization, to be known as the Republic Steel Corporation, will have combined sales of $250,000,000 and a producing capacity of 4,900,000 steel ingot tons annually.

The four companies involved are:

Republic Iron and Steel, of Youngstown, and its subsidiaries, Steel and Tubes, Inc., of Cleveland, and the Union Drawn Steel, of Beaver Falls, Pa., with plants at Youngstown, Warren, Cleveland and Elyria, O., Hamilton, Ontario, Brooklyn, N. Y., Beaver Falls, and Milwaukee, Wis.

CENTRAL ALLOY JOINS

Central Alloy Steel, of Canton and Massillon, O., and its subsidiary, the Interstate Iron and Steel Company, of Chicago.

Donner Steel, of Buffalo, N. Y., and its subsidiary, Witherow Steel, of Pittsburgh.

Bourne-Fuller Company, of Cleveland, nut and bolt manufacturers.

Through its ownership by the Republic Iron and Steel and the Cleveland Cliffs Corporation, the Trumbull Cliffs Furnace Company, of Warren, O., becomes an important link in the merger.

T. M. Girdler, former president of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, will become chairman of the board and E. T. McCleary, president of Republic Iron and Steel, president.

VAST PROPRERTIES

The physical properties will include 14 blast furnaces, 67 open hearth furnaces, 633 coke ovens, 16 rolling mills, 160 finishing mills and raw reserves of 125,000,000 tons of ore, 165,000,000 tons of coal and 30,000,000 tons of limestone and dolomite. There will be 14 major plants, having an immense variety of products, located at Youngstown, Warren, Niles, Canton, Massillon and Cleveland, O., Chicago and Moline, Ill., Detroit, Buffalo, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Birmingham and Muncie, Ind.

STABILIZATION BENEFIT

Greater stabilization in the industry is seen by steel men as the most important result of the giant merger formed around the Republic Iron and Steel Company.

The consolidation announced last night and the absorption of other companies expected shortly will eliminate a large number of small independents who formerly made competition excessively severe.

As a result of the consolidation, the Witherow Steel Company, with plants on Neville Island and in the South Side, changes hands for the second time within a month. A consolidation of this organization with the Donner Steel Company had just been completed. The Donner Steel Company is one of the organizations entering the new consolidation.

Three Pittsburghers will hold important posts on the executive staff of the new organization. In addition to Thomas M. Girdler, former president of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, who is slated for the chairmanship of the new company, R. J. Wysor, formerly general manager of Jones & Laughlin, and W. P. Witherow, chairman of Donner Steel, will be named officials.

taken to Keyser in Mineral County, for safekeeping.

According to county officers, Crabtree set out on his mission of death early this morning. The Wolford home was the first he visited. He killed Wolford as the latter sat at his father's sickbed, and then fired at Mrs. Wolford and Mrs. Wright through a window, according to reports to the sheriff.

GIRL WOUNDED

Mildred Hott was wounded at the home of Mrs. Blaine Hott. County authorities had not determined how the man gained entrance to the Hott home.

Justice of the Peace Inskeep was the next victim and the slayer then went to the county jail, where he shot Miller. Following the shooting of the jailer, Crabtree went home, the county officers said.

He was said to have set out again from there and in passing the home of Dr. J. S. Easton, knocked upon the door. The physician did not answer the knock, and a charge from the gun was fired through the door.

JOKES WITH OFFICERS

Crabtree was arrested at his home. Sheriff Caville and State Trooper Joe Horne were called to the home of the man's father and found Crabtree on the second floor cleaning a shotgun. Crabtree did not resist arrest.

Sheriff Saville said his name and the name of former Sheriff Joseph Ruchman were included in the alleged "death list" Crabtree carried.

The man was taken to the county jail here where he was held for a short time before his removal to Keyser. He laughed and joked with the arresting officers, and they said he did not seem to realize what he had done.

STATE POLICE ACT

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Supt. Harry L. Brooks of the state police today instructed Capt. Hobart Brown, of Company A, at Shinnston, to go to Keyser and take any measures that were necessary to preserve the peace in connection with the triple slaying in the Eastern Panhandle for which Walter Crabtree was arrested.

Chief Brooks instructed Brown to proceed to Keyser after Prosecuting Attorney B. E. Rankin, of Mineral County, had telephoned him there was a possibility of mob violence. Crabtree was removed from Romney, where the killings occurred, to Keyser, because of high feeling at Romney.

BOMB WRECKS CAR, 4 HURT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—A dynamite bomb exploding under a street car last night injured four passengers. The explosion occurred at Washington and Hagan avenues, in an outlying section of the city, and was a recurrence of violence that has marked the protracted street car strike here.

Those hurt are A. Vaughn, 52; George Brown, 37, Negro; W. A. Delphi, 40, and Thomas Pierre, 22. All received cuts and bruises.

The bomb, set between the rails, exploded under the front truck of the car, tearing up several floor boards and shattering windows. The car carried 15 passengers.

Police, who have been investigating repeated dynamiting of street cars in past weeks, and who have been unable to check the violence attributed to strike sympathizers, were searching for two men seen in an automobile standing at the intersection shortly before the explosion.

PAROLE IN BANK THEFT OPPOSED

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 18.—District Attorney Warren S. Burchinal will appear before the Pardon Board today in opposition to a parole for John Hogan, who was sentenced to 18 to 20 years in the penitentiary for participation in the robbery of the First National Bank of Finleyville, May 24, 1920, when that institution was looted of money, bonds and securities worth $189,000. Of this amount, $37,000 worth of bonds were recovered in Detroit.

Burchinal will oppose Hogan's plea on the grounds that his record shows that he is desperate and a menace to society.

Hogan was twice convicted in Washington County. In 1916 he was brought here from the Ohio State Prison at Columbus and convicted of robbing the station of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Midawy. He was sentenced three to 10 years in the penitentiary. He was convicted of taking part in the Finleyville bank robbery while still on parole.

YOUMANS SAID TO BE BROKE

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Sued for $500 a week alimony pending disposition of his wife's separation suit, and $5,000 counsel fees, Vincent Youmans, 32-year-old composer, was pictured by his attorney as owing $200,000 and not having a cent to pay it with.

Mrs. Youmans charges that the composer has been taken away from her by his parents and that she is living in poverty with their twin children.

Married in Philadelphia February 7, 1927, they separated a few months later. He paid her $150 a week for several months after she had filed an unsuccessful separation suit in Chicago, but stopped payments last July when she filed the present suit. Since that time he has given her only $800, she says. He recently signed contracts which will bring him $120,000, she claims.

Supreme Court Justice Callahan reserved decision.

Senor Pezet, a grandson of Gen. Pezet, president of Peru from 1862 to 1865, became ambassador in 1919, remaining in the post until 1923. He was credited with doing much to end the dispute between Peru and Chile on the Tacna-Africa question.

Alleging that their married life came to an end after about a year due to the cruelty of his wife, Arthur Schamberg, 710 Ivy street, asked a divorce from Ruth Schamberg, 2302 Murray avenue, in Common Pleas Court, charging cruelty and indignities. Daytime, Dinner and Evening Models

So skillfully have these dresses been copied from the successes of mid-season Paris openings as to present models of a style distinction, unusual even for our famous Adoria dresses (exclusive with Kaufmann's and always 39.75). Here are the newest of those soft feminine dresses of filmy chiffon and crepe that the smartest women are wearing for afternoon, for tea and informal dinner. Notable also are the "double date" dresses, the one sketched showing a bolero that may be removed when the dress is to be worn for dancing. New evening dresses of chiffon and taffeta feature the Paris penchant for bows.

FIND DEAD MAN ESCAPED PEN

FREMONT, O., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The body of a 38-year-old man who killed himself after he was wounded twice in a gun battle with deputy sheriffs from Fremont in the woods near Clyde, O., last Friday, was identified as Raymond Beckwith of Erie, Pa.

Beckwith, according to Sergt. William Jones, of Pennsylvania state police, who identified the body through photographs and finger-prints, was an escaped inmate of a Pennsylvania prison farm at Rockview, Pa. Beckwith, he said, escaped from the farm in 1925 after serving one year of a five-year term for burglary and larceny, in connection with store robberies and automobile thefts in the Erie district.

The man was wounded when he failed to stop at the command of deputy sheriffs who were patrolling a road in search of rum runners. After he was shot and was about to be captured, Beckwith fired a bullet into his head.

Official Missing, Police Aid Asked

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Police were asked to search for Charles J. MacGuffin, local credit manager for the Crane Company, a Chicago concern, who has been missing since last Friday.

Mr. MacGuffin's home is in Hopewell, N. J. Members of his family expressed the belief that he had suffered a lapse of memory or met with an accident. They said he had no reason to leave home and officials of the Crane Company said his accounts were in excellent condition. His wife said he had not been in the best of health for some time.

SOUTH OPPOSES BUILDING PLAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(INS.) — Passage of the new $230,000,000 public buildings bill before Christmas seemed doubtful today when the Senate Public Buildings Committee held up the measure, due to Southern objections.

Senator Trammel (Dem.), of Florida, protested that the bill carried too high an appropriation for construction in the District of Columbia at a time when the states need construction work. He pointed out that $115,000,000, one-half the appropriation, would go to the District of Columbia for erecting government buildings in the capital. He insisted on larger expenditures throughout the country.

Treasury experts testified that every needed postoffice, doing a business of more than $20,000 a year, was provided for in the bill. They said the government was spending three times as much in the nation as in the District of Columbia.

Trammel blocked a vote on the measure.

WIFE BELIEVED SLAIN LIVES

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The Memphis Evening Appeal said that Mrs. Juanita Beatrice Clutts, whose husband had identified a body of a woman found near Marked Tree, Ark., as hers, had reported by long-distance telephone that she was "very much alive."

The newspaper said Mrs. Clutts was located at Blue Diamond, Ky., where she is employed in a mine commissary.

"Why, I am very much alive," the Appeal quoted her as saying. "Who in the world would want to kill me, anyway?"

For several days it was believed that the body of the woman found slain in a thicket was that of Mrs. Clutts. The body had been identified by her husband, Horace Clutts, of Memphis, and preparations made to remove it to her former home at Potts Camp, Miss., for burial, when it was discovered that a mistake had been made in identification.

Mrs. Clutts said she had been in Chicago several months, but was returning to Memphis.

Arrested By Wife, Man Hangs Self

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 18.—Jailed on charges of his wife, John Krol, 41, committed suicide 10 minutes after reaching the city prison by hanging himself with a belt.

Ex-Follies Girl's Mate Slashes Self

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—Elias Brody, Hungarian artist husband of Vera (Kittens) Leightmer, former Follies girl, was in the psycopathic ward of Bellevue Hospital here today, following the slashing of his wrists with a razor blade. Brody, police said, inflicted the wound with suicidal intent. Kittens recently brought suit against Jefferson Seligman, international banker, for alleged breach of contract.

BANKS ON ALIBI IN KING KILLING

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The New York American today quoted Albert E. Guimares, Porto Rican broker, as again denying he was criminally concerned in the slaying of Dorothy King, New York model, in connection with whose death in 1923 he was arrested and later freed. He referred to his alibi, accounting for his whereabouts at the time of the killing.

Copies of affidavits made by relatives of the late Mrs. Aurelia Fischer Dreyfus, of Washington, D. C., in which they said the woman was afraid of being slain because of her knowledge of the King murder, have been sent to the New York authorities by District Attorney Rover, of Washington.

"NOT WANTED"

During the investigation of the Dot King murder, Mrs. Dreyfus was understood to have told the police that Guimares on the night of the crime had been with her and Edmund J. McBrian, New York broker. Guimares was an intimate friend of the model.

NEW THEORIES ON "FALL"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Details of new affidavits described as contradicting testimony that Mrs. Aurelia Fischer Dreyfus was alone at the time she fell from a balcony at the Potomac Boat Club to her death two months ago became known today as District Attorney Leo A. Rover pressed his inquiry into the case.

Miss Freda Fischer, a sister of Mrs. Dreyfus, swore that Edmund J. McBrian, a New York broker and her sister's escort on the night of the tragedy, came in from the balcony.

"Boy" of 70 Cuts Scoffer of Santa

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 18.—Yesterday at the county home, James A. Penley, a "boy" of 70 winters, told Andy Reuben, 68, he staunchly believed Santa Claus would come stealing down the chimney of the county home on Christmas eve.

"Be your age," said Andy, "There ain't no Santy Claus."

"There is too," stoutly maintained Jimmie.

"There ain't," reiterated Andy.

Then Jimmie proceeded to uphold Santa's good name with a pocket knife.

Andy is in the hospital with cuts on the head, arms and chest. James is in the county jail awaiting to see if Andy will recover.

CANADA SEIZES RUM CARGO

TRURO, N. S., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The rum cargo of the stranded schooner, Minnie May, beached on the shore of Victoria County about 45 miles from Sydney Saturday and whose crew resisted a government boarding party, was being removed by revenue officers. Expected opposition from members of the crew failed to materialize and the boarding party was allowed to take charge of the cargo.

According to Angus Young, collector of customs at North Sydney, the Minnie May still was ashore. The captain of the cruiser, Constance, he said, had been told the cargo aboard the schooner must be taken off and placed in government warehouses at North Sydney. This course was expected to be followed.

Orders from Ottawa were to the effect that armed force was to be employed if necessary to board the Minnie May. When this information was given the schooner's crew submitted to the demand and the revenue officers immediately went aboard.

WALES TO MEET SOVIET ENVOY

LONDON, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The society gossip column of the London Daily Express today said there was much speculation as to reason for delay of K. Sokonikov, new Soviet ambassador, in presenting his credentials. The delay, it was said, was due neither to either government nor to M. Sokolnikov himself.

The writer said he understood the Prince of Wales would deputize for King George and receive the ambassador from Moscow for presentation of credentials probably before Christmas

Many Englishmen regard the execution of the Russian Czar Nicholas and other members of the royal family under the Soviet regime as unjustified. The Czar was a cousin of King George. King George has not until now been confronted with necessity for recognition of a Soviet ambassador.

Bill Urges Byrd Be Retired With Honor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—Commander Richard E. Byrd, exploring the South Pole, would be promoted to a rear admiral on the retired list of the Navy under a bill introduced in the Senate this afternoon by Senator Swanson (Dem.), of Virginia. The promotion would be made "in recognition of his extensive scientific investigations and extraordinary aerial explorations of the Antarctic continent and of the first mapping of the South Pole and Polar Plateau by air."

Man in Green Hat Held As Senate Rum Peddler

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—George L. Cassidy, arrested October 31 when delivering liquor at the Senate Office Building, police claimed, was indicted by the Grand Jury here on a charge of violating the Jones law.

Referred to as "the man with the green hat," Cassidy was carrying a pint of whisky, his captors said. They also said his parked automobile contained liquor and a supply was found in his home.

Patrolman Robert F. Langdon, assigned to detective duty, was indicted on a similar charge. Liquor was found in his automobile October 25, fellow officers testified.

45 PIANOS LOANED FREE

Forty-five Pianos (Grands, Players and Uprights, both new and used instruments) will be placed in homes of Pittsburgh and vicinity and they may be used until we need them—which will be an indefinite time. We have discontinued eight of our large branch stores, and are placing these instruments in our "Frederick's Annex," located at 915 Liberty Avenue. Instead of storing and holding these pianos for the regular price, we are going to slaughter the prices and take our loss now. If you have ever thought of buying a piano, now is the time. We do not wish to place our instruments in storage and all Pianos not sold outright will be placed in the homes of families who are interested in owning a piano in the immediate future, and for the valuable advertising we will receive by having good families use them. We reserve the right to select the homes in which these pianos are to be placed.

Positively No Charge For Anything

No cartage, no rent or any expense whatever. You must call at the store to make your selection. There are no strings to this offer, which comes but once in a lifetime.

SEEK MAN, SON IN SWINDLE

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Dec. 18. — (AP.) — George E. Huckins, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., who with his father, Elmer Huckins, Hancock, Wis., has conducted a mysterious business reputed to have paid investors from 26 to 52 per cent dividends, has checked out of the Elms Hotel here, and his whereabouts was not known.

Huckins, said to be suffering with a nervous breakdown, registered at the hotel under an assumed name with a nurse and he spent the night there. It is said he had $10,000 in currency with him.

Last night, he had gone and none could tell the manner of his going. Authorities in Cedar Rapids telephoned William Payne, Clay County sheriff, and asked him to arrest Huckins and hold him for return to Cedar Rapids. With his father, he is charged with obtaining money under false pretense.

At the Elms Hotel, Payne was told that Huckins had checked out and a check of other hotels here was made but no trace of him was found.

LINK 2 BANDITS IN 5 HOLDUPS

BALTIMORE, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Two bandits, whose descriptions tallied with those of two of the three men who robbed four chain grocery stores, entered a Charles street shoe store here, tied the manager and escaped with $49 from the cash register.

The robbery of the shoe store was the second to take place there recently. A bandit held up and robbed a clerk on November 26.

Isadore Harris, manager of the store, told police that he was alone in the store when the two men entered, produced pistols, backed him into the rear of the store, tied him and escaped with the contents of the cash register. He broke the bonds and informed police after the two men had escaped in the throngs of holiday shoppers.

The four robberies yesterday, all taking place in the course of an hour netted the three bandits who police believe conducted all of them, $454 from the cash registers and pockets of customers.

ACCUSE CUBANS OF THREATS

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Contents of a letter to the State Department seeking intervention in behalf of citizens and corporations of the United States who said they are being defrauded and threatened with bodily harm in Cuba were made public here by John M. Murrell, Miami attorney.

Murrell said he represents Dr. Juan Ledon y Garcia, former secretary to Ambassador Enoch Crowder; the General Sand Company, and M. F. Piedra, a Florida citizen, president of the company.

The attorney charged that property of the sand company lying next to a large Cuban development had been ruined by digging of channels through it by others than the owners. He alleged in his letter that Cuban officials and their relatives are responsible for the destruction. In this connection he named a number of residents of Cuba who, his letter alleged, had been active in attempting to defraud the United States citizens and the corporation.

POLISH DISPUTE NEARING END

WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 18. —(AP.)—President Moscicki held a conference with retiring President Switalski and leaders of the parliamentary parties by which it was thought an end was likely to the long dispute between the government and Diet. Co-operation was sought to amend the constitution by increasing the presidential powers and to stabilize the cabinet.

The attitude of representatives of the opposition was described as so accommodating that a feeling of relief was created in political circles, with the belief that a new era of co-operation was begun. It was indicated that former Premier Casimir Bartel probably would be called upon to form the next government.

FURNITURE FIRM IN BANKRUPTCY

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—An involuntary bankruptcy petition was filed in Federal Court against the Grand Rapids Furniture Company, one of the largest retail furniture concerns in the United States.

Petitioning creditors are the Crowe Nan Plate and Manufacturing Company, the Steel Sales Corporation and the Klamer Furniture Company, all of Chicago.

The petition charges that $350,000 is owed to various sources by the Grand Rapids company in excess of funds due to financing companies. The concern operates five stores in Chicago.

Governor of Korea Faces Bribe Trial

TOKIO, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Having obtained the permission of Emperor Hirohito, Viscount Chifuyu Watanabe, minister of justice, today ordered the indictment of Gen. Hanzo Yamanashi, governor general of Korea, whose regime had been charged with the acceptance of bribes.

SOLDIER DEATH INQUIRY CLOSED

BALTIMORE, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Discounting assertions of the dead youth's father that his shirt bore the marks of 10 bullets, military authorities at Camp George G. Meade said that their investigation was complete in the death of Private Eldridge W. Sapps, 20. They added that a charge of manslaughter had been filed against Private Elbert Witt in connection with the fatal shooting of Sapps.

Capt. A. A. Fall, fort adjutant, said that investigators at the military reservation placed no credence in the claims of the father, who said he believed his son was shot more than once. An autopsy performed after his death showed that but one bullet had entered the body, Capt. Fall said.

Sapps died from the effects of a bullet, which military authorities said had been fired from a pistol over which he and Witt had been struggling.

Legion Head Asks Universal War Participation

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—A plea for universal participation in event of another war, was made here by O. L. Bodenhamer, National Commander of the American Legion. In his address at a meeting of legionnaires he said that in the present situation the soldiers go to war, risk their lives, return to their homes and then help pay the war bills.

"If there is to be equal responsibility in paying the war bills," he said, "there should be equal service and equal responsibility during the time those war bills are created."

The fundamental principle of any real preparedness or any adequate national defense program is the drafting of capital, material and man power and the taking of profit out of war, he said.

2 MEN BURIED IN COAL DIE

DUBOIS, Pa., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—George W. Koch, 32, and William E. Johnson, 48, both of Pine Grove Mills, Center County, were fatally hurt at Midway in Eastern Clearfield County when a truck loaded with coal overturned. The men were buried under five tons of coal.

The accident occurred as the truck was being driven from Philipsburg to Osceola Mills. Turning out for another vehicle going in the same direction, the coal truck left the highway and turned over in a ditch.

JOLSON IN GOOD SAMARITAN ROLE SENDS LAME LAD TO HOSPITAL

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 18.

A LITTLE fellow—say 10 or 12—was discharged from the Hollywood Hospital. He had been in the hospital six months. He went in lame. He came out cured.

The lad is Billy Britton. As a tot, he injured his knee. His parents couldn't afford an operation. It looked as though Billy would always be lame. Came a day when a few lame kiddies were wanted for the scene in the doctor's office for Al Jolson's flick, "Say It With Song."

Al thought the youngsters were made up to be lame. When he discovered that Billy really was, he offered to pay necessary expenses for the operation. So Billy went into the hospital and stayed for six months. Now he's all right.

Al Jolson

Having returned from a three months' jaunt in Europe, Darryl Zanuck, production chief of the Warner Studio, is plunged into the terrific rush of work from which will materialize his company's 1929-30 production program.

Darryl emphasized an interesting angle that Warners will stress next season. The story is to be the thing. It will be foremost. The cast, all star. No player will be "nursed." If a player is capable of standing on histrionic feet and walking off with laurels—like Winnie Lightner did in "Gold Diggers"—swell. If not, also swell. A case in point is "Vienese Nights," an operetta being especially written for the screen by Oscar Hammerstein, II, and Sigmund Fromberg. The cast will be all-star, direction Alan Crosland.

College Dance Set For December 27

The annual college dance of the South Hills Country Club for the sons and daughters of the members and their guests, will be held in the clubhouse, Brownsville and Clairton roads, Friday evening, December 27. Harold Lewis and Henry Bregenzer will be in charge.

Warner Program Has Three Stars

THERE will be three stars on the Warner program: John Barrymore, Al Jolson and George Arliss. Marian Nixon will be featured in three or four outlouds. Marian has come a long way in popularity. Winnie Lightner will be featured. Likewise Monte Blue, Frank Fay, and a few others. If these featured emoters prove themselves by their own merit to be of stellar material, they'll be starred. But they'll have to be bigger than the story to achieve this distinction. When motion pictures first flickered into prominence, they did so through the story, even though the story be laughable compared with individual and later developments. Then the

GOLD STAR TOUR SAILS MAY 7

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. — Plans for the Gold Star Mothers' pilgrimage to France have been revealed for the first time by Maj.-Gen. B. F. Cheatham, quartermaster general of the Army.

Gold Star mothers and wives of American soldiers who died during the World War and now sleep in the great national cemeteries of Europe will begin the pilgrimage May 7 next, Gen. Cheatham said.

On that date the first contingent of 300 will sail for a two week's tour of the cemeteries, battlefields and shrines of the war in which their loved ones made the supreme sacrifice.

Thereafter, contingents of the same number will sail each week.

The women will be grouped according to states. The pilgrimages will be under escort of Army officials.

Over 6,000 war mothers and wives are expected to make the tours, all expenses from the time they leave their homes until they return, being paid by the Federal Government under provision of the Gold Star Mothers act passed at the last session of Congress.

star shot to the fore and stories were wrecked to give the star closeups, to accentuate his or her advantages, to minimize his or her shortcomings. This, in turn, nearly wrecked motion pictures. Pictures have achieved a cycle, if the time has come again when the story is primary. More power to Mr. Zanuck.

Discovered. Arthur (Writer) Caesar strolling on the Warner lot. "I'm trying to catch up with an idea," he admitted. He has to. He's going to screenize John Barrymore's next celluloider, whatever it may finally be.

Moran and Mack In A. E. F. Now

STUDIO confusion. Moran & Mack working in a scene for "Two Black Crows in the A. E. F." Scene finished. The boss in the monitor room booming through the loud speaker:

Mr. Mack went over on the line where he calls Mr. Moran.

"I told you that was a swell line," Mack swaggered over to Moran.

"Says you," frowned Director Richard Wallace. "Going over means you're too loud. Pipe down. Let's shoot it again."

John Barrymore.

Jack (Fox casting director) Gardner can spot an actor badly in need of a job in or out of a mob. Says Jack, who may or may not be a cynic: "If he comes in freshly massaged and with his cane and spats in evidence—then I know he's up against it." Wonder what gives the fems away.

And—that's all.

200 FACTORIES BUILD PLANES

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Col. Harry H. Blee, chief of the division of airports and aeronautic information of the Department of Commerce, declared here that there were far too many airplane manufacturers in the country. He was one of the speakers at a joint meeting of the Engineers' Club and the Aero Club of Pennsylvania.

"Less than 90 days ago there were more than 200 airplane manufacturers in the United States. This is obviously too many when it is considered that some 50 automobile factories turn out the 3,000,000 or 4,000,000 cars needed. Keen competition, however, is developing a group of highly specialized builders and designers and it is only natural that some of the superfluous concerns will be eliminated."

WIDOW CLEARED IN OHIO DEATH

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Dec. 18.—Mrs. Mary Jones, 42, who has been detained by authorities investigating the mystery surrounding the death of her husband, Cloyce D. Jones, 42, was free today, the investigating officers announcing that her husband had committed suicide.

Mrs. H. E. Covert, the first person to arrive on the scene after Jones had been found dying by his wife, was the principal witness.

A confused story told by the widow Monday night, when she admitted hiding the shotgun, resulted in her being committed to jail for questioning. She said she hid the shotgun, police said, because she "wanted to keep the publicity of suicide from her home."

COAST LAWYERS RAP DRY ACT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. — (Universal.)—By a vote of more than five to one, the San Francisco Bar Association membership has condemned the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act.

The vote was: Yes, 546; no, 103 out of 1,011 postal card ballots forwarded members.

Following similar action taken by the organized lawyers of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, the local body went squarely on record today as favoring:

1. The repeal of the Eighteenth amendment; the Volstead act, and all orders and regulations for the enforcement thereof.

2. That the subject of prohibition be remitted to the sole regulation of the several states.

According to Attorney Maurice E. Harrison, president of the association, the vote furnishes the most emphatic and accurate expression of lawyers' sentiment on the prohibition question ever registered in the country.

The tremendous interest the question has stirred among the members is shown by the heavy vote, he said. More ballots were cast than any other similar election in the organization's history.

Mother and Baby Caught in Leap From Fire

ROCKFORD, Ill., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Robert Sherwood, of Rochelle, is thinking about putting in his bid for Hack Wilson's job with the Cubs after a sensational catch yesterday.

Sherwood happened by the home of Mrs. Carl Coppola as she leaned from an upper window and screamed the house was on fire. She tossed a month-old infant and Sherwood made a perfect catch. Mrs. Coppola jumped, too, and landed in the out-stretched arms of three men.

JUDGE TO FACE TRIAL FEB. 3

There will be a special two weeks' session of the Federal District Court starting February 3 and the grand jury that served at the beginning of the present term of court will be recalled to meet January 13.

United States Attorney Louis E. Graham announced that Judge John A. Berkey, of the Somerset County Common Pleas Court, and the other 15 men named in the indictment charging them with conspiring to violate the national prohibition law, will be tried. Among the latter is Edward Darr, chief of the Somerset County detectives. The indictment was returned November 20.

Judge R. M. Gibson, on motion of Attorney Graham, signed the order for summoning 125 petit jurors and an order directing United States Marshal J. C. McGregor to recall the grand jurors. The latter will be called upon to act on a large number of liquor cases which will be brought by the government prosecutor under the Jones "five-and-ten" amendment to the prohibition act.

TRIPLE MURDER REVEALED

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The murder of three Greeks, believed to have been seeking illegal entry into the United States, is being investigated by Juarez, (Mexico), police following discovery of the bodies in an arroyo five miles south of Juarez. Two hunters discovered the bodies which which were buried in shallow sand graves about 10 feet apart.

Mexican passports found in the rotted clothing of the victims identified them as Juan Pichacos, Teodora Heliotes, 17, and Manuel Almaros, 43. An autopsy revealed the men had been shot in the head.

A taxi driver is held for investigation. Police said he could supply information regarding the whereabouts of the man responsible for the triple murder. A Greek interpreter also was being held for questioning.

YACHT MURDER TRIAL OPENS

CADIZ, Spain, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Doc. Francisco Franceschi-Cabellero was placed on trial here for killing his assistant, Angel Carbo Rivera, at the end of their voyage in a 40-foot yacht from San Juan, Porto Rico, to San Lucar De Barrameda, Spain, by way of New York last summer.

The prosecution asked 28 years' imprisonment and indemnification. The defense sought acquittal.

The skipper and owner of the small craft had been received by Mayor Walker and later by President Hoover. Two days out from New York enroute to Spain, a stowaway appeared. He was Roberto Copez, son of a wealthy Porto Rican family.

The yacht reached San Lucar De Barrameda at the mouth of the Guadalquivir River about September 1. Returning to the boat the next night Dr. Franceschi became involved in an argument with Rivera and shot him.

Man Minus Hands Gets Year for Forgery

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—A certain German baron who took extreme delight in telling "whoppers" might have given up his hobby, in disgust if he had been able to attend Judge Max Luster's Court and heard Frank Gressmeyer, who has no hands, sentenced for forgery.

Gressmeyer, who professes to "live by his wits" since both hands were amputated in a factory accident, was given a year in the house of correction and a fine of $1,000 after his father-in-law, Paul Wassmutt, proved that Gressmeyer had forged his name to a check by holding a pen with his stump of an arm.

BRITISH BATTLE ON MINE BILL

LONDON, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Open dissension on the government's coal mines bill, which has involved the Labor government in disputes with both the Conservatives and the Liberals, appeared in the House of Commons last night when William Graham, president of the Board of Trade, began debate by moving the second reading of the bill.

A union of Conservative and Liberal forces against the measure might cause the government's downfall, but this is regarded as improbable.

The debate will be adjourned until tomorrow after the Conservatives have moved their amendment totally rejecting the bill. The government's fate will then depend on the attitude of the Liberals toward the Conservative amendment.

The Liberals have a motion of their own, which will not be voted on. It approves the reduction of hours embodied in the government bill and the establishment of a national board of control, but objects to the marketing proposals for the industry.

Most observers believed that there will not be enough Liberal support for the Conservatives to cause the defeat of the government, but the atmosphere is tense in Parliament.

Council Divides Two City Positions

DOVER, O., Dec. 18.—Former County Auditor Robert H. Nussdorfer was appointed service director and former President of Council Ed Schoelles was named as safety director by Mayor-Elect W. R. Stucky. They will take office January 15, succeeding Simon Kappeler, service director, to whom the duties of safety director were added after City Council merged the two offices, April 16, 1928, over former P. J. Groh's veto.

Council last night separated the two departments. Nussdorfer's salary will be $200 a month, Schoelles' $50.

Court Bans Moving Highway Snow Fence

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 18.—In a preliminary injunction, granted here, J. Newton Trimble, of Derry Township, is restrained from moving snow fences along the William Penn Highway in the vicinity of Trimble's lands. The action was brought by the state highway department following failure to reach an agreement with the defendant, it is claimed.

$100,000 PRICE OF MAYFLOWER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—In response to inquiries as to what he considered a fair price for the former presidential yacht Mayflower, Secretary Adams said that the Navy Board of Inspection and Appraisal valued the vessel at $100,000.

He added that the Navy has no plans at present for the craft, which has been tied up at the Philadelphia Navy yard since President Hoover announced last spring he would use it no longer.

The highest bid yet received in two attempts by the Navy to sell the Mayflower was $51,000, offered by the Florida Railway and Navigation Corporation about 10 days ago. Secretary Adams rejected this and four other bids received at the time. Previously he declined a lone offer of about $13,000, which was the only response to an earlier call for bids by the Navy.

The secretary said he did not contemplate readvertisement of the yacht immediately.

Keller, Baldridge Win by 2 to 1 Vote

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Judges William H. Keller and Thomas J. Baldridge were re-elected to the State Superior Court by more than 2-to-1 majorities over Judge Henry C. Niles, of the York Common Pleas Court, the lone Democratic nominee. The two judgeships provided the only state-wide contest in the '1929 elections.

Compilation of the official returns from the November general election by the State Bureau of Elections gave Judge Keller a total of 1,272,202 votes, Judge Baldridge 1,179,643, and Judge Niles 446,655.

Army to Free Five Prisoners Christmas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—In accord with its usual practice, the War Department has selected for release on Christmas Day five military prisoners whose conduct has been excellent and who have served material portions of their sentences.

Three of the prisoners will be released from the disciplinary barracks at Alcatraz, Cal., and two from Governor's Island, New York. Their names will not be made public.

Ministers Protest Sunday Movies

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 18.—Action to prevent the opening of theaters and movie houses in Wheeling on Sunday was taken when a resolution by the Wheeling Methodist Preachers' Association was delivered to Mayor-Manager Thomas Y. Beckett and to the members of the Wheeling Council. The resolution bears the signatures of Harry C. Howard, president, and Durward B. Brown, secretary.

Germany Honors U. S. Ambassador

BERLIN, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Jacob Gould Schurman, American ambassador to Germany, today was elected an honorary member of the Prussian Academy of Sciences, which is a rare honor only once before conferred on an American, the late Andrew White, who, like Ambassador Schurman, was both ambassador at Berlin and previously president of Cornell University.

Worth Auto, Says Wife, to Get Divorce

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The Langs, Joseph and Katherine, had turkey for Thanksgiving, and the turkey had a wishbone, and they wished.

Mrs. Lang, telling the court about it in asking for divorce, said her wish was that her husband go to work. She told him as much and he shot a hard right to her chin. So she told Judge Charles A. Williams, who indicated he would grant the divorce.

"Never mind alimony," Mrs. Lang said. "And let him keep my automobile. It's worth it."

BILLS REQUIRE BUS BONDS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Operation of a motor vehicle for hire in interstate or foreign commerce in the United States, unless covered by a surety bond deemed sufficient by the Interstate Commerce Commission to protect public interest, would be prohibited under a bill introduced by Representative Huddleston (Dem.), of Alabama.

A similar measure also was offered by Representative Hoch (Rep.), of Kansas, who said the bill was the same as that drawn up in the last session by a subcommittee of the Interstate Commerce Committee, of which he is a member. He defined the purpose of the bill as to "take off the highways of the country the fly-by-night, irresponsible bus operators."

He was 11 years old. The boy, accompanied by an older brother, 14, was examining traps in Liberty Valley, near their home, when the accident occurred.

DRY FOES PLAN JANUARY MEET

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The official committee for the modification of the Volstead Act in the House is to meet in January to consider the Mead bill to permit the sale of fermented liquors.

Rep. Linthicum, (Dem.) Maryland, head of the committee, and Democrats from New York, favor the measure, which would prohibit manufacture and sale of distilled liquors, but permit the manufacturing and sale of fermented liquors.

Another group in the house, headed by Rep. LaGuardia, (Rep.) New York, also is working for a modification of the prohibition laws and plans to meet with the unofficial committee.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Charles E. Beal, 19, of Nant-y-Glo, near here, has joined in death the girl he was to have married Christmas day.

COURT SCORES JURORS

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 18.—Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand took exception to a verdict of a jury when 10 women and two men trying H. J. Miller on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor returned a verdict of "not guilty, but pay the costs."

The defendant admitted during the trial to having had a drink, admitted the possession of two bottles of liquor, and to having tried to bribe Constables John Miller and William Rees, who made the arrest.

Judge Hildebrand, in discharging the members of the jury from further service, told them that they had rendered a verdict on their sympathies rather than the evidence, and that it was such verdicts that made it difficult to enforce the law.

Man Who Sold Booze Must Pay Widow $6,700

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Alleging that the defendant sold her husband illicitly manufactured liquor that eventually caused his death, Mrs. Georgianna Hebert, of Holyoke, was awarded damages of $6,700 here in United States District Court. The action was for $25,000 damage against Joseph Guertin, also of Holyoke.

The plaintiff alleged that in a period of 18 months her husband consumed liquor bought at Guertin's cigar store in such large quantities that it undermined his health and caused his death. The defendant did not have a permit to sell liquor.

The suit was regarded here as a test case.

YOUNG SLAYER'S PARDON SOUGHT

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—(AP.) The State Board of Pardons today was asked to release a 19-year-old youth who has already spent six years in state penitentiaries for murder.

Elmer Hicks, also known as Elmer Washburn, who at the age of 13 beat an 80-year-old neighbor farmer to death to rob him in Susquehanna County, has been sufficiently punished for his crime, his attorney, Thomas A. Doherty, told the board.

Doherty, who said he had been approached in the boy's case by several welfare organizations, pleaded that the youth was mentally deficient at the time of the murder.

"The boy is now normal," Doherty said. "He has learned a trade and has become a musician during his incarceration and he is now ready to take his place in society. If he is not pardoned now he will be thrown in with hardened criminals and the influence will be bad."

CALLS VOTE FOR GRIEST POST

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—A special election will be held December 28 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Congressman William W. Griest. Gov. Fisher set the date and started political leaders scurrying about in an effort to select candidates for the office filled so long by the dean of the Pennsylvania delegation in Congress.

In the Republican camp the leading candidates were reported to be George Griest, son of the Congressman; Graybill Diehm, Capt. John M. Groff, and Bernard J. Myers. The latter was represented as unwilling to be a candidate. Aaron B. Hess, speaker of the House of Representatives, is said to be a probable candidate for the full term next year.

On the Democratic side possible choices of the Democratic county committee were Col. J. Hale Steinman, president of Lancaster Newspapers, Inc.; John A. McSparran, a candidate for Congress against Griest, and George Hensel, of Quarryville.

NEW U. S. ENVOY REACHES SPAIN

MADRID, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Irwin Boyle Laughlin, of Pittsburgh, newly appointed American ambassador to Spain, arrived in Madrid with his family today and proceeded to the embassy residence after an informal reception at the railway station by members of the embassy.

Laughlin told visitors at the embassy he was most pleased to be in Madrid and that he was delighted with such friendly relations between Spain and the United States, which he hoped to promote in every way possible.

He probably will have an audience with the king December 24.

NEW RAILROAD HEARING ON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Date on the project of the New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago Railroad Company, a new enterprise sponsored by L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson Company, for construction of a new East-to-West rail line across Pennsylvania, was submitted at Interstate Commerce hearings.

Henry Wolf Bikle, counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad, and representing a group of trunk lines opposing the project, objected to the commission's taking testimony on the subject on the ground that the new corporation had not completed the process of obtaining necessary permission from Pennsylvania state authorities to undertake the construction. The point was overruled, however, by C. V. Burnside, assistant director of finance for the commission.

E. M. Basaye, location engineer for the Kansas City Southern submitted an estimate that construction and equipment of the line from a point near Pittsburgh on the west to Easton, near the eastern border of the state, would cost about $177,000,000. He fixed the actual construction cost at $490,000 per mile. It was explained that construction of two branch lines from the main trunk, contemplated when the scheme was first advanced, was not now intended.

$225,000 Garbage Burner Sold for $800

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The city's incinerator — built in 1914, never used and occasionally pointed to as "a monument to civic wastefulness," has been sold to salvagers for $800.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

BOY DESCRIBES SLAYING OF 2

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 18.—The commonwealth completed its case against John D. Seevers on trial for the murder of his wife, Estella Seevers, late yesterday.

Walter Rodgers, 10-year-old son of Mrs. Catherine Rodgers, one of the victims, was on the stand the greater part of Tuesday afternoon. Walter, now an orphan, is a student in Girard College, Philadelphia. He was accorded great courtesy by both the prosecution and defense. He told of Seevers and his wife having trouble before they left Cleveland to take him to New Kensington. There had been disputes en route and finally, near Beechwood Inn, it culminated in Seevers hitting his wife on the head with the butt of his revolver.

Walter said he heard Seevers say to his wife just before the shooting in which Mrs. Seevers and his mother were fatally wounded and he himself was injured: "If you don't shut up, I'll kill you."

District Attorney J. Elder Bryan testified as to the questioning of Seevers at the Colonial Hotel following the shooting and his signed statements and confession. District Attorney-elect John S. Powers then read these statements and confession. Court was then adjourned until today, when the defense will start.

$100,000 GIVEN CANCER FIGHT

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—An anonymous gift of $100,000 brought the University of California's cancer research fund to $200,000, it is announced. The money will be handled by the medical school and the Hooper Foundation for Medical Research.

The previous $100,000 was given by Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ross, for research into thoracic surgery and cancer.

Announcement also was made that research indicated Raynaud's disease, characterized by lack of blood circulation in fingers and toes during cold, damp weather, might be cured by over-exposure to cold.

The research was conducted by Sir Thomas Lewis of the University College Hospital Medical School London, in collaboration with Dr. William J. Kerr, professor of medicine, University of California.

Woman Badly Hurt When Hit By Auto

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Dec. 18.—Mrs. Fred Page, 27, was injured when her automobile collided with a car driven by Steve Zoccoli, Midland. Zoccoli, who, police say, was driving without an owner's card or driver's permit, was held for a hearing.

NOTED CANADIAN WARRIOR DIES

LONDON, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Brig. Gen. Ross John Finnis Hayter, C. B., C. M. G., D. S. O., distinguished Canadian soldier, died yesterday from appendicitis. A son of Ross W. Hayter and grandson of John Hayter, court painter to Queen Victoria, he was born in Toronto in 1875 and entered the British army in 1895.

After fighting throughout the South African War, he served continuously with the Canadian expeditionary force from 1914 to 1919 as brigade major, staff officer, brigadier general in command of the Tenth Canadian Infantry Brigade, and finally, in October, 1918, as brigadier general, general staff, Canadian Corps. From 1919 to 1923 he served on the general staff of the Western command of the British army.

Besides winning the D. S. O. on the battlefield in 1915, he was mentioned seven times in dispatches.

Robinson Township Justice Appointed

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Appointment of two justices of the peace to fill vacancies caused by death, was announced by Gov. Fisher.

The appointees are John J. Sweterlitch, for Robinson Township, Allegheny County, and Christian B. Kline, for Wrightsville, York County.

Man Sent to Jail Over Card Killing

EBENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 18.—Jack White, Negro, of Johnstown, who pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter, growing out of the death of Ray Harrington, 33, Johnstown, over $1.50 in a card game, was sentenced to serve from two to four years in the county jail.

Council Refuses Boost for Guard

FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 18.—Appeal of Capt. Ralph Dewoody for a $200 increase for Company L, One Hundred Twelfth Infantry, was denied by City Council. Council declared the budget for 1930 would permit of no new appropriations, and will donate only $200 to the Guard unit next year.

Dedicate Church On New Year's Eve

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 17.—The newly completed Church of God will be dedicated on New Year's eve. The Rev. L. Earl Slacum, pastor, will give the address and there will be special music.

Wild Hog Makes Attacks on Farmers

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 18.—Plans were being made by farmers of Frankford community in Greenbrier County to protect themselves and their families from a wild hog, which has been attacking and injuring men there.

C. W. Kershner was attacked while on horseback and was probably saved by the horse, which kicked off the hog until help arrived. Richard Gillman was injured by the hog the same evening.

STEEL OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 18.—Steel makers in this district are encouraged by developments of the past two weeks, indicating a much broader measure of activity for the first quarter of next year than in the last quarter of 1929. Operations will be on a low basis next week, because of the Christmas holiday, but are expected to climb immediately thereafter, and to show gradual progression during January and February. Automobile buying is likely to be somewhat irregular, but is expected to be much better than in November and December.

From producers' standpoint, the low stocks of steel in hands of consumers is encouraging, indicating fresh buying will develop as manufacturing consumers get under way. Steel pipe, which has held up informally well during current depression, is now sharing with other rolled products in the temporary dullness that characterizes the industry. However, several important inquiries are being figured, which producers believe will be translated into orders next quarter.

Prices, for the most part, have resisted efforts of buyers to bring about substantial concessions.

HESSLER NAMED IN MANY HOLDUPS

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

WE ARE privileged to offer a glimpse of the Home Life of Chauncey Morley, the advertising expert who writes pieces for the magazines.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley had a late dinner engagement. Mr.

Morley went to his bedroom to change into a dinner suit. He took off his clothes and, absentmindedly, promptly went to bed and sleep.

We have been subjected to such abuse (a bit of sympathy, please!) because of the stuff which does appear in Sidewalks and because of the stuff which doesn't. The most effective shot was directed by a young woman.

Attorney Kivie Wolfe introduced us to her, and immediately she exhibited superior disdain.

"What's the matter," Kivie asked, "don't you like him?"

"I must like him," she retorted, "I read that stuff he writes."

PITTSBURGH'S 1929 debutantes still haven't recovered from the piece about them in a New York society magazine . . . The Sewickley Herald has discovered that Robert Wardrop, board chairman of the First National Bank, is the oldest (in service) Sewickley commuter . . . He has ridden the rails from home to office for 60 years, or five years more than A. C. Robinson, president of the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company . . .

The following contribution comes to Sidewalks from the Keenan Building, its author anonymous: John Dailey, the popular young theatrical and orchestra booking agent in the Keenan Building, finds time from his duties to be active in the affairs of the Coraopolis Elks . . .

Thieves stole the fire extinguishers from the fire hall in Salem, O., Sunday . . . Burgess Longmore, of Bellevue, has been with Westinghouse Electric longer than anybody else (49 years) . . . Grover (Grey Eagle) Wilkins, whose Wilkinsburg home was always open to impoverished young men who had no place to take her, has called it all off, phonograph and radio tubes costing what they do . . .

'Squire Dickson, of Coraopolis, belongs to as many, if not more, lodges than you . . . When Mrs. Harry Kaplan plays bridge with her Beechview neighbors she carries a flashlight to light the road on the way home . . . Boots McDermott, the Strip's former deputy sheriff who served in three wars, and is known as the man who never lost an argument, was the mascot of the fighting Tenth Regiment in the Spanish-American fuss . . .

BOB HASLEY, who rides Red Cabs because he owns them, had hiccoughs for 18 days and was cured by drinking water . . . Mrs. Ida Forsaith and Mrs. Ida Rickenbrode, having settled their heated argument on whether the turkey has a wishbone (it does), have returned to the business of finding missing persons . . . The Dangerous Dan Daley, who was knocked out by the Great Shires, is said to bear a strong resemblance to the K. O. Blackburne, who was flattened by George Pancka in Motor Square Garden not so many rounds ago. . . .

Eddie Cantor Rises to Say:

By EDDIE CANTOR.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 18.—Today you will have to excuse my punning.

It is not far from the diamond to the ring and Art Shires, first baseman and "talkie" star of the White Sox, made it.

Today he wishes he hadn't.

In five innings Trafton, famous Notre Dame ex-football star, pitched while Shires caught—everything.

However, it took more than three strikes to put him out and the Great Shires made a run for home and is now taking his shower—of criticism.

Despite Artie's defeat, I advise every American League umpire to give him the "breaks"—unless they happen to be ex-football players.

DEFENSE RESTS IN RUM RING TRIAL HERE

Case Expected to Reach Jury Tomorrow; Character Witnesses on Stand

A procession of character witnesses closed the defense in the McKeesport liquor conspiracy trial in Federal Court this afternoon.

The government at once began calling rebuttal witnesses, with the prospect that the fate of the 21 defendants, on trial before Judge R. M. Gibson for more than a week, would reach the jury tomorrow morning.

William Friedman, son of Charles L. Friedman, convicted bootlegger and chief government witness, testified in rebuttal that he had taken John F. Brennan, former McKeesport police chief, to his cottage at Ligonier three times in his automobile.

CHIEF ON STAND

Brennan yesterday denied going to Ligonier with young Friedman.

Acting Chief of Police John J. Whalen, of McKeesport, gave all former members of the force, now on trial, a clean bill as to reputation.

A number of residents of Beaver Falls, Pa., appeared for Martin Firestone, who is in business in that town. Firestone himself took the stand and denied alleged transactions with Friedman.

Brennan, bore a good reputation in that district, according to testimony offered by M. J. Quinn, chief of the McKeesport fire department; John B. Gorman, superintendent of the McKeesport Connecting Railroad; Thomas Richard, an auto dealer, and L. J. Steiner, street commissioner.

JUSTICE DENIES CHARGE

J. Denny O'Neil, Jr., a clerk of the County Board for Assessment and Revision of Taxes, was among those who testified for Robert Prosser, former county detective and constable, who is on trial.

Charles E. Reinhard, 69, justice of the peace in Versailles Township, a defendant, took the stand at the opening of court today and denied having had dealings with Charles L. Friedman, pardoned bootlegger and government witness, as Friedman had testified.

OTHER WITNESSES

John Englert, tipstaff in the Allegheny County courts, a brother of William Englert, former McKeesport milk inspector, a defendant, testified that he once told Friedman:

"If I were chief of McKeesport police you would be the first man I would get." The witness said he formerly was on the McKeesport force.

George W. Gray, city treasurer of McKeesport, testified money collected by police magistrates was sent to the Mayor's office and then turned over to him. He was no relative of Lieut. James H. Gray, a defendant, he testified.

WOMAN SLEUTH BRINGS ARREST OF TWO

Roundup of Pickpocket Bands Ordered as 4 Complain Of Thefts on Trolleys

Miss Catherine Quinn, department store detective, was riding to work in a Mt. Washington street car today when she noticed two men jostling passengers in a suspicious manner. She thought they were pickpockets.

When they left the car downtown she followed. When they ordered a meal in a restaurant she ran to a nearby store and called a second woman detective, Miss Stella McCray.

FOLLOW PAIR

The two women followed the two men to a Crosstown trolley. On the car the women met City Detective Robert Best. When the men left the trolley at Federal and Diamond streets, Best arrested them.

The men said they were from Detroit. Police are holding them for investigation.

Detective Inspector Frank Boyd today issued instructions to detectives to round up a band of pickpockets thought to have come here to reap a harvest during the Christmas holidays.

Two pickpocket suspects were arrested by city detectives at Federal street and East Park way, North Side. They gave their names as James Moffett, 42, and Samuel Stein, 40, both of Detroit. Police are checking with Detroit authorities.

4 ROBBED ON CARS

The order followed receipt of complaints from four men whose pockets were picked after they were jostled on crowded street cars.

Louis Baumberger, 105 South Twelfth street, said he was robbed of a purse containing $42; Sam Saul, 1700 Beaver avenue, lost valuable papers; Benjamin R. White, 135 Pennwood avenue, Edgewood, $15, and John Fildeus, 2415 Beechwood boulevard, $25, a pay check, his driver's license and lodge cards.

FIVE MORE DAYS TO BUY SEALS

Pittsburghers are reminded today that there remain but five more shopping days, exclusive of today, in which to buy the Christmas health seals being sold throughout the county by the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh. The committee members in charge of the sale issue the reminder with the hope that shoppers will buy the seals as they purchase Christmas gifts.

S. Clark Reed, vice president of the Oil Well Supply Company, made a radio address last night in behalf of the seal sale. Speaking over WCAE, he told of the work done in prevention of tuberculosis with the funds derived from the sale.

PAIR ADMIT 2 JOBS AT HEARING

Youth Arrested Confesses Thefts and Implicates Man Chased Into River

Steve Krenicky, 18, of River avenue, Braddock, admitted to detectives today, they said, that he had taken part in at least 10 holdups and the theft of 15 automobiles. He implicated Edward Hessler, 24, of 2318 Carson street, held by police following the shooting late Tuesday night of Leonard Pfeiffer, 23, of Waldorf street, whose automobile Hessler was said to have stolen.

In Morals Court today both Krenicky and Hessler admitted two "jobs" after they had been identified. They admitted holding up William C. Bell in his store at 500 East North avenue and stealing three dozen of eggs from Charles Stella's home at 55 Tunnel street.

The prisoners were held for investigation along with Joseph DeRocco, 25, of Blevins street, also arrested last night. Detectives did not reveal whether DeRocco had any connection with the charges and there was nothing brought out at the hearing against him.

Krenicky was arrested at Duquesne way and Eighth street shortly after midnight by Detectives Frank Connolly and Thomas Morgan, who said he carried a loaded revolver.

ASK NEW TRIAL FOR HANSON

Argument for a new trial for William Hanson, convicted slot-machin operator, was made today in Criminal Court.

Hanson's attorney, Edward G. Coll, submitted to Judges Thomas J. Ford and William T. Darr a brief in which he held that the verdict against Hanson and the judges' charge to the jury were against the weight of the evidence. Coll made no other points.

Pronouncing sentence on Hanson, brother-in-law of Alfred W. Forney, alleged slot machine racketeer, has been postponed eight times. If his motion for a new trial is refused he may be sentenced Friday.

Water Color Exhibit Opened at Institute

An exhibition of 162 water colors opened today at the Carnegie Institute galleries. One hundred and three of the paintings are by American artists and the remainder by European painters. They were selected from the ninth International Water Color Exhibition held recently by the Art Institute of Chicago. The exhibition will continue until January 19.

Auto Accessories Worth $600 Stolen

Robbers who escaped with $600 worth of automobile accessories from the Fuller Sales Corporation, 7601 Penn avenue, were being sought by police today. The thieves entered the store last night by breaking a glass in the rear door.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Do you favor the increase of city taxes by vor the increase of city taxes ordered by Council yesterday?

WALTER G. MYERS, Wilkinsburg: "As far as I know the taxes are not justifiable. They should not have been increased. The city of Pittsburgh is cutting its own throat by such actions. I believe the taxes are now high enough. A good example of the effect of exhorbitant taxation is shown in the case of Wilkinsburg.

Walter G. Myers

which has repeatedly refused to become part of the city of Pittsburgh. This is because taxes are lower in Wilkinsburg than they are here."

MRS. DOROTHEA WAGNER, Downtown: "The increase is unjustifiable. Although City Council has the right to increase taxes I don't believe the present period is the time in which to do so. What should be done is to dispose of some of the unnecessary jobs on the city payroll for the mere sake of efficiency. If this were done a large saving would be made. Economy should be the watchword."

Mrs. Wagner

VICTOR SAUDEK, symphony director, KDKA, Downtown: "I can't be anything but opposed to such a procedure. I am a property owner myself, so naturally I'm prejudiced against any tax raises, whether by the school district, the county or city. Tax increases work a hardship on the tenant as well as the owner. When an owner's taxes are raised he has to raise the rent to make out on his investment. Most everyone will agree with me."

Victor Saudek

SAMUEL G. WAGNER, Mt. Washington, musician: "Taxes are too high now to bear any increase. My guess is that Council would be doing a better thing for the city if many of the job holders now in office were cut off. It would increase efficiency and the public would have faith in the city's destiny. If this plan were carried out I don't think there would be any need for an increase, at least at this time. Our payroll is exhorbitant."

S. G. Wagner

GEORGIA WHARRY, secretary, Downtown: "In the interests of economy, taxes shouldn't be raised. It costs too much to run our civic government now, let alone thinking of adding to the burden of the taxpayer. If Council and the members of the administration economized there would be a lot of money saved which could be used to pay 'the freight.' If taxes were cut a lot of boroughs in the greater Pittsburgh district might join the city. But they're afraid to, because the tax rate is on the increase."

Georgia Wharry

JOSEPHINE FRESH, assistant, Downtown: "When we are talking taxes we should consider the fact that it is the taxpayer who has to bear the burden at all times. Sometimes increases are made in various communities without taking the taxpayer into consideration at all. This isn't just and fair. Personally, I think the tax levy should be the same for 1930 as it was in 1929. If Council would take a cue from Congress, which cut income taxes, we'd all be a whole lot better off."

Sister Identifies Victim of Fumes

The body of a man found in the basement of a building at 1010 Webster avenue, yesterday, was identified as that of Frank Roberts, 41, by his sister, Mary Murray, of 309 Thirty-seventh street, at the county morgue last night. Roberts died from carbon monoxide poisoning, morgue attaches said.

Bill Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 18.

It's not often that a woman scorned can be big-hearted, but Mary McCormic, the singer, certainly was. Pola Negri had among her old husbands an amateur prince. That is, he was a prince, but he had nothing to be prince of.

He was supposed to be "Prince of Georgia," so I suppose his mother was Empress of Atlanta, and his father King of Coca-Cola. Well, it seems that Pola had asked waivers on him, but when she heard that Mary would take up his option, why, Pola, feline-like, reconsidered and started feeding him again.

Well, did Mary rave? She did not! She said, "I hope they will be happy, and it's saved me a board bill."

That a-gal, Mary, cheer up, we will dig you up the Duke of Hollywood.

Yours, WILL.

Two suspects arrested last night, police said, when allegedly caught looting at the ruined fruit store of Vito Apollo, of 4435 Penn avenue, damaged by a blast Sunday, were held for further investigation today by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Morals Court.

The men, Nick Metro, 19, of 4417 Penn avenue, and Daniel Colazzi, 18, of 510 South Mathilda street, are charged by police with having taken candy and cigars from the wrecked establishment.

Detectives will question both to determine what they might know about the mysterious blast, which caused estimated damage of $2,000.

Firemen found an empty powder can, two 10-gallon kegs believed to contain gasoline and a jug and can of what appeared to be explosives in one corner of the basement.

WORK TO START WTH TRAINING OF YOUTH

Voting Education of Adults To Follow Later; Weil And DeWolf Lead Group

A movement to improve the quality of government by inducing citizens to perform the duties of citizenship was launched by a score of well-known Pittsburghers at a meeting at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association last night.

They organized the "Committee of Education in Citizenship" and arranged to start their work in the public, parochial and private schools, institutions of higher learning, Sunday schools, settlements and other agencies having to do with the training of youth.

WEIL NAMED HEAD

A. Leo Weil, Sr., and Tensard DeWolf, who were president and secretary, respectively, of the old Voters' League, occupy the same positions in the new organization. Dr. Thomas S. Baker, Dr. Samuel H. Goldenson and Dr. William M. Davidson are vice presidents.

The other members are Judge W. H. S. Thomson, Judge James H. Gray, Judge Frank P. Patterson, Dr. Percy G. Kammerer, Dr. Paul E. Campbell, Marcus Aaron, Arthur M. Scully, Harmar D. Denny, Jr., Thomas Fitzgerald, Leo G. Griffith, Joseph W. Marsh, I. W. Frank, Edwin Z. Smith, Joseph A. Beck, Dr. Russell R. Jones, M. W. Acheson, Jr., Ralph W. Harbison, Henry E. Cole, Dr. Frank M. McKibbin, Dr. S. B. Linhart, Maurice R. Schariff and P. S. Spangler.

It was stated that several other prominent men and representative women will be added to the committee and that, when completed, it will represent a majority of the organizations in Pittsburgh having to do with the education and training of young people.

NOT IN POLITICS

The committee has no political affiliations and has for its sole purpose the inculcation in citizens of a feeling of civic responsibility. It is hoped to train boys and girls to take part in elections and public affairs when they reach voting age. Statistics, it was said, show that little more than 40 per cent of those authorized to vote take part in municipal and state elections, and little more than 50 per cent in national elections.

"This is simply the beginning of the movement," said Mr. Weil, "and because of the immense amount of work to be done, it is limited for the present to the youth."

He indicated that in about a year an effort will be made to reach adults through industrial organizations.

New Police Sergeant Named in Homestead

Ebon Williams, of 505 Amity street, Homestead, former Munhall constable, and former member of the coal and iron police at the Homestead Steel Works, today was appointed desk sergeant at the Homestead Police Station.

He takes the place of Sergt. A. J. Hood, who was assigned to a beat.

South Hills Club To Hold Dance

Christmas decorations will add to the splendor of the formal dinner dance which will be given by the South Hills Country Club on New Year's Eve. C. Lawrence Cook, president of the club, will be master of ceremonies. The reservation will be limited to 200.

Thieves Loot Chain Store in Homestead

Thieves forced a rear window in the P. H. Butler store at Ninth avenue and Hays street, Homestead, last night and escaped with groceries valued at $150, according to a report to police today by James Dinwell, manager.

THINKING IT OVER :-: By Hal Coffman

Even if you don't live in Sing Sing, you know what a life sentence means. It has not occurred to you, though, that life sentences are not always imposed by courts.

Mr. Coffman shows you a life sentence here that judges and juries have nothing to do with.

The prisoner, only a few minutes old, does not seem to be a dangerous criminal. It was found guilty and sent up for life, however, before it was born.

You need no X-ray to see that its little body contains the seeds of vice, poverty, misery. Glance at the father—one look at him tells you the story.

There is no mercy for this little convict. No governor can pardon it or shorten the sentence. It is in for life.

If you are young, hope to have children some day, you will be interested in this picture. You will look into your own life, ask yourself whether you could sentence any child to this.

You remember the brutal truth in the scriptures that "the sins of the fathers shall be visited upon the children even unto the third and the fourth generation."

If you don't read scriptures, Mr. Coffman's drawing will do.

8-HOUR SHIFTS FOR POLICE

The police committee of the East Pittsburgh Borough Council today was devising ways of placing the department on an eight-hour-day basis, following adoption of a motion at the last council meeting of the year last night.

The new hours will begin the first of the year, and will be continued should they prove practicable. The motion ordered the committee to act, "without increasing the police department budget."

A check for $1,600, for the use of the Electric avenue sewer for eight years, was presented council by Forest Hills borough. In 1922 the boroughs reached an agreement whereby the Forest Hills borough could use the sewer at a rental of $200 a year.

Man in Prisoner's Uniform Arrested

Wearing a Federal prison uniform, James Simmons, Negro, of Memphis, Tenn., was arrested, early today, at Second avenue and Short street.

In Central Police Court, he told Magistrate Thomas D. Jones he had served a year in Atlanta penitentiary for transporting a stolen automobile from St. Louis to Arkansas and had been paroled recently in care of Rollo H. McBride, of the Parting of the Ways Home. He was held until police investigate his story.

OFFICER FIRES AS PAIR FLEES

Police were searching hospitals today for a man believed to have been hit when Patrolman Thomas Titus, reporting at the South Side Station, fired two shots at an automobile which sped away when he commanded the driver to stop.

Titus, becoming suspicious of the actions of the men in the car, parked in front of a restaurant at 1213 Carson street, started across the street to investigate, and was almost run over when the driver started the car and headed toward him. He jumped aside and called to the operator to stop, firing twice when the order was disregarded. He reported that he believed a bullet struck one of the men.

The car, stolen from A. J. Reir, Brookline, was recovered in front of 2120 Sidney street. A bullet hole, found in the windshield, is believed to have been caused by one of the shots fired by Patrolman Titus.

DIVORCED, MUST SUPPORT SON

Harry R. Mohr, prominent in amateur theatricals, divorced by Alice Mantel Mohr, and only recently married to Esther B. Edmundson, radio singer, was haled into Desertion and Non-Support Court yesterday by his former wife for the support of their 4-year-old son.

Mohr lives at 1231 Illinois avenue, Dormont. Judge Richard A. Kennedy was informed that he had agreed to give his first wife $40 a month for the support of their son, but has failed to do so. She now lives at 2821 Louisiana avenue, Dormont. Judge Kennedy directed Mohr to pay his former wife $8 a week for the support of the lad and allowed him to go on his own recognizance.

Judge Elder W. Marshall, of Common Pleas Court, granted the first Mrs. Mohr a divorce last June. She testified that her husband had taken part in a play in December of 1928, given by the concern for which he worked, and that he had met somebody else he liked better. She told the court that after that time her husband had not been the same. The name of the woman to whom he had shown attention was not mentioned in the divorce testimony.

Mohr's present wife is a daughter of Justice of the Peace Ira H. Edmundson, of Mt. Lebanon.

QUITS THRILLS FOR SAFETY

Capt. Art B. Hickox has moved to Pittsburgh. Capt. Hickox, his cards explain, is a safety demonstrator and lecturer. Traffic safety, he says.

Hickox used to earn a living by taking chances, as a dirt track racer and a pioneer stunt flier.

"So many thrills, day after day, year in and year out, made me crave safety rather than danger," he says. "So I figured I could do a lot of good by persuading people not to take risks in traffic. You see, I knew it was foolish for me, and I was paid for it. But the public isn't paid to take chances, so it's doubly foolish for it."

Hickox's home has been here since Sunday, but he plans to move away the first of next week. He and Mrs. Hickox live in a house on wheels, made to his order by an airplane factory. Wherever the Hickox family goes, so, turtlesque, goes their house.

The Better Traffic Committee invited them to Pittsburgh. The Captain will give a number of talks to school children, civic organizations, and industrial groups. He and Mrs. Hickox will give several sketches over the air, from Pittsburgh radio stations.

In their moving home, the Hickox's travel over the nation's roads, lecturing on safe driving and pedestrian safety. He has been highly praised for his efforts by automobile clubs and safety organizations the country over.

A statement by Louis Schwartz, a Public Safety Department clerk, the fifth person arrested by Inspector Hoey, that politics was involved in the charges against him brought a denial from State Senator James J. Coyne that he was interested in the case.

Hearings for the five under arrest will be held tomorrow morning before Magistrate Thomas D. Jones.

FIREMEN FIND DEALER WITH THROAT CUT

Victim Rescued From Flames In McKeesport Store; Mystery Veils Injury

County detectives were conducting an investigation today into the finding of J. A. Simon, 50, believed to live at 322 Dinwiddie street, Pittsburgh, with his throat slashed in a pile of blazing mattresses on the second floor of his furniture store at 905 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, late yesterday.

Simon, rescued by firemen, was reported in a critical condition in McKeesport Hospital.

Three fire companies extinguished the blaze, which resulted in damage estimated by Fire Chief M. J. Quinn at $8,000.

When firemen arrived, employes of the store told them Simon was on the second floor, where, they said, he had been accustomed to sleep every afternoon. The firemen battled their way upstairs and found Simon lying on the floor.

How he suffered the injury was a mystery to firemen, they said.

LOTTERY BOOKS SEIZED; 2 FINED

An alleged clearing house racket and liquor establishment found by detectives last night while searching for Negro bandit suspects in Webster avenue had an aftermath today in Morals Court.

The alleged proprietor, Mrs. Eleanor Wax, 38, of 2223 Webster avenue, who told Magistrate Leo Rothenburg that she knew nothing of the clearing house lottery, was fined $100 or 30 days in jail on a charge of maintaining a disorderly house.

Bill Williams, 19, Negro, who said he was a porter, was fined $50 or 30 days. Six Negro visitors were discharged because, according to the magistrate, "they told the truth."

City Detective Walter Monahan walked up to the door, he testified, while searching for alleged bandits. When he tried to get in, he said, Williams locked the door. After flashing his shield Monahan kicked the door in. He said he found two pints of alleged moonshine, an adding machine and a number of clearing house number books.

Mrs. Wax denied to Magistrate Rothenberg that she knew anything about the clearing house and said the paraphernalia had been left by a former occupant.

After looking over the paper slips, the magistrate found dates marked as recent as December 16.

The six Negroes admitted buying liquor at Mrs. Wax's establishment.

'Agree? Not This Winter,' Asserts Liquor Jury

"Your honor, we could not agree if we stayed all winter," said Thomas Harris, foreman of a Federal Court jury when Judge F. P. Schoonmaker suggested the jury return to the jury room for further deliberation in the case of Leo Badeto, tried on a charge of violating the prohibition law.

"If the situation is that bad," said the court, "there is not much use in sending you gentlemen back."

"No chance, whatever, for us to agree," replied the foremen.

The jury was discharged. It had deliberated four hours and could not determine if Badeto was guilty on the government's allegations that he sold whisky and other contraband in a restaurant on East Lacock street in December, 1928.

The government was represented by Assistant United States Attorney Zeno Fritz and the defendant by Attorney Warren H. Van Kirk, a former assistant Federal prosecutor.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Younger Set Dances at Cotillion

THE dignified old Pittsburgh Club, for many years the center of social life of the city, was the scene of a traditional event last night, the cotillion, given each year in honor of the debutantes of the season.

And the simplicity of the exclusive old clubhouse and the long, trailing gay dresses of the young girls made one think a bit of a ball in the day of Martha Washington.

Some of the mothers of the debs and their friends were there to help receive. And among those I noticed were Mrs. William Christopher Robinson, distinctive in a severely simple gown of peach satin, with a corsage of orchids; Mrs. Joseph Horne Holmes, in black velvet; Mrs. John H. Ricketson, Jr., Mrs. Douglas Stewart and Mrs. Alexander Garland Pendleton, in navy blue transparent velvet and tulle, with a train.

And Monday I mentioned that leading the cotillion would be members of the committee and five of the buds of the season.

Laura Evans was dancing with Richard King Mellon; Anne Douglas Stewart with Moorhead B. Holland; Peggy Milligan with William Christopher Robinson, Jr.; Mary Franklin Robinson with John H. Ricketson III, and Frances Forsyth with James Verner Scaife, Jr.

Laura wore a gown of eggshell taffeta and tulle, made with a brief train. And as she entered the clubhouse I noticed her coat was of silver cloth, with a scarf collar of coral velvet.

Anne was in bronze tulle, embroidered in gold; Frances in shell-pink satin in the Princess mode; Peggy Milligan, in eggshell chiffon velvet, and Mary Robinson in a long gown of green chiffon.

Among the married set there were Maj. and Mrs. Reginald Macdonald, with Mrs. Macdonald wearing a long, clinging gown of white satin and scarlet slippers.

And I caught sight of Mrs. Robert Milligan, in dahlia chiffon, earlier in the evening.

Frances Reed, one of the debs, looked charming in a rust-colored printed transparant velvet gown with which she wore a deep red velvet coat with an elbow length cape banded in beige fox.

Shortly after Frances' arrival I noticed the J. O. Burgwins entering, with Mrs. Burgwin in navy blue transparent velvet.

Chatting with the debutantes just outside the ballroom were charming Mary Elizabeth Floyd in a gown of yellow taffeta with many tiers of ruffled tulle extending from the hipline to the tips of her slippers, and Mary Holmes in peach chiffon with silver lace.

Catherine Crittenden, in white satin and tulle, and Caroline Crittenden in white satin, were chatting with Anne Rose, in green taffeta.

Sitting out a dance on the stairs with a group of young folks was Jane Edson, in a smart gown of eggshell chiffon with the full skirt banded with rows and rows of narrow brown velvet ribbon. With her was one of the loveliest debs of the season, Virginia Wright, in white taffeta and tulle, and Helen Pendleton, another bud, in green moire.

Mary Childs was there, in a gown of yellow crepe, and Louise Evans in a gown of gold lace in the princess mode, and Mrs. T. A. Robinson in black velvet.

Black satin was worn by another bud, Lydia Irish, and brocaded gold and rose metal cloth by Florence Carroll. Mary McClung chose a gown of blue crepe, and tall, slender blonde Christine McKelvey, a blue satin gown in the princess mode. Another daughter of the Walter C. Carrolls, Mary Carroll, wore black velvet.

Charming Martha Edmondson, another bud, wore green moire and tulle, and Genevieve Bell, eggshell crepe, and Anne Scott, biege lace, and Betty Scott, blue crepe.

And Emily Frew wore a long gown of pale blue satin and Mrs. James I. McKay, navy blue crepe. Jane Allderdice was in turquoise blue crepe, and her debutante sister, Nancy, in biege taffeta lined in scarlet.

Another debutante, Emily Frew, was in eggshell taffeta, and her sister bud, charming Margaret Rolfe Berger, in silver lame and Liberty blue tulle.

Black crepe was worn by Mrs. Maitland Alexander, and black taffeta and beige lace by vivacious Elizabeth Leovy. And Catherine Suydam wore a scarlet crepe gown.

Others I noted were Mrs. L. W. Young, in green crepe; Mrs. Alexander Robinson, in white crepe; Clodagh McCune, in salmon tulle; Mrs. T. M. Jones, III, in white satin.

Margaret Rose, one of the buds, I saw dancing by, and she wore a gown of rose taffeta, and Marie Louise Bickford, another bud, pink satin.

Arriving late was Mrs. Richard Beatty Mellon in black velvet and rhinestones. And Mrs. Felix Snowden in old blue crepe. And I caught a glimpse of Jane Miller in scarlet moire; Susan Potter O'Neil in blue velvet.

Eleanor Chalfant was lovely in a gown of delicate orchid taffeta with a skirt of many tiers of orchid tulle, and Helen Leovy in black chiffon.

The Alan Magee Scaifes were late arrivals, too, with Mrs. Scaife in tangerine.

And Mrs. Harvey Childs III, in white crepe, I saw dancing, and Lillian Rose in black lace; Mrs. Simon T. Patterson in bois de rose chiffon, Mrs. Herbert A. May in gold satin, Eleanor Rowe in green moire with a coat of white lapin, Katherine Schley in white satin, and Mrs. Raymond Ford Moreland in a flowered taffeta gown.

A gown of creme moire with a bustle effect was chosen by Elinor Munroe, and eggshell satin by Mrs. Elizabeth Reed Brown.

And arriving with the Reginald Reinhart Churches, just home from their wedding trip, was their sister, Marjorie James, in gold lame. Mrs. Church wore a brocaded metalic cloth gown.

Another member of the younger married set I noted was Mrs. George A. Kelly, III, in a gold and rose metal cloth dress. And Frances Fitzgerald was there, too, in salmon crepe, and Marjorie Kimball in blue satin.

Black crepe and chiffon was worn by Mrs. Alan S. Humphreys, and a long, bouffant gown of white taffeta and tulle by Mary Maccoun, a debutante of Pittsburgh and Baltimore.

And charming Mrs. Frederick Gwinner, III, I saw entering with Mr. Gwinner. And Mrs. Gwinner wore dahlia crepe. The junior Thomas G. McCutcheons I saw dancing, with Mrs. McCutcheon in coral crepe.

Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl wore a beaded chiffon gown and her debutante daughter, Joan, white satin.

THE Ovid D. Robinsons, of "Robinwood," Coraopolis, I hear, will entertain the younger school set with a dance in the Montour Heights Country Club on the evening of January 3 in honor of their daughter, Helen Robinson. Helen will arrive home Friday from the Baldwin School at Bryn Mawr.

THERE'S much interest here in the marriage of Elizabeth Sherwood, daughter of the David Bennett Sherwoods, of Geneva, and Frederick Roberts Rinehart, of New York, son of Dr. Stanley Rinehart and Mary Roberts Rinehart, of Washington, formerly of Pittsburgh. And the wedding took place Saturday in Trinity Church, Geneva.

Mrs. Alan Rinehart, of Washington, was matron of honor, and Blanchard Bartlett, daughter of Dr. Murray Bartlett, president of Hobart College, was maid of honr.

After the wedding there was a reception in the Sherwood home.

And did you know that the bride has appeared in several stage productions, and recently

GREEN IN VARIOUS SHADES SUPREME IN WINTER MODE

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, Dec. 18.—Clothes are ever so sophisticated this season yet many of them are green. For that color has emerged as a prime favorite for all types of costumes, and it is prophesied that it will be one of the leading contenders for color supremacy next Spring. There are, however, very few of the blatant shades of green in evidence, for such tones would not be in keeping with the mode as it is today. Instead, much use is made of hunter's green, bottle green and leaf green in the darker shades, as well as a peculiar shade of greenish yellow, of which mention has already been made. This shade is one of the favorites.

DARK green with black fur is especially good for coat wear, as it can be worn to advantage by almost all types. Judicious dressing has transformed many an ugly duckling into a lovely, graceful swan, and by the same token, carelessly chosen and indifferently worn clothes have been known to make a beautiful woman appear drab and commonplace. Good tasteful clothes, meticulous grooming, charm and poise can do much in creating a beauty that may not be all-compelling, but is, just the same, mighty pleasant to look upon.

WE SHOW today, one of the popular green coats with black fur trimming, that are seen everywhere. This model is from Heim, and is of fine cloth, trimmed with black astrakan. Interesting details, include the one-sided fur border, and the well-designed sleeves.

Musical Club Hears Yule Program

ONE of the most enjoyable Christmas programs ever presented by the Tuesday Musical Club was that arranged by Mrs. Walter E. Close for yesterday afternoon's audience. The auditorium of upper Memorial Hall was filled with the club members and their children, and it would be difficult to say which enjoyed the program more. First there was the singing of the candle-carrying waits in costume against a background of pine trees with rows of white candles on either side. The singers were Mrs. Arthur B. Siviter, Mrs. Romaine Smith Russell, Mrs. Ferdinand Fillion, Mrs. Lucille Miller Werner, Miss Mildred Eiler, Mrs. Jessie Yuille Yon, Mrs. Will Earhart, Mrs. Velma Fitzgerald, Mrs. Herbert J. Kreiling, Mrs. Carl Hespenheide, Mrs. E. W. Flaccus and Mrs. Gertrude Schuman Thomas.

Seven-year-old Richard Bodycombe presented a group of carols as solos, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Henrietta M. Bodycombe, and the Women's Glee Club of Pitt, with Mrs. James H. Greene directing, also contributed carols. A string quartet, composed of Ruth Thoburn Knox, Mrs. Elizabeth Burt Mellor, Mrs. J. A. Weldin and Miss Jean Wessner added one number. The surprise promised the children turned out to be a magician who went through the audience performing his tricks to the great joy of the little folk. Last of all came Santa to receive the gifts brought by the young guests for other little boys and girls not so fortunate as themselves. Each one present was given a candy cane, a gingerbread man and a tiny pine tree.

The older guests were served tea and Christmas cakes from the tastefully and appropriately decorated tea tables, where Mrs. Henry H. Hanna, Mrs. Charles Yon, Miss Sarah Robb, Mrs. J. Smith Christy, Mrs. J. A. Weldin, Mrs. Norman Hartmann, Mrs. W. S. Rommel and Mrs. Frank D. Newbury presided.

A CONFEDERATE flag will be presented to the Pittsburgh Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, at its meeting Friday in the Hotel Roosevelt. The formal presentation will be made by Mrs. Robert F. Metcalfe, and the "Stars and Bars," a banner of regulation size, will be preserved for occasions when the flag will be displayed in outdoor celebrations. At this meeting reports will be read from the chapter's delegates who attended the general convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy at Biloxi, Miss., and a brief sketch will be given concerning the records of 118 Confederate officers who were held as prisoners of war in the old Western State Penitentiary in 1863-64.

CITY EMPLOYE FINDS RELIEF IN KONJOLA

Lifelong Pittsburgh Resident Turns to New and Different Medicine for Run-down Condition.

Wherever Konjola, the new and different medicine, is known, there are to be found men and women, of all ages, and in all walks of life, who are eager to tell what Konjola has done for them. Konjola has made and kept more than a million friends, simply by making good.

The splendid success of Konjola is partly explained by the fact that this new and different medicine is actually made up of 32 ingredients, 22 of which are blended from the juices of roots and herbs, the medicinal value of which has long been known to science. Each ingredient has its work to do, and does it, while all work together in the process of cleansing and stimulating the ailing organs, and sweeping the system free from the accumulated poisons and impurities. By striking at the very cause of the ailment, Konjola never stops at mere temporary relief. As an example of Konjola in action, here is the case of Mr. Daniel Fitzgerald, an employe of the City, and a lifelong resident of East Liberty, a suburb. Meet the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, and have him explain the merits of this new and different medicine. Have him tell you of the cases of thousands of men and women who were restored to new and glorious health through Konjola. Talk to him, ask him to explain the merits of this new and different mericine, let him show you how a few of the thousands of men and women, many of them in your own city and vicinity, have been restored to new and glorious health through Konjola. Mr. Fitzgerald said, just the other day, to the Konjola Man:

"I wish everyone to know of my experience with Konjola. A liver weakness of long standing, which had been brought on by neglect, resulted in a constipated condition which I had tried for years to relieve. I was subject to continuous and annoying headaches, which made my work almost impossible to perform. My tongue was heavily coated, and my breath was always unpleasant and my food tasted badly. My back pained me considerably at times, and I lost weight and strength. I was badly run down, nervous, and worried over little things. I did not sleep as I should and had become discouraged.

"I began taking Konjola and the results were more than I had dared hope for. Before long my liver began to function again, my bilious condition gradually passed away, and constipation disappeared entirely. The tired and worn-out feeling has passed, and I have regained all my old strength and energy. I sleep well again and my stomach is in the best of condition. I suggest that every person, run-down as I was, become acquainted with this new and different medicine, Konjola."

Thus Konjola works in case after case. No matter how stubborn the ailment of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels, and of rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness, they have all yielded to this new medicine, Konjola.

The Konjola Man in Pittsburgh is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, where daily he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. Konjola is also sold at all Dow Drug Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

New Feature Makes Debut On Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

A NEW kind of treatment will be injected into radio program structure tonight with the initial performance over KDKA of the Acidinaires. A singing interlude effect by a quartet will break up the monotony between numbers. The plan is unique in radio technique and has been very well worked out for the initial presentation, even down to the selection of a particularly suited voice—that of "Bill" Farren, a newcomer at the pioneer station. The program will go on the air at 10 o'clock.

Jo Tyler's Orchestra will offer fans something different in a "Romberg Night" program over WJAS at 7:30 during the Philco Hour. The Screen Grid Tenor will sing "One Alone" and "Silver Moon" and the orchestra selections include, of course, the ever popular "My Maryland," "Student Prince Serenade."

The Westinghouse Salute, KDKA at 7:30, will depict man's conquest of waters and at 8 o'clock over the same station Chauncey Parsons, tenor, will sing Herbert's "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

SYRIA SANTA TONIGHT

A pretty legendary story about streets paved with gold and houses of diamonds, pearls and rubies, will be told by Frederick G. Rodgers during Syria Santa over KDKA at 6:15.

"Mazeppa," Franz Liszt's famous symphonic poem and vivid musical romance, will be played on the Stromberg-Carlson Hour, KDKA at 10:30. The selection was inspired by Victor Hugo's poem which tells the tale of a famous warrior, Mazeppa, whose unfortunate love affair led to his exile from the court of Poland. Sentenced to be tied to the back of an untamed horse, he was rescued by Cassocks, whose leader he became and whom he led in a series of military exploits.

FR. HEHIR RAPS FOUNDATION PROBE

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Zuppke Praises Stagg. Great Aid to Football. McGraw Retains Hogan. | Wrestler Turns Critic. Howley Likes His Vets. Rookie to Play Third.

HUDDLE DEFENDED BY ITS INVENTOR

THAT Alonzo A. Stagg, vetteran coach of the University of Chicago, has done more for football than any other man now in the game, was the opinion expressed here yesterday by Bob Zuppke, famous gridiron mentor of the University of Illinois. Shortly after his arrival in Pittsburgh to speak at the Duquesne University banquet, Zuppke was the guest of local Illinois alumni at a luncheon at the University Club, and in touching upon football's advance took occasion to hand a huge share of the credit to the "grand old man" of the Maroons.

Alonzo A. Stagg.

"No other man in football has done so much for it as Stagg," said Zuppke. "His long and brilliant career as a player, coach, builder and leading worker for the good of the sport is without parallel. The fruits of his work have not been confined to the great teams he has turned out as coach, by any means. He has been a model of clean sportsmanship whose influence is to be seen in every part of the land, and by winning the support of college presidents and alumni and striving untiringly to advance the best interests of the game he has accomplished more for it than any other individual human factor."

ZUPPKE is stronger than ever for the oft-criticized huddle system of which he is the inventor, in preference to the old method of having the quarterback individually pick the plays and bark out the signals. "It means a greater likelihood of the right thing being done at the right time, there is less danger of confusion or mix-ups and I do not think it causes any loss of time," he said in defending it.

While taking the stand that the football rules in the main are all right and should not be tinkered with, the Illinois coach who developed Red Grange and other noted stars intimated a personal belief that it might be better to allow a defending player to run with a recovered ball fumbled in scrimmage but to continue the ban on runs after the recovery of fumbled punts.

ANNOUNCEMENT that Catcher Frank Hogan is the first member of the New York Giants to be signed to a contract for next season would appear to indicate that the reported plan of the Gotham management to trade the big backstop this winter has been abandoned.

Frank Hogan.

Hogan fell off to such an extent this year that most of the receiving work was entrusted to Bob O'Farrell, who had been given a big salary cut in the expectation that he would be only second catcher. It was rumored that Hogan was on the market, but Manager John McGraw either found no other club willing to pay any big price for him or is confident that he can handle Frank in a way to give promise of a come-back in 1930.

M'GRAW says that he is still willing to trade Hogan, or any other player on his team, if he can strengthen the Giants by so doing, but hints that his present intention is to keep the catcher. "I have no fixed plan for getting rid of Hogan," he says, "but I am still sticking to an old rule: I'll trade anybody on my club if I think by doing so I can help myself. As far as Hogan is concerned, I believe you will see an improvement in him. He didn't always act wisely last season, and I had to discipline him more than once, but I've had a long talk with him recently and I'm sure he has got a saner slant on what is expected of him."

IT'S rather tough to win the admiration of the country during the football season as one of the greatest players wearing cleats, only to be criticized at the end by—a wrestler. That's the fate of little Albie Booth, whose playing for Yale up to the Harvard game in 1929, his sophomore year, was one of the most sensational features of the gridiron campaign.

Gus Sonnenberg, world champion heavyweight wrestler, or holder of the world title, which sometimes does not mean the same thing in the mat game, witnessed the Yale-Harvard game and is now telling friends on the coast that the entry of Booth into that contest was one of the "rawest things" he ever saw.

SONNENBERG says that when Albie came on the field in response to cries of "give us Booth," he was attired in a gorgeous raccoon coat, which he handed to his retainers in the middle of the field, following by peeling off two sweat shirts. Gus narrates that Booth then did a complete pivot, slowly and methodically, "so that all the cash customers could get a good square look at the number on his back."

Albie Booth.

The big matman, who once was a college football player himself, gets quite a laugh out of telling how the Harvard gridders then proceeded to block Booth's kicks and smear him in a general way. Booth is only a kid and it is quite possible that his rapid rise to fame and the cheers of the multitudes of fans during the season may have affected him temporarily. But imagine his action being scoffed at by a wrestler and termed the "rawest thing" he ever saw. Pretty rich. Evidently Gus never attended a wrestling show as a spectator.

CRITICIZED for his action in taking on such old baseball timber as Bob Meusel and Harry Heilmann, Manager Dan Howley, of the Reds, says he expects to see his judgment vindicated by the showing of the two veterans on the playing field next year. "They are trying to tell me that Meusel is done," he remarked to Joe Vila. "Well, if he is, then I don't know anything about ball players. In my opinion, Meusel simply got into a rut while with the Yankees, as many a ball player will do when he has been in one town for 10 years. He still can hit and throw and run for my money.

"ANOTHER thing that has been overlooked is that for 10 solid years Meusel played the sunfield, which imposed a terrific strain upon him and hurt him a lot the last two seasons or so. I'm going to keep him out of the sunfield, both in Cincinnati and on the road, and I'm sure that this change alone will help him.

"Heilmann, it is true, is slowing up, but unless I'm all wrong he still has a long way to go before he reaches the end of his usefulness. His main trouble was the same as Meusel's. He had been playing in one city too long.

"THE fans in Detroit were tired looking at Harry, and he was tired looking at them. He is delighted with the opportunity to play

LOCAL SEXTET IN BRILLIANT FORM

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Pittsburgh's hockey representatives still were in last place today, but they held a higher place in the fans' affection on top of their skillful and courageous showing against the Flying Frenchmen of Montreal on the misty ice of Duquesne Garden last night.

The Pirates never looked better as they matched their tricks with those of Les Canadiens to win a thrilling draw decision at the end of four periods. There were no goals in the extra session, the score being 3 to 3, the same figures that prevailed when the three regulation periods were completed.

MIST OVER ICE

The spectacular battle had the effect of putting the Pittsburghers in a good light with local followers of the sport. Although the crowd was far from a capacity throng, the onlookers realized they were witnessing de luxe hockey and they cheered the skaters, particularly the home players, to an echo. Manager Frank Frederickson, still using crutches, sat in with his players as they swapped punches with the colorful boys from Montreal.

A heavy mist that permeated the Garden all evening refused to lift at any part of the contest, the nets at times being enshrouded in the vapor-like clouds. But the action was so fast that the veiled arena was forgotten.

BRILLIANT HOCKEY

The first period brought out some brilliant hockey with neither team being able to cage the puck. As soon as the teams came back for the second section they let loose with a fury. Before the middle of this period was reached the Pirates had swept the disc into the net twice. Harold Darragh counted without assistance early in the period and a little later, Bobby McCaffery, took a pass from Tex White and increased the Pirate advantage.

Shortly after the middle of the section, Wasnie slipped the puck into the net after a pass from Lepine. Without only a minute to go, it seemed as if the Pirates would hold a lead as the period closed, but just before the bell, Morenz tied the score after Lepine had given him the rubber.

LAROCHELLE TIES SCORE

The fans were in a wild tumult in the early part of the third period as a result of a neat goal turned in by Jerry Lowery, with the aid of Hib Milks and Darragh. The Pirates proceeded to nurse this lead, but the Frenchmen were furious in their attack. For almost 10 minutes the home boys fought them off, but eventually Larochelle tied the score. The lineup:

Pirates—3.		Canadiens—3.
Miller	G	Hainsworth
McCaffery	D	S. Mantha
Smith	D	Burke
Milks	C	Morenz
Darragh	W	Wasnie
Lowery	W	Carson

Pirate spares—MacKinnon, Briden, Jarvis, Barton, Manners, White.
Canadien spares—Mondou, Leduc, Lepine, La Rochelle, G. Mantha, Fraser.
Referees—Berlinquette and O'Hara.
First period—No scoring. Penalty—G. Mantha, tripping. Second period—Darragh, 11:37; McCaffrey (from Briden), 14.32; Wasnie (from Lepine), 15:47; Morenz (from Lepine), 19:50. Penalty—Smith, roughing. Third period—Lowrey (from Milks), 3:45; La Rochelle, (from G. Mantha), 14:32. Penalties—G. Mantha, charging; Jarvis, roughing; Darragh, holding; Burke, roughing.

ATTACK MARKS DUKES' GRID BANQUET

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

Three notable features marked the annual football banquet tendered the football squad of Duquesne University by the alumni association in the ballroom of the William Penn Hotel last night.

They were:

1.—The election of George (Ganzy) Benedict, halfback, and John (Moon) Clark, guard, as co-captains of the eleven for next fall, to succeed Aldo (Buff) Donnelli, captain the past two seasons.

2.—A characteristic rapid-fire speech, full of humor, philosophy and satire, by Robert (Bob) Zuppke, famous coach at the University of Illinois, and—

3.—Last, but most important, a stirring attack by the Very Reverend Martin A. Hehir, president of the University, on the motives and responsibility of the Carnegie Foundation in investigating and "exposing" athletic conditions in the colleges and universities of the country.

FOUNDATION ATTACKED

Father Hehir, the last speaker on the program, startled his listeners by going after the Foundation in no half-hearted manner. He designated the Foundation as a self-constituted organization with no legal authority to pry into the affairs of the colleges and universities and attacked its attitude, as embodied in its report, recently made public, that it is wrong for the institutions to help athletes earn their way through college.

"The Foundation announces that it spent three years in research work and thousands of dollars, which went largely in salaries to high officials, and the net result is a report that tells us what every high school boy knows—that an athlete can earn his way through college," Father Hehir said. He also attacked the Foundation as being opposed to colleges or universities with religious backgrounds, saying such institutions can get no donations from the Foundation, and stressed the point that it was doubly unfair, under these conditions, for the Foundation to concern itself with the athletic administration of such colleges and universities.

CLEARS LAYDEN'S STATUS

Father Hehir also spoke on the subject of Georgetown University's offer to Coach Elmer Layden, saying that the president of Georgetown had assured himself immediately upon receipt of a letter from Father Hehir, stating Layden's contract here has four more years to run, that he would not permit the offer to stand. Father Hehir also praised Layden as a man of his word who regarded his contract as more than a scrap of paper and said that by 1931 he fully expected the former Notre Dame star to turn out a team that

CADETS MAY QUIT PLAYING IN NEW YORK

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Maj. Philip Fleming, graduate manager of athletics at the United States Military Academy, said yesterday the Army would play no more football games in New York City unless city authorities could guarantee courteous treatment.

Roused by alleged discourteous treatment by city officials at the time of the Army-Notre Dame game at New York November 30, Fleming said the Army was prepared to take not only the Notre Dame game, but all other games out of New York City.

DISCOURTEOUS

"If New York City authorities do not give us courteous treatment," he declared, "we shall certainly take the games elsewhere. We have not signed a contract for the Yankee Stadium."

Fleming said he intended to confer with Knute K. Rockne, Notre Dame coach, to determine where the game shall be played next year.

The graduate manager's statement was believed to have been influenced largely by the alleged refusal of Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen to provide a police escort for the Army players from their training quarters to the Stadium on the day of the game. Whalen's refusal was withdrawn, it was said, at the last minute after Army authorities protested that an escort was being provided for the Notre Dame team.

REFUSES ESCORT

"We couldn't understand the Police Commissioner's action," Fleming said. "It came as a complete surprise to us and we were very much astonished. Such escorts always have been furnished in the past."

He explained that the lack of a police escort might have delayed the arrival of the Army team because of the traffic congestion around the Stadium.

GOLDENSONS FACE TEST TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN

The Goldensons, under the direction of Coach Yans Wallace, former star of the Pittsburgh Morrys, will attempt to regain their winning stride tonight when they meet the crack Elizabeth Independents at the Market House in the only Allegheny County League contest on the schedule. The Elizabeth team has been playing in tough luck since its entrance in the league, losing several important battles by close margins, and it hopes to shake the jinx tonight. The Independents boast a high-class lineup of former scholastic and collegiate stars and loom as a real test for Wallace's passers.

Eddie Seigle

The Goldensons are eager to start another winning streak following their defeat at the hands of the A. J. Ackermans, of Homestead, last Wednesday night, and with Moy Rubenstein back in the lineup the South Siders will be able to present their strongest lineup.

INTEREST REVIVED

Interest in professional basketball on the South Side is being revived judging from the large crowd that turned out at the Market House to see the Goldensons open their home campaign last week, and Manager Sammy Goldenson expects another good turnout tonight. The Elizabeth passers have won for themselves the title of rugged scrappers who never let up once the game gets under way. The Goldensons can ill afford to take them lightly tonight.

Eddie Seigle, last year one of the best performers in the County League, has been a little slow in striking his normal stride, but Coach Yans Wallace feels certain the Goldenson flash is in for a big season. Seigle is a veteran of the County League and will prove his

PENNO TO BOX BRETSCH

Georgie Bretsch, of the North Side, and Young Penno, of McKees Rocks, two rugged welterweight sluggers, have been matched to box the second bout on the Moose Temple card Friday night, rounding out the program with the exception of the opening preliminary, in which Jackie Wilson, Johnny Ray's popular Negro bantamweight, will meet an opponent to be selected.

George Panka, Homestead heavyweight, and Harry Williams, Negro, of Rankin, will box the 10-round main bout, while Frankie Buff, of New Kensington, and Jack DeNeri, of Cleveland, are down for the semi-final.

Between Rounds

Promoter Francis Flynn, of the Moose Temple, today gave his reason for leaving his present arena to join hands with Apples Meyers in the promotion of bouts in the Columbus Temple, beginning early in January. He said the auditorium seating plan at the Moose does not give the fans the most satisfactory view of the bouts and the capacity of the place recently has been greatly reduced by orders from the boxing commission, so that it is difficult to operate successfully from a financial standpoint.

In the Columbus Temple the ring will be on a raised platform in the center of the hall and arrangements will be made to house a crowd of 2,000 with the addition of a hanging balcony. Flynn, incidentally, said he will not accept the position of matchmaker at the Meyers Bowl or any other arena during the summer months, but plans to go through with his lease for the exclusive use of the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C. open-air arena, thereby killing off reports to the contrary.

Kid Chocolate boxes Dominick Petrone in the New York Coliseum tonight. Jack (Kid) Berg meets Tony Graziano, Rene DeVos boxes Babe McGorgary and Young Zazzarino engages Jose Martinez in other bouts on the all-star program arranged for a Christmas fund. Vincent Hambright boxes Billy Rose in Cincinnati and Pablo Dane clashes with Jim Ketchel at San Francisco.

In last night's West Penn League, the Y. M. H. A. quint came through with a 27-22 victory over the Knickerbockers. It was a fast game.

The Great Shires May Give Fight Game Go-By

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The Great Arthur Shires is almost convinced that as a professional fighter he is a good first baseman. He may retire from the ring.

Since he dropped the decision to George Trafton after five rounds Monday night, Shires has been doing a lot of sleeping and not little thinking.

"Maybe professional fighting isn't my game after all." The Great One orated to friends, who came to offer condolences and quick remedies for the marks Trafton put on his face. "I have gotten about all I can out of it now—a few thousand dollars and a fat two weeks vaudeville contract. Unless someone gets me darn mad with his challenges, I may quit."

It is understood King Arthur's vaudeville contract calls for a salary of $2,000 a week.

LEWISBURG, Pa., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Tony Slate, star fullback of the Bucknell University football team, was elected captain of the 1930 squad at a meeting of the lettermen yesterday.

CARNERA WINS; MAYBERRY BEATEN

LONDON, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Primo Carnera, 6 feet 10 inch Italian carpenter, stopped Franz Diener, of Germany, in the sixth round of their bout in Albert Hall last night.

Hopelessly outweighed, Diener became merely a human punching bag for the Italian giant. Diener weighed in at only 161, Carnera at 284.

Carnera hooked, jabbed and cuffed until he had the German groggy late in the sixth round and the referee stopped the one-sided affair, awarding the decision to Carnera.

Albert Hall, which was packed with 8,000 fans, never had seen a little fighter stand up under such a beating as Diener apparently was taking. He always came up smiling, and when the fight was ended he was still ready to continue. Carnera toyed with his little opponent through the early part of the fight and reached the end without a sign of distress.

MAYBERRY BEATEN

DUBOIS, Pa., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Eddie Leroy, Williamsport, won an eight-round decision here last night from Howard Mayberry, of Pittsburgh. Jurd Maraz, of Charleroi, was given a decision over Frankie Erne, of Williamsport, in six rounds.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Farmer Joe Cooper, of Terre Haute, Ind., beat the former welterweight champion, Jack Britton, of New York, in a 10-round decision bout here last night. Cooper weighed 146½; Britton 151½.

Mickey Blake, sensational Los Angeles junior lightweight, now making his home in this city, scored his second one-round knockout victory within two weeks when he put Benny Friedman, New York, down for the full count two minutes and 30 seconds after the bout started.

COHEN BEATS ABAD

PLADNER BEATS FLIX

PARIS, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Making his debut as a bantamweight, Emile (Spider) Pladner, former French flyweight champion, defeated Carlos Flix, of Spain, in a 12-round bout here last night. Pladner took eight of the 12 rounds; Flix two, and two were even.

German Girl Sets New Record for Breast Stroke

BERLIN, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The Magdeburg Olympic swimmer, Hilda Schrader, established what is believed to be a new world record for the 200-yard breast stroke by women yesterday, covering the distance in two minutes 57 8.10 seconds.

The listed world record for 200 yards, breast stroke, by women is two minutes 59 seconds, set by Agnes Geraghty.

RUDOLPH TOPS TABERSKI

DETROIT, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Erwin Rudolph, of Chicago, defeated Frank Taberski, defending champion, 125 to 57, in 15 innings here last night to take his sixth straight victory in the world championship pocket billiards tournament.

Rudolph had a high run of 57. Taberski's high run was 27. Rudolph will meet Ralph Greenleaf, of New York, tonight in a game which may decide the championship. If Rudolph wins he will have a clear claim to the title, but if Greenleaf defeats him, they will be tied with six wins and one defeat each, and a play-off will be held tomorrow.

Greenleaf won his fifth game by defeating Pasquale Natalie, of Detroit, 125 to 16. Greenleaf won with an unfinished run of 51 in the eighth inning. He ran a total of 153 balls before he missed on his twenty-eighth shot in the first inning.

NEW YORK-PA. LOOP SIGNS NEW PILOTS

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The signing of Albert (Buck) Elliott, of Glen Rock, to manage the Scranton Club guarantees that at least half of the New York - Pennsylvania League teams will start the 1930 season with new pilots at the helm. Elliott, who was obtained Saturday by trading Heinie Batch to the Buffalo Internationals, was the seventh manager signed for next season, leaving the Harrisburg Senators as the only club in the circuit still without a leader.

The delay in selecting the Harrisburg manager is due entirely to the uncertainty of the club's plans and the pending negotiations to have the local franchise operated as a major league "farm." This move, which was discussed last year also, is being given serious consideration and the St. Louis Cardinals are again mentioned as the probable operating organization.

PLANS UP IN AIR

On the other hand, failure of this plan to be carried out would undoubtedly result in the franchise being retained and operated by the local group which kept it in Harrisburg last year. In that event, the selection of Johnny Tillman to succeed himself as manager would be practically certain. Tillman was remarkably successful last season and was popular with his players as well as the fans and directors of the club. He had only a one-year contract with the Senators, but is ready to continue in his old position of playing manager. That he has not been signed up already is due to the fact that a final decisions on the "farm" project has not been reached and that until this matter is definitely settled the present operators of the franchise hesitate to tie up a manager for 1930.

With only one pilot left to be chosen, it is evident that the New York-Pennsylvania League will cast a practically unanimous vote for the playing manager next season. Six of the seven pilots now under contract will play as well as manage and three of them have displaced bench leaders.

The only non-playing manager signed to date is the redoubtable Mike McNally, who has shifted his allegiance from Binghamton to Wilkes-Barre and seems to embody the solution to the problem which has continually faced the Wilkes-Barre owners. With McNally as manager, the Barons are sure to be a factor in the 1930 race, for the club has always had the financial and fan support of a pennant contender but has been handicapped by lack of pilots able to maintain the morale of players and local fandom.

NATIONAL CUP TILT SATURDAY AT HOMEWOOD

By TOM BIRKS

Living up to its reputation as being the outstanding cup-fighting soccer team in Western Pennsylvania, the Pierpoint Motors outfit will strut its stuff locally on Saturday. This time it will be the national amateur cup race that will occupy the attention of the Motors aggregation. Another great cup-fighting aggregation from the Strip, the Celtics, will provide the opposition.

The green-and-white-clad Celtics should be more of a problem to the Pierpoints than the Walkerville club. Walkerville, composed practically of all old-country players, has a carpet-weaving style that looks very pretty, but never gets a team any place where goals count.

CELTICS STRONG

On the other hand, the Celtics have a club composed of players, some of whom learned their soccer in Europe and the others strictly American products. Thus a happy medium is struck, and, while some fancy footwork is indulged in at times, it never is overdone to the extent of preventing the team from getting goals.

So, with this thought in mind, this column predicts the hardest-fought soccer game of the season for the Homewood Playgrounds.

The game should be a great warm-up battle for the Holley Carburetor session, scheduled in the next round of the national open. The Holleys have speed to burn, and it will be a life-saver for the local outfit if the ground is heavy with mud.

MOREMEN STOPABLE

It would not be wise to overplay Moremen's three goals in the Walkerville game. Veteran halfbacks in the Pittsburgh district know he is easily stopped when an opposing center half concentrates upon him.

In last week's Detroit game there was the usual charge of the referee stopping the Pittsburgh forwards for every little move they made. When the offside rule was changed, it was figured referees would not have the opportunity of stopping the play, but it seems some referees are apt to see many things an average fan cannot see, and it usually is the out-of-town team that gets the call.

will defeat both Pitt and Carnegie Tech.

ZUPPKE MAKES HIT

Zuppke again proved a hit as an after-dinner speaker in Pittsburgh and was loudly applauded at the finish.

State Senator Frank J. Harris was toastmaster. John P. Egan, dean of the Law School, presented gold footballs to the members of the squad on behalf of the alumni of the Law School, and Coach Layden announced the letter men and sent them out to vote for a captain. In a brief talk Layden expressed thanks for the assistance given him and the squad in rounding out a season that embraced no defeats.

Among the notables present who were introduced were Dr. Jock Sutherland, Pitt coach, who was given one of the biggest ovations he ever has received here; Jimmy Rooney, Pitt halfback; Alex Stevenson, Pitt assistant coach; Frank Lanahan, Fats Henry, former W. & J. star and now coach; Graduate Manager Theurer, of W. & J.; Chick Davies, Dukes' basketball coach; H. A. Stansbury, athletic director, and Coaches Ira Rodgers and Larry Stoops, of West Virginia University; Graduate Manager John D. Holohan and Line Coach Joe Bach, of Duquesne, and Sam Dreyfuss, treasurere of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Jim Marks, of Kiski, also was present. Regrets were read from Coach Bill Amos, of W. & J.; Clarence Overend, graduate manager of Carnegie Tech, who is in the West with the Tartan football squad; Congressman Guy Campbell and Graduate Manager Neil Fleming and Coach Hugo Bezdek, of Penn State.

BENEDICT IS ABSENT

Capt.-elect Benedict was unable to attend because of the injuries he received in an automobile accident last week. It was announced that his condition is satisfactory and he will be able to leave Mercy Hospital within 10 days. Both Benedict and Clark, who will share the captaincy with him, will be seniors next fall and were stars on this year's eleven. Benedict prepped at Duquesne (Pa.) High School and also is the varsity basketball captain. Clark came to the Dukes from Clairton High School.

Moving pictures of the West Virginia game, which resulted in a 7-7 tie, and the Catholic University game in Washington, which produced a victory, were shown. Music was furnished by the student orchestra and several singing numbers were put on. The turnout tested the capacity of the spacious dining hall.

The following were awarded letters:

Paul R. Abele, Theodore Amann, George Benedict, John F. Burns, Ben Barrett, John P. Clark, Fred Christina, George Chacko, Capt. Aldo Donnelli, Charles R. Devenney, John A. HARVEY WHITE

One of the outstanding stars of the County League to date is Harvey White, former Carnegie Tech captain, who has been playing regularly at forward for the Morry-Fintex quintet. The Fintex team is leading the race by a wide margin, due in a large measure to White's all-round performances.

SLATS, SCOZZA NAMED FOR TITLE BOUT

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The next time "Bellerin' Joe" Humphries announces the new light-heavyweight champion in New York State, he will be "of Buffalo," regardless of his name.

The New York State athletic commissioners yesterday announced that the winner of a match between Jimmy Slattery, the veteran playboy, and Lou Scozza, a rough youngster, will be regarded here as the successor to Tommy Loughran, retired 175-pound ruler. Both Scozza and Slattery are from Buffalo.

The announcement met with some surprise despite the logic of the commission's deductions. A few weeks ago the fistic solons named Maxey Rosenbloom and Yale Okun, both of New York, along with George Courtney, of Oklahoma, and Scozza for an elimination tourney to decide the prize.

Least favored of the entries was Scozza, who never has performed in startling fashion here, while Slattery, already beaten by Loughran in a title test, was not even mentioned.

Shortly after beating Joe Sekyra, however, Rosenbloom fought Slattery in Buffalo and met with a surprising defeat. Scozza put Courtney out of the running in Detroit by winning their match on a foul. Maxie obliterated Yale Okun with a decision victory.

in a new town and in a new league, and you'll see a different Heilmann next season.

"Both Meusel and Heilmann, incidentally, will fill the bill in Cincinnati in two respects. They're new faces and they're heavy hitters who will supply a punch the Reds have needed. I am told there was very little interest in the Reds at home last season, but Meusel and Heilmann ought to stir up the fans.

Bob Meusel.

"I INTEND to use Tony Cuccinello, the Columbus recruit, at third base. I'll use veterans like Meusel and Heilmann when I think they're what I need, but I'm strong for kids like Cuccinello and others of his kind, for instance Ralph Kress, whom I had in St. Louis. All of my troubles while with the Browns can be traced back to my insistance on sticking to Kress when President Ball wanted me to take him out of the lineup and put somebody else in there. I'd argue with him about Kress when we were at home, and ignore telegrams that he sent me about the boy when we were on the road. As a result I wound up in Cincinnati, which I consider a good break."

CLIMATE LIKELY TO WHIP ARMY

COAST CRITICS MAKE CARDS FAVORITES

By JESS CARVER,
Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18.—Conjecture is rife here, if anything can be rife in this lazy-daisy climate, as to whether or not the Army will benefit by spending an entire week on the Coast prior to its game in Palo Alto, December 28, with Stanford.

The Cadets are due to arrive in San Francisco Sunday afternoon. They will immediately repair to their quarters at Palo Alto, just outside the Golden Gate City, and will spend the rest of the week becoming acclimated—if they ever do. Personally, it is my opinion that it takes more than a week for a person, and especially an athlete, to get used to this air and this sunshine and this heat. Not that it is so tropic, but what humidity there is totally unfamiliar to anyone from the East.

CARDS FAVORED

The majority of Coast critics, especially those here in the southern part of California, do not believe that the Soldiers will benefit greatly by coming out here a week ahead of time. The truth of the matter is that the climate isn't the only factor out here that worked to the disadvantage of Eastern elevens—not entirely. The fact that the boys become too excited over the trip, the new sights, the pleasures of being away from home and of being feted and greeted as heroes, takes their minds from the ball game, and it is cussedly difficult to get them down to business.

At any rate, West Point is not accorded much of a chance against the Cardinals. Stanford went East last year and beat the tar out of a better team than Biff Jones has at the Point this fall. And that team has been far from an impressive aggregation. Stanford is pretty close to the class it was in in '28—indeed, there are some folks here who know what it is all about, who will tell you that Pop's team today is better than his club was at any time last year.

S. R. O. SIGNS OUT

By noon tomorrow, officials of the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena will have their neat little "sold out" signs all hung up for the Pitt-U. S. C. game New Year's Day.

Carnegie Tech provided the final shove that put this game across, by giving Southern California a great ball game in the first half of the contest in the Coliseum here last Saturday. Local people cannot forget that although Southern California won the game, the Tartans scored twice on a fresh, first-string Trojan varsity and generally outplayed the home boys before the climate got in its deadly work.

Those readers who have been following the football doings here in California are probably fast coming to the conclusion that I have dedicated the rest of my days to presenting alibis for Tech. Not a bit of it. But I wish you could come here and try to play football, try to swim, to play tennis, handball or swing a golf club. It's all right after you get used to the air, but you simply fade after the first half hour or so of strenuous exercise at first.

VISIT STANFORD TODAY

The Tartans pulled out of Southern California and Los Angeles last night, winding up a very pleasurable stay here. They headed for San Francisco, and today will visit Stanford University and then return to 'Frisco for some sight seeing there.

Tomorrow, the party will move over to Berkeley, where the University of California is located, and will pay their respects to California's campus. In the evening, they start back East, with Ogden, Utah, their first stop. Friday they'll be in Salt Lake City, Saturday in Colorado Springs, Sunday in the same spot, Monday in Chicago and Tuesday—Boy! oh boy! they'll be home!

And, with all due respect to the hospitable folks of Los Angeles, and the fine treatment here, there is a certain scrivener who wishes he were going to be with 'em.

You can't even sing your blues in the rain out here, cause it won't rain.

Ray Blades Signs As Cards' Coach

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—President Sam Breadon, of the St. Louis Cardinals, today announced he has signed Ray Blades as coach of the Cardinals to help Manager Gabby Street in the 1930 campaign. Blades formerly was an outfielder for the Cardinals and later coached the Rochester club, of the International League.

CALIFORNIA TEAM WINS

CALIFORNIA, Pa., Dec. 18.—A rally in the [illegible] gave the California Teachers [illegible] over the Fairmont Normal [illegible] tonight. The score was 40 to 39. The contest was exceedingly fast with Kurpeski and Neill showing excellent form for the winners.

Gridder to Get Summons After Radio Assault

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Officials of the Air Theater last night announced they would swear out a warrant for the arrest of William B. Fleckinstein, a member of the Chicago Bears professional football team, on a charge of assaulting Pat Flanagan, station radio announcer, during the Arthur Shires-George Trafton boxing match at White City Monday night.

YANKEES SIGN TWO PITCHERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(INS.)—Manager Bob Shawkey, of the New York Yankees, sat dow to a fairly clear desk today, thanks to a busy afternoon yesterday when he signed two young right-handed pitchers, engaged an umpire for the Yanks' exhibition games next spring and definitely decided on the reporting dates for the training season.

First of the pitchers signed was Bill Henderson, who was purchased from the Jersey City Club of the International League. He won 10 games and lost 17 last season, not a bad recor with only a fair club to help him.

The other pitcher corralled by Shawkey was Foster Edwards, who was signed as a free agent. Edwards, a former Dartmouth star, served part of two seasons with the Braves.

The task of officiating at the [illegible]ing games was conferred on Brick Owens, American League ball and strike caller.

As for spring training, Shawkey announced that the vanguard of the Yanks will arrive at St. Petersburg, Fla., on February 23. The entire squad will be on hand by March 2.

INDIANA FACES ST. VINCENT'S

LATROBE, Pa., Dec. 18.—When St. Vincent's College court team takes the floor against the Indiana Teachers tonight, the chances are that there will be at least one different face on the team. While Crowe was fairly well satisfied with the showing made at Cumberland, he believes that he can find a stronger combination and one with more offensive power. Although there is nothing definite about the change in the lineup, it is possible the coach will move Crean back to a guard position and put a new forward in his place.

W. & J. Football Banquet Postponed

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 18.—Washington and Jefferson College's 1930 gridiron captain will not be elected until after the New Year.

This became known along with the interesting fact that Coach Ray Ride, of the Red and Black staff, had gone to the Pacific Coast in company with Andy Kerr, of Colgate, and Dick Hanley, of Northwestern, who are in charge of the eastern constellation, westward bound, to participate in the annual Shriners' charity struggle at San Francisco.

Ride, who shares the responsibilities of head coach at W. & J. with Bill Amos, and Kerr, who was in charge of gridiron activities at the local school for three years, are warm friends, Ride serving as his chief assistant in 1928.

Due to Ride's departure on the western jaunt, the annual banquet for the members of the Washington and Jefferson College football squad has been postponed until after the Christmas vacation.

Daschbach Rolls 298 in Duckpins

Charley Dashbach, of Oakland, turned in a 298 score in duckpins at the Strand alleys, Oakland, last night. After rolling 11 successive strikes, Dacshbach hit the headpin on his twelfth effort, but pins No. 5 and No. 8 stood and deprived him of a perfect score.

Lou Golvash, who opposed him in the match, finished with a 249 score.

"The Show of Shows" is incredibly extravagant in its profuse employment of 77 really great stars, 500 chorus beauties, 18 song-hits by 12 different composers, 25 mammoth stage settings for as many separate dancing-singing spectacle scenes, an orchestra of 70, and the finest Full Color effects yet obtained—all lavished upon a single evening's entertainment!

Unfortunate Burros

TWELVE pack burros were killed in one day near Rock Springs, Wyo., by hunters who mistook them for antelope.

Miss Pat

by ELENORE MEHERIN

Kidnapers Make Dangerous Landing and Plane Is Crippled

CHAPTER XXXVI.

TWO bright silver planes winging upon them! Gaining! Pat kept her eyes riveted on the pursuing ships. Now they seemed larger. Getting nearer. Dear God!

Now they dwindled. Losing—No! Oh, they will not!

The plane that carried her banked with insane suddenness. It shot full speed toward clouds.

Pat clung to the window; clung with eyes and spirit to the flash of distant wings.

Suddenly it grew dark; suddenly the clouds engulfed them. They tore blindly upward.

Then Pat dropped limp and cold in her corner. No pilot with less than very life at stake would follow. The men in the cockpit were crazed; they sat motionless, stone-mad, the throttle wide open and the little plane flying like a comet.

Above the clouds into a cold, dazzling sunlight. After a long while Pat drew herself again to the window. She dreaded admitting that all hope was vanished. Guy would search for her. Her mother would have the air-lanes combed to the remotest star. Oh, by now, dozens, scores, hundreds of planes would be racing in all directions after this one lone fugitive of the skies—this bright, swift swallow.

But for the glittering miles that Pat could see, not the smallest speck was visible. Not a bird—not even a drifting, beguiling cloud.

She was lost. But she sat there trying to busy her mind—trying to deny her plight. Absorbed in this when suddenly, adding horror to her misery, the bundle at her side renewed its uneasy movements.

She drew from it. It followed. It slid down the bench when the support of her body was withdrawn.

She was overcome with revulsion. But she HAD to look. Stealthily she put out her hand and pulled the blanket back.

Pat's blood ran chill. Little sick tremors went through her. A child lay there—a beautiful little boy. His cheeks were swollen, his eyes frantic. Seeing Pat, he pushed his hands free and cowered down in fighting, uncontrollable terror.

She could scarcely breathe. She was livid with the sinister, forbidding angle the presence of the child gave to her flight. She leaned down and tried to calm the frightened little fellow. Doing this, she caught the unmistakable odor of chloroform. Had the child, too, lain unconscious in the cabin all night? Who was he? Why was he taken on this ghastly adventure?

He had his hands pressed against his ears, and she could tell from his wide open mouth that he screamed in panic. He was afraid of the noise. He wanted her to make them stop—make it quiet. He grew rigid and kicked against the seat.

But he was unhurt. With tremendous relief Pat saw that the child was uninjured.

They were flying through cloudless blue. Beneath them the mountains marched in long regiments. "Oh, where are we?" Pat wondered, longing to take the child in her arms; longing for some touch of comfort. "What will they do with us?"

Suddenly as they passed a populous town and Pat could make out the red roofs of houses, a crazy hope swept her. She could take her brief case, in which were her school books—take this case and drop it over the next settlement.

She wrote her name, and in big bold letters: "HELP." She told that Pat Dawn and a little yellow-haired boy whose name she didn't know had been kidnaped, chloroformed and carried away in the night. They were now racing over valleys and mountains in what appeared to be Southern California.

She dropped the case, and prayed burningly to a god who had Richard's face to direct her appeal into swift, rescuing hands.

The mountain ranges of East and West were joining. They locked the land with a great swinging wall.

"This must be Tehachipi," Pat thought as they flew through a pass where the winds of all the world held conclave.

They emerged from the pass and flew above bleak, lifeless lands with dry gulches wandering in the cracked earth. Sand cliffs rose out of sage brush, then the sage brush rolled on in endless, flat dreary levels.

They circled about the desert land. They were going to land in the wild, forsaken waste.

Pat closed her eyes, for the first time admitting utter doom. No one would find them here! Not Guy, though he rode in enchanted planes. Not her own mother; not even the anxious spirit of her father, whom she fancied watching and guarding, would save her now.

Her hand reached along the bench till it touched the child's flowers. These soft, silky fingers immediately closed on hers. Pat could have sobbed.

She looked in the little boy's eyes. He said, nestling against her and turning on her a limpid brown gaze—a gaze full of trust: "Will you give me something to eat? I want something to eat." His lips formed precisely over the unheard sounds.

Pat nodded and pointed to the men in the cockpit. One of them now rose. It was he who had sat at the radio. He reentered the cabin and put the tubes in his ears. He noticed neither Pat nor the child.

She touched his arm, motioned to the boy and shouted: "Give him something to eat!"

The man was stunned by her imperious gesture; by the sudden flash that had come to Pat's face. She repeated in reckless indignation: "He's HUNGRY!"

The faintest ironical smile touched the man's thin lips. He pulled a package from his pocket and tossed it to Pat.

At the sight of the two large sandwiches the child laughed. He waited tensely until she put the bread in his hands.

Pat, too, was faint with hunger. Since noon yesterday she had eaten nothing. And it was now nearing 4 o'clock. She ate slowly, her eyes fastened on the man at the radio. Had they counted on such a long flight? Had they brought food for four people? How long were they going to keep their two prisoners hidden?

The child, too, was a captive. Pat was certain of this. The little boy looked with dread on the tall, thin fellow opposite. Suddenly he pulled Pat down and shouted between sobs: "He's bad! I'm afraid of him!

Fearfully Pat's own heart echoed the cry. She sat forward, her fevered eyes on the man's cold, impersonal face. He listened with rapt concentration. Now his eyes lit with triumph: now they hardened with scorn. He liked the messages he heard.

They were saying that no trace of Patricia Dawn and a child had been found? There were no clues—there was no hope?

Suddenly, as in the morning, the man tore the tubes from his ears. Suddenly he bolted to the cockpit.

The next instant they banked so sharply that Pat and the boy were hurled from the seat.

She pulled the little fellow to her, held him with all her might. She said aloud, but not knowing it: "They've found us! They're coming again. Oh God ——save us——" And with the little boy hugged in a frantic embrace, Pat shouted a stormy plea to Christ and the Mother of Christ that this time the rescue planes would win.

They tore upward through the sky. Looking from the window Pat saw onrushing specks—growing larger; growing definite—the planes——

Their ship now careened like a thing gone mad; like a comet let loose upon the world. It swooped up, down.

The baked lands beneath them were completely lost to sight. Pat saw only two specks that her hope enlarged . . . two specks that gained: that were the hope of life and sweetness.

Saw only these and not the black looming clouds into which they were riding. In which they were swallowed!

Unconsciously Pat raised a hand and called: "Hurry—oh, hurry!"

Then the world went blind. Stark, encompassing darkness swirled over and under and all about them. They were tossed and bumped in it. For a moment a forked arrow of lightning illumined the dark with a weird blue radiance. Then the clouds above them sealed tight, and for vast, plunging moments they were buffeted like a twig on billows.

"We're lost," Pat's lips murmured in terror. "We'll crash!"

And she felt now that it was ordained—all written and unchangeable.

They could only go on until they were battered to pieces. The child almost strangled her with his arms about her neck and his head burrowed on her shoulder. She held him tight and waited.

Now it was abyssmally dark—darker than before. The pilot maneuvered with half loops and half-rolls to reverse this direction. He slowed up for a stall. Suddenly, with afflicting suddenness, they saw objects rushing past—like mountain-tops, like trees. They were free from the clouds!

They came down from their high altitude. A scene of unearthly majesty spread out before them. They looked upon vast colisseums cut in purple stone; upon castle-like structures hewn in colossal proportions.

It spread out like a table between the mighty caverns. They circled above it.

Pat looked down. She thought with a last desperate clutch at hope: "Not here! Oh, dear God, let us not land here!"

The roar of the engine ebbed. It sank to a throttled murmur. They cut down across the wind. They were landing.

Just as the wheels touched the earth the wind veered about. It caught the light plane with demoniac suddenness, turned it with a crashed wing hard against the rock.

Pat's appalling, incredible imprisonment began.

Real Beauty Takes Its Reward in Admiration, Fay King Observes

By FAY KING

THE prettier a girl is and the more admiration she attracts wherever she appears, the less she seems to notice it.

Since childhood she has become so used to these looks of sincere admiration in her direction she does not take them seriously.

In fact several of the loveliest girls I have known rather accept this tribute to their perfection in a most impersonal way.

It is usually a plain and often a rather homely girl who constantly complains of strangers staring at her.

Yet I wonder that she never tries to hide her "irresistible charms" as she has come to consider them, as some of the prettier girls do.

A beautiful girl is most beautiful when she seems utterly unaware of it.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Olina Protests Engagement of Prince and Mary

PHILIP VERITZEN'S eyes met mine with a look which made me want to turn my head away, for it was distinctly embarrassing in its open admiration. It told me silently that my gown was perfect, that it suited me. It said more than that subtly, but for once I did not resent it, because his glance had taken from me the fear with which I had seen Noel's look at Mary. Philip Veritzen had not detected his son's look at Dicky's lovely niece, and I grimly thanked my particular little joss for the concentration of his attention upon me, something which in other circumstances, would have greatly annoyed me.

But it was a danger only skirted. I knew that. Noel was too much in love with Mary and she with him, to be able to wear their masks without occasional slipping. And at any minute the arrogant head of the American dramatic world might discover that his plans for his son's alliance with the daughter of the queen whom he had loved in his stormy youth were not coming to fruition. If we could but avert that moment until the time when—I was sure—Princess Olina herself would break her engagement to Noel, Philip Veritzen's wrath against his son and Mary, while swift, might not be lasting.

It was with tense, poignant anxiety that I went into dinner upon the arm of Philip Veritzen, while Dicky escorted Lillian and Harry, Edith Fairfax, leaving the quartet of young lovers to their own partnership. It was an anxiety which did not lessen, even though the dinner and its service was such that even Philip Veritzen, epicure, patiently approved and enjoyed it, and I saw that Noel and Mary shared my nervousness. Neither ate anything except the morsel necessary to feign enjoyment of the dinner, and as the coffee was served, I saw their faces whiten and guessed that each dreaded infinitely the ordeal before them.

Purnell finished serving the coffee, and silently melted away. I had instructed him to leave us to ourselves after the placing of the coffee service. Dicky glanced at me and then rose with the easy grace which always invests any action of his.

"You were invited to a housewarming or rather apartment warming dinner," he said, "but we didn't warn you that you'd have to listen to a little speech making before we released you. It is a speech that I really should make, but my good friend, Mr. Underwood, who loves nothing better than the sound of his own mellifluous voice has begged me to permit him to take my place. Friends, Mr. Underwood."

He sat down, and Harry Underwood arose with a baleful eye fixed upon his friend.

"You can't spell that four syllabled word you just handed out, much less pronounce it, and as for my liking the sound of my own voice—ladies and gentlemen, let me tell you that the bird at the head of the table hums himself to sleep because he thinks he has such a lovely singing voice. I might add that the opinion is not shared by the other inmates of his home.

"If I had known," replied Dicky with dignity, catching the cue, "that you were going to insult me, I should not have honored you by—"

"Oh, you're going to reneg on the proposition now," Mr. Underwood retorted. "I thought that was about what you'd do when you discovered I really was game to call your bluff. Well, now my lad, let me tell you something. You don't get in on this. Your opportunity has passed. I'm going to make this speech unless you bring in 10 coppers—it will take that many—to stop me."

The faces of Princess Olina and Prince George were a study. Buffoonery such as this at even an informal dinner was beyond them, and somewhat distasteful. But they were puzzled, and that was what I wished. I knew Harry Underwood was adroitly planning to make the double betrothal announcement with an abruptness which would keep the two young scions of royalty and Philip Veritzen from guessing it beforehand.

"I assume," went on Mr. Underwood, a bit loftly, "that everyone here is familiar with that great study of Kipling's called Stalky and Company. You all no doubt remember that the master, Prout, was always talking about standing 'in loco parentis' to the boys. It is a happy phrase, a phrase I love. For instance my friend, the Dicky-bird stands 'in loco parentis' to a certain lovely girl at this table, and I have been honored with a most exalted lady to the same position. By virtue of that office, my friends I have the honor to announce the betrothals—" his voice was suddenly solemn—"of the Princess Olina to Mr. Noel Veritzen, and of Miss Mary Harrison to Prince Georges."

"No!" The voice, in half-stifled protest was that of Princess Olina.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Going Through Life in High Is Costly

THERE is no doubt that the high tension of modern life has its effect on the health of the public. The emotions are permitted to reach too high a tension.

DR. COPELAND

Yet it is not so much the work we do that tires the body organism. The fatigue results from overstimulation of the nervous system.

Over-stimulation of the emotions causes numberless ills. Among them are digestive disorders, high blood pressure, disturbances of the vital organs, diabetes, goitre, and plenty of other troubles. Perhaps the avoidance of over-stimulation of the emotions is not the most important thing in keeping health. But it is so important that physicians now are turning their thoughts and study to it as a basic cause of disease.

It is a recognized fact that under some conditions "a strong emotion can inflict a physical injury, just as surely as a knife," as Dr. Charles P. Emerson said at a recent meeting of the Indiana University School of Medicine. "Our emotions are kept under such high tension," he said, "that they cannot fail to fatigue the organs through which the emotions express themselves physically."

And what follows when you are "tired out" from the day's strain on the emotions? Do you spend the night dancing to jazz music? Do you indulge in any other exciting pursuit where your jaded nerves are kept taut until all hours of the night?

Living in the world we do, we need rest and quiet to offset the noise and confusion of city life. We must have it to overcome the rush of business, or the effect of the contacts we have in whatever environment we are placed.

We know that mind does react mightily on the functions of the body. The person who is always worrying over this thing and that, the one who holds to anger, or fear of things, is most surely going to have ill health sooner or later.

Since the time of Hippocrates, physicians have sought to have their patients use their emotions to better their condition. To keep a cheerful state of mind and a bright outlook helps very much toward recovery in many a serious illness. Keeping a calm optimistic attitude and a happy heart does something marvelously curative to the body. To transform an unhappy patient into a happy one causes a distinct chemical change to take place in the entire system. Very soon he finds himself better.

Physicians today are making a profound study of these strange emotions. Never before have they been able to deal with many of their problems so efficiently as now.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Simple Greetings Appropriate

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My mother passed away the latter part of May this year. Will it be proper for me to send cards, such as are usually sent at Christmas time, to my relatives and friends this year?

F. H.

THIS is just as you wish. Your friends, if they are friends, will thoroughly understand your reaction to this, so it is left to your own choice. There isn't any reason why you shouldn't send Christmas cards, if you choose those that are appropriate, that is, some that do not emphasize too much the "merry" spirit of Christmas. For instance, perhaps try to find cards that simply "send greetings for your Christmas and New Year."

The Correct Tie

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am to be married soon at a church wedding. It is to take place in the morning and I am going to wear all white, but in place of a veil I am going to wear a hat. The bridegroom-to-be is going to wear a dark suit and a white shirt. Should he wear a dark bow tie? B. C.

WITH a business suit, usually the dark four-in-hand tie is the most becoming to most men. And I should, therefore, advise that the bridegroom-to-be wear this type of tie. The tie could be of a dark blue silk background, with narrow white stripes, single or in groups, or with a small design of some unobtrusive kind.

Appropriate Gifts

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

What would be the most appropriate gift to give for a twenty-seventh wedding anniversary? ANXIOUS.

PEOPLE now don't pay much attention to the symbols of wedding anniversaries even when there are definite symbols for the special anniversaries. And for such an in-between number as 27 years, usually the presents consist of things for the home, of silver or glass or china or leather, something that the friends think would add to the happiness and convenience of the home.

This Suggests Mass Producing Near on Farms

By B. C. FORBES

AN insurance company, compelled to take over a lot of farms because of unpaid mortgages, is proving that agriculture can be made to pay when brains are mixed with it.

The experience of this company tends to strengthen the growing belief that the day is coming when American agriculture will be on a mass production basis just as industry is today.

J. P. MORGAN and other financiers are understood to have backed the now familiar Tom Campbell in developing his 100,000-acre wheat and flax farm in Montana because they believed that proper business and financial methods wedded to practical agricultural skill could make huge-scale farming pay well. That experiment has proved successful. Campbell has become perhaps the best-known farmer in the world. The Soviet government is said to have offered him a fortune to assume direction of Russia's ultra-ambitious, colossal-scale agricultural dreams. Campbell, born on a North Dakota farm, visited Russia this year, but elected to remain at the head of his unique Montana enterprise.

IT MIGHT be said that capitalists aspiring to invest in farming could pick and choose land ideally suited for their purpose, but that ordinary farmers have to make the best of whatever kind of soil they happen to find themselves located on, whether good, bad, or indifferent.

In the case of the insurance company, there was no picking and choosing, no selecting of the choicest soils. It simply found itself the unhappy possessor of farms which the previous owners could not make pay. Presumably, therefore, these bankrupt farms were worse, not better, than the average run.

Yet what has since happened?

THIS information comes from an authority familiar with the facts:

Up to 1920 the National Life Insurance Company had never owned any land in North Dakota. Since then it has had to foreclose on approximately 100,000 acres.

The land is rented out to tenants in quarter-sections and half-sections, with few farms of larger sizes.

A prospective tenant has to sign an agreement that he will run the farm under the company's supervision. The company has two ways of sharing with the tenants, namely, a quarter-crop proposition and a half-crop proposition.

ON a quarter-crop proposition the farmer furnishes all the seed, does all the work and the insurance company gets one-quarter of the net proceeds at the elevator when the crop is sold.

On a half-crop proposition, the company furnishes all the seed, pays for half the plowing, and the crop is split 50-50 between the farmer and the company when it is marketed.

THE company has some full-time superintendents and a few part-time superintendents, who oversee the farms. They lay out the crop rotation and in every instance insist that part of the crop go into sweet clover. The supervisors continuously check up with the farmer, selling him the idea of keeping a set of books, raising enough provisions to take care of himself, getting into stock of various kinds as soon as he possibly can, etc.

In other words, they lay out a program for the farmers and then see that they follow it.

TRADING LIGHT IN ERRATIC MARKET

Stocks Drop at Opening, Rally but Fresh Selling Develops on Recovery

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—Prices on the New York Stock Exchange continued to pursue an erratic course today as trading continued in light volume. An early period of heaviness was followed by a brisk rally at mid-day, but fresh selling developed on the recovery. Trading was largely professional in character, although the weakness of several stocks was attributed to liquidation for the purpose of establishing income tax losses.

The announcement of the formation of a large Middle Western steel merger, which has been under way for a long time, was one of the most important and interesting developments in the day's news.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC OFF

Some disappointment was apparent at the further falling off in freight car traffic, and the appointment of a receiver for the American Piano Company.

Iron Age stated that "the anomalous situation of production shrinking and confidence rising characterizes the steel market as the year-end approaches," explaining further that producers are satisfied that the sharp decline in steel output that began in October was a psychological effect of the stock market crash and greatly exceeded the actual contraction in steel consumption.

Republic Steel broke more than 5 points on the traditional "selling on the good news," although some liquidation also is believed to have been inspired by the fact that the merger did not include the Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel companies, which are generally expected to be included in the new combine. U. S. Steel common, after moving up 1¾ to 173, fell back to 169¼ and then rallied above 172. Auburn Auto dropped 6 points, Otis Elevator 5 and American Tobacco, Purity Baking, Loews and Fox Film sagged 3 to nearly 5 points in the early outburst of selling.

MERGER RUMORED

Concurrent strength of J. I. Case and the Advance Rumely issues led to rumors of a possible combination of these companies. New York Tractions also rallied briskly for some unexplained reason.

General Electric converted an early loss of 3 points into a gain of 2 points, Detroit Edison and International Business Machines were marked up 5 points above last night's close, American and Foreign Power 4⅜ and Freeport Texas and Howe Sound about 2½ points each.

Bankrupt Petition Filed Against Erla

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Involuntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Electrical Research Laboratories by the Chicago Tool Company on a claim of $1,000. No schedule of assets and liabilities has as yet been filed.

Chicago Business Men Hear Lewis.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—A picture of what would happen to the United States if the Interstate Commerce Commission was abolished after its 43 years of existence was painted today for the Chicago Association of Commerce by Ernest I. Lewis, chairman of the commission.

He surmised that the first reaction to such a situation would be "freer breathing and sighs of relief," but that the business world would soon find out how it was affected if the railroads were free "to adjust their rates, service and practices according to their judgment of what their interests require, with only the courts or Congress available for redress of grievances that might result."

"Without competent public supervision, public opinion would not sanction combinations of interest which now knit together the carriers in particular sections. The present national attitude toward the railroads is founded and reliant on the existence of the functions of regulation.

"In the business world stability and relationship of rates are more vital than the level of rates. On the reliance that rates will be stable and equal and fair, business makes its contracts months and even years in advance, industries are established and billions of capital invested."

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP.)—The curb market turned visibly heavy in the early afternoon today, after drifting in uncertain manner during the morning. Inactivity of operators for the advance evidently prompted speculators for the fall to resume operations in a cautious way, despite the market's dullness.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

BUYING POWER OF FARMERS IMPROVED

Crop Income About Same This Year but Ratio of Prices Shows Change

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Perhaps an undue amount of attention has been given in recent weeks to the purchasing power of speculators and too little to the prospective buying power of farmers.

In comparing the purchasing power of the farmers for the crop year ending next June with that of the previous year, consideration must be given to the fact that non-agricultural prices have declined since July. The crops recently harvested are between 5 and 6 per cent smaller than those of a year ago.

If agricultural prices remain unchanged through the remainder of the 1929-30 crop year, the smaller crop will produce about as much cash as last year's larger crop. Some statisticians estimate that in the event of substantial business recovery and a spurt in agricultural prices that the income of farmers may be as high as $300,000,000 in excess of last year.

BETTER OUTLOOK

Irrespective of this, farm purchasing power will be improved inasmuch as ratio between agricultural and non-agricultural prices has altered to the advantage of the farmer. This should mean a reasonably good business outlook for manufacturers of agricultural implements, automobiles and mail order houses in all farm areas except where extreme drought destroyed crops.

In attempting to forecast farm income, the Harvard Economic Society says:

"The ratio of prices received by farmers to prices paid for the goods they bought averaged 103 per cent (1926, 100;) for the calendar year 1928, as compared with 98 in the preceding year, and 106 in 1925. Since non-agricultural prices may decline somewhat, whereas farm prices—to judge from the present crop and livestock situation—are likely to hold their own or advance, one can expect the ratio for the crop year ending June 30, 1930, to the figure 106 of 1925, and even go beyond it. The present year will prove to be a good selling year in those agricultural sections not too severely afflicted with the drouth, even though gross incomes do not exceed those of last year. Sales of farm machinery in the 12 months ending September averaged 15 per cent more than those of the 12 months previous."

TO SPEED MERGERS

The stock market in recent sessions has shown a lack of new motives. Accordingly, there is more than usual interest in the forthcoming merger plan of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Irrespective of the details of the report, the country is moving measurably nearer a consummation of widespread rail mergers. One result of the recent White House business conferences was emphasis on the fact that much railroad developmental work has been held up on account of uncertainty as to mergers. President Hoover is known to favor a quickening of the process of working out a government policy on railroad mergers, and will doubtless seek to hasten railroad marriages, urging new legislation if necessary.

Litigation growing out of the Hatry financial crash in London has indicated that the liabilities of the companies affected will reach $100,000,000. It is interesting that in the recent bull market the American public was less troubled with fraudulent security vendors and bucketeers than in any past bull cycle. The public, as a result of campaigns by the other agencies, became sophisticated, and concentrated its speculative capital on the very best grade of stocks. The debacle indicated the need of discrimination as to price and the time of purchase as well as to the character of the security, although when a gilt edge stock is purchased for cash it offers the promise of avoidance of loss if the holder will wait for another major bull market before liquidating.

CREDIT NOT MECHANISM

Owen D. Young, in Capper's Weekly, points out:

"Money and credit are not mechanisms of finance, but are bound up with life and with basic moral problems of every man and woman. Thus high business standards require men who are technicians in the sense of making the connecting link between the Golden Rule on the one hand, and the most complicated business transactions on the other."

Present tendencies in the money market reflect chiefly seasonal factors. This is the time of year of maximum currency withdrawals. After the Christmas holidays there will doubtless be a return flow of currency to the banks and also a reduction of business indebtedness. Then the fundamental easement in the situation will be more visible. The effect of gold exports can be fully offset by the open market purchases by the Federal Reserve system of acceptances and government bonds.

Improvement in Steel Sales Predicted

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

"THE steel business is quiet but I expect our sales to be in normal volume by next February." This summary of the situation was made by the vice-president in charge of sales of one of the largest producers.

"Automobile production is at a low level but it is showing signs of revival," he continued. "We are getting an increased number of rush orders from Detroit. In fact about 90 per cent of recent orders for sheets have been marked rush. This means that stocks are at an exceptionally low level.

"Many automobile plants which had cut operations are gradually getting back into a beter rate. Automobile companies which were working at 25 per cent of capacity are increasing schedules to about 35 per cent. Ford is starting to produce his new model. While I do not think he will make as many as he expects, he wil have a big output.

Sees Normal Business

"WHILE I am optimistic about the future," continued the steel man, "I expect only a normal volume of business next year. I do not expect that we shall have an exceptional year such as the one just ending. The steel industry broke many records. This has been reflected in profits. It would not be a good thing for the Steel Corporation to make as much money next year as it did this year. Our friends, the 'wild jackasses' in Washington, might start meddling in our affairs.

"The automobile industry will make about 1,000,000 less cars next year than it will make this year. But it made 1,000,000 too many cars this year. Beginning in January the motor car makers started pushing their cars out faster than was warranted.

"Another factor has been the tendency of many people to buy extra cars with speculative profits. This will be followed by a reaction in the coming year.

Tin Plate Active

"IN spite of the general depression in steel there are a few lines which are still enjoying an active business. The structural steel fabricators are operating close to capacity. The railroad car builders are busier than at any time for several years. The Standard Steel Car Company is booked up to next May. Pressed Steel Car has nearly as full an order book.

"The tin plate mills are working at a fairly good rate for this season of the year. The largest producer is operating at about 80 per cent of capacity. The independents are producing at a somewhat lower rate," he concluded.

Motor Production

ANOTHER angle on the future of the automobile industry has been given by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the General Motors Corporation. While Mr. Sloan did not make a specific prophecy regarding the outlook for 1930 he pointed to the fact that the replacement business will be larger than ever before. Mr. Sloan said:

"In 1929, for the first time in the history of the industry, the replacement market will exceed 3,000,000 cars. In 1930 our calculations indicate a domestic replacement requirement of 3,390,000 vehicles.

"With an increase in the worldwide use of motor vehicles to over 30,000,000, with a growing tendency in this country toward the ownership of two or more cars and with a rapid upward trend of first time buyers in the newer markets of the world, out studies indicate that, with the passing of a few more years, the record-breaking production of 1929 will represent only a commonplace performance, with a stabilized upward trend year after year in proportion to the growth of population and wealth."

Meeting

"HAVEN'T seen you for quite a time."
(Heart, beat softer or she will hear.)
"Yes, I'm writing a bit of rhyme,"
(Eyes, be cooler and brain be clear.)
"Oh, I'm running around with Dot,
Playing the Village quite a lot,
Bridge and dancing and all that rot."
(Why do my words all sound so queer?)

"A year ago it was you and I."
(Why is her laugh like a bell gone gay?)
"Funny the way the time slips by—"
(Why is her mouth like a scarlet spray?)
"Remember the awful crush I had,
Boy, oh boy it was just too bad,
Well, give my best to the newest lad—"
(Tears, stay back as she goes her way.)
—South Ozone Park.

NIFTY

THE benefit performance for the families of the Pathe fire victims was a sell-out. All of the stars volunteered, nobody was asked. George M. Cohan, who did an act with his old partner, Sam H. Harris, cornered Jack Donahue, the master of ceremonies, and pouted: "See here, Jack. I'm very tired, can't you put us on soon?"

"Sorry," said Donahue, "but you don't go on for another hour."

"Gee," moaned Harris, "I can't stay nervous that long!"

OBSERVATION

At the same benefit show we mingled back stage with the mob of entertainers and observed a lad with sad and weary eyes, who did not come to do his act, but Just To Be On The Scene. He was Harry Delmar, the chap who hired the little girls who died in the fire at the movie studio.

Then when they were seeking autographs for a huge cardboard that they later auctioned off to the highest bidder, Delmar refused to put his autograph on it.

Instead, he put his autograph on a check for $1,000 and turned it into the fund.

WHY COLYUMERS DIE YOUNG

"DEAR WALTER," affectionately writes Edgar Selwyn, "I'm complimented when you mention my name, but I'd be positively flattered if it were mentioned with an actual fact. When you write that I am a coward because I barred George Jean Nathan from my theaters, you tell a lie. Mr. Nathan wasn't barred. He just wasn't invited to see 'Other Men's Wives.' If Mr. Nathan has the privilege of rejecting certain invitations extended by certain managers, it seems to me it should be the prerogative of certain producers to refuse to invite certain critics."

SUGGESTION

A million dollars could be made
By any silly dub
Who could invent a rack and hook
For holding magazine or book
Worth reading in the tub.
—Margaret Covie.

SOTTO VOCE

P. A. La Reau (Springfield, Mo.): Broadway was called "The Yappian Way" seasons ago, and is out of date. Thanks, anyway.

NOVELETTE

THEIR romance blazed six months ago. He was so young, anyway. She had shelved her husband because the new "heart" Had That Look In His Orb and they planned to be married as soon as she arranged matters in Chicago. After she got the divorce he was elevated to company manager of the show in which she prima-donna'd. Then something happened. He was assigned to the New York general offices of the producing company and you know how it is when She Is There and You Are Here.

Then one three-o'clock-in-the-yawning her regular long distance call came. But instead of the usual baby-talk she told him that she had married a chorus boy who had just joined her show, and she was sorry, but that she hoped he would understand.

Then the jilted chap was elevated to manager of her show.

The first thing he did was to fire her husband!

O, MR. WILSTACH!

Recommended to F. J. Wilstach's Dictionary of Similes: Barrett C. Keisling's: "Deceiving as a retouched photograph" . . . Russel Crouse's: "Black as week-old snow" . . . H. I. Phillips': "As forlorn-looking as a turkey on a book" . . . J. M. March's: "He looked like something lost in the mail" . . . Hugh Wiley's: "He hasn't as much cash as there are raincoats in Yuma" . . . Robert Reud's: "As wide open as a West Forty-ninth street speakeasy," and Sam Hellman's: "He's got more money than the phone company has wrong numbers."

POEM

TEN little commandments
Spoiling lots of fun—
Along came the Younger Generation
And then there were none.
—Wayne G. Haisley.

ALWAYS BELITTLIN'

Irving Kaye Davis, author of "Diana," a third-rate show, which collapsed immediately after it was soundly spanked by almost every critic, was Using The Crying Towel in a Broadway restaurant last night. "We are going to make it a test case," he wept. "We can prove that every critic went into a huddle between acts and conspired to roast my play."

When a reviewer attempted to comfort the new playwright and vowed that the critics never went into "huddles," Mr. Davis became all the more indignant. In fact he wrote lengthy letters of contempt to the drama oracles.

"Well, then," said the critic, "how do you account for the fact that every critic in town panned the devil out of a play written by Louis Weitzenkorn, who was a managing editor of a newspaper?"

"Because," said Davis naively, "his was a bad play!"

FOR CERTAIN DRAMATISTS

A HEN, when honest work she tackles,
First lays her egg before she cackles,
A playwright's on a lower peg—
He cackles first, then lays an egg.
—Norman R. Jaffray.

THE RETORT DANDY

Perhaps the only author who abhors curtain speeches is George Kelly, the Pulitzer prize play winner. He never makes one if he can help it, no matter how terrific the ovation may be. Take the time, for instance, when the asbestos dropped on "The Torchbearers," one of his better pieces. Reluctantly he responded with what was supposed to have been a talk of thanks, but it came out of him inaudibly.

"Louder! Louder!" cried the audience to a man.

"It isn't that important," said Kelly as he backed off.

FLYING SCHOOL HERE APPROVED

Penn-School of Aviation, a subsidiary of the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, has been approved as a transport, limited commercial and private pilot's ground and flying school by the United States Department of Commerce, it was announced here today.

The rating is one most coveted by flying schools, there being only about 20 commercial instutions with this rating in the United States. A. L. Humphrey, president of Westinghouse Air Brake, and James Rae, president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, lauded the efforts of the local flying officials in achieving this high rating.

State licensing of the school will follow within a few weeks, the requirements under the commonwealth's aeronautical code being the same as the Department of Commerce.

Ladies' Aid Circle Guests at Party

Mrs. Harry J. Stern, 824 Malvern rd., Avalon, will entertain members of Circle No. 6, Ladies Aid Society, Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, this afternoon with a Christmas party. Assisting will be Mrs. C. M. Ohle, Mrs. Anna C. Stern and Mrs. Byron Rowland.

UNSCRAMBLE These ANAGRAMBLES
DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d." to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

IDEAL GIFT FOR THE LITTLE ONE

By Aunt Bella

So many people write or call to ask sympathetic Aunt Bella what will make an appropriate Christmas gift for the little ones. Well, dear readers, "Is it a girl or a boy?" Nine times out of ten, I suggest a policeman's suit, like the one worn above by my little grandson, who I am raising for my daughter until she comes to get him. By the way, if any of my readers happen to run across my daughter, will they be kind enough to notify Aunt Bella, in care of the Christmas Cheer Department, or merely call an officer. Tomorrow we will discuss Gifts for Gents.

Council Boosts Taxes, Disregarding Protests

Disregarding protests of property owners who appeared before members of Council to object to any increase in tax, that body yesterday delved deeper into the pockets of citizens in announcing the fixing of the budget for 1930.

Council accepted estimates for the operation of the various departments that will call for a raise in taxes of 1½ mills besides boosting the charge for water on meter rates. The levy on property is set at 26 mills on land and 13 mills on buildings, as against 25 mills and 12½ mills, respectively, the rate for the current year. The water rate increase is two cents on each gradation of charge.

The budget was NOT adopted unanimously. The five to four vote by which it carried showed the power of the new alignment in Council for the first time. The group of administration solons, Messrs. Alderdice, English, Herron, Kambach and Little cast the affirmative votes. Opposed were Messrs. Garland, Anderson, Malone and McArdle.

Discussion in Council shows plainly that the five members responsible for the increase did not take a reasonable view of the opposition argument that the vote should be delayed until study could be made of estimates of additional revenues for the coming year. This omission will appear unpardonable to the people who must foot the bills.

Council—rather the administration cabal—drove directly into the storm of public opposition in this matter. Perhaps the members who forced the increase at a time when economy and cutting of expense should be the guide of the city, as it is to those who must pay for this increase, had overpowering reasons for voting as they did. If they have the public will demand an explanation.

The fact that almost half of Council was not satisfied with the budget, as prepared, will be regarded by the public as an indication that little or no serious attempt was made to cut the estimates. When Council received them from the Mayor there was a declaration that they meant an increase of 1½ mills. Since that is what it finally is, with higher water charge in the bargain, some will wonder if Council did not increase the estimates instead of decreasing them.

Mayor Kline and his own five councilmen will have some explaining to do to the army of owners of large and small properties who pleaded with Council for no increase, urging economy and better management as a means of staying within the limits of the present rate of taxation.

A swiftly growing nation, we
And for our progress famed,
But for the growth depicted here
We well may be ashamed.

Our prison population grows
To a gigantic size,
No wonder Uncle Sam averts

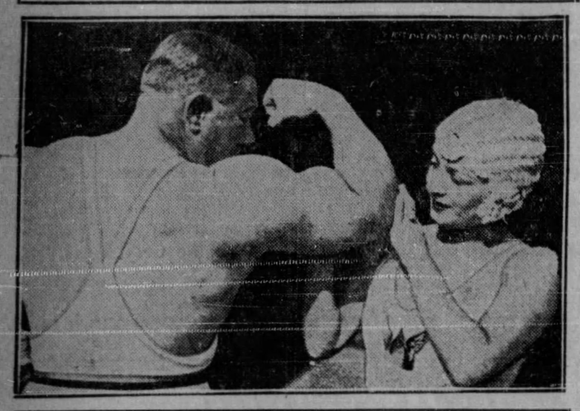
Earth's Strongest Man

And what of It?



IF HE HAD LESS MUSCLE, HE MIGHT HAVE MORE BRAINS

Behold Rigoulot, strongest man in the world, now with the Busch Circus in Berlin.

His charming wife, who performs with him, is delicately massaging his muscles, perhaps for advertising purposes. They don't seem to need massaging.

This man can lift a horse, hold on his shoulders as many men as can find room there, lift gigantic weights, hold his wife sitting on the palm of his outstretched hand.

He really is STRONG, but what of it?

He can lift 1,500 pounds. An ordinary crane can lift tens of thousands of pounds, and do it more easily. He can carry a load of 600 pounds a considerable distance. A very small automobile truck, not expensive, can carry four times as much 100 times as far and 15 times as rapidly.

Nobody would hurt the feelings of Rigoulot, earth's strongest man, or even minimize the fact that he has done his share to show what a wonderful machine the human body is.

This is merely to remind young gentlemen that they need not envy this giant's great muscles.

It isn't what we have in our MUSCLES, but what we have inside of our SKULLS that counts.

Use your brains, develop one good idea, apply it practically, and you can hire thousands of giants to do whatever you tell them to do.

In addition, THIS is to be remembered:

There is in each human body only so much energy, so much driving power.

If you develop great muscles, THEY MUST BE FED, they must have their supply of blood, leaving less for the brain, they demand especial attention from the digestive system. And after awhile, as age comes, they cease to be used. Those big muscles accumulate fat and become a nuisance.

Fortunate the man who at 60 begins to get thinner, having never been VERY fat or muscular.

And unfortunate is he who accumulates fat, a wheezy breathing apparatus and discomfort as age comes on.

Our Weak Women!

(Those of Queen Elizabeth's Time Said to be More "Modern."

Katherine Anthony, who studies hard and writes well, has recently completed her research into the life and times of Queen Elizabeth. She has reached the conclusion that the ladies of Elizabeth's time were a great deal more "modern" than the most free and easy women of today.

Women then, as now, slept late, spent the day at gossip and cards, dressed for dinner (wore silk hosiery) and danced and dined until dawn. House parties, lawn tennis and horseback riding were in fashion then, as now. But the Elizabethan lady of leisure went a little further than the so-called smart women of today, for in those times it was fashionable to be well tutored in Greek, Latin, French and Italian. The lady could discuss politics and theology, and spoke her own mind and lived her own life to an extent hardly possible today—despite relaxed standards here and now, as compared to a generation ago.

When it came to robust profanity—well, modern slang, with now and then a swear word, is pale and weak as compared to Elizabethan vigor. And Queen Bess herself, to give proper vehemence to her favorite oaths, spat eloquently.

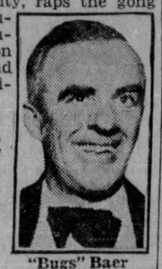
The Droneless Hive

PROF. REED, who is being educated by the students at Columbia University, raps the gong with some authoritative information on prosperity and its concomitants.



"Bugs" Baer

He informates that half the total work in the world is performed in the United States.

The daily wage of an American workman is equal to the weekly wage of his European competitor, if you call that competition.

The American go-grabber works five times as sudden as the European artisan. These remarkable figures do not shelter the Army carpenter in their capacious folds.

The Army carpenter is not a wretch who strikes like a snake. He will take a precarious job and nurse it to health. He works slowly and deliberately, being too much of a patriot to shorten a war which we are winning.

He has his equal in the Parisian experts engaged in the building trade. For three months in Paris we watched French Masons shampooing and manicuring a new hotel building.

The French clock is numbered from 1 to 24, which allows 'em to crowd more dinner hours onto the dial. Every other hour, the workmen nibble red and green peppers that look like traffic lights and pump away at a bottle of red wine.

It requires months to erect a Paris scaffolding. No nails are used. Long wooden poles are tied together with cords, twisted by tender hands into lovers' knots.

There is nothing spasmodic nor vivacious about the actions of a French laborer beating a slow tatoo on lumber or stone.

He is as deliberate as a shadow sprinting around a sun dial.

He hammers O. K. But his arm only rises and falls with the tide.

We would like to put a European mechanic on Henry Ford's Detroit buzzing sanitarium and watch him trying to fan a redhot rivet traveling at the rate of 60 sparks a minute.

Dr. Reed states the European believes that the slower he works the longer it will last.

If he tried that over here, the job would last, but he wouldn't.

This is a nation of quick sales and small profits. We throw up a 50-story building in three weeks and then tear it down to get the water out of the cellar.

Europe complains that America is a nervous nation always on its toes. Which may be a true bill. But a century ago we discovered that nobody ever got anywhere rocking on his heels.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

IF YOU WERE TO START A NEW RELIGION AND DRAW UP A NEW CREED, WHAT WOULD IT BE? WHAT TRUTHS WOULD YOU ENDORSE AS LIVING ISSUES, GUARANTEED TO HELP A MAN IN HIS DAILY AFFAIRS?

For many years you've probably been saying that you were a Methodist or Unitarian, a Catholic or Christian Scientist. You've joined a church, contributed money and you'd put up an argument if anyone criticized your creed. But how much do you LIVE that creed? How much do you LEAN ON IT in a pinch? When it comes right down to brass tacks, do you take your practical problems to Jesus Christ or do you take them to the First National Bank and your favorite doctor, broker or psychiatrist?

Dr. Charles Francis Potter, of New York, suspects that religion isn't a very live issue with most of us. He thinks it's a sort of social decoration which well regulated people feel they should have . . . like a nice calling card, or a nifty monogram on the office door. But he doesn't believe that we use it much in our practical affairs and he sees no value in a religion unless it is used in practical affairs. So he has formulated a creed which, in his opinion will help a man in every department of his common life. And in place of the old Mosaic law, he has formulated 10 new commandments. Here they are:

1—God did not create the world. It evolved.

2—The conventional conception of heaven and hell is wrong, because right deeds bring their own satisfaction and wrong deeds are their own retribution.

3—Man's chief aim should be to improve himself, not to glorify God.

4—Religion should deal with the natural instead of the supernatural.

5—Man is born inherently good and of infinite possibilities as opposed to the theory he is inherently evil and born of the dust.

6—Man should attempt to remove injustices and suffering instead of submitting to them as manifestations of the will of God.

7—There is truth in all religions and truth outside religion.

8—The ideas of sin, salvation, redemption and prayer are unimportant.

9—No man or God can save another man, for improvement comes only from within.

10—Suffering is the natural result of breaking the laws of right living instead of being a manifestation of hell on earth.

Do you believe in these statements? Possibly not. Possibly the whole subject of religion bores you. If it does, you're foolish. For it's just as necessary for a man to BELIEVE IN SOMETHING as it is for him to eat, drink and sleep.

THE GREAT MENACE TO HUMAN PROGRESS IS NOT IMMORTALITY OR ATHEISM BUT INDIFFERENCE.

Don't go drifting through life without a cause or a creed. Don't be satisfied with working and playing, loving and hating, living and dying. That's the program of a brute. BELIEVE IN SOMETHING .... SOMETHING THAT WILL PUT FIRE AND FURY AND BEAUTY AND COURAGE AND DELIGHT INTO YOUR WHOLE PERFORMANCE.

It doesn't matter what you believe as long as it seems ennobling to you and you're vitally interested in it.

If you prefer to think that life is a grim, personal, adventure and that God and heaven and hell are as real as the corner cop, then fight it out on that basis.

If you can only be quickened by the beauty of the natural world, then get busy on that theory.

Or, if only fair play appeals to you, make that your standard.

But....believe in something ....with every ounce of your substance and every watt of your wallop....for, without belief, you might as well be a clam.

Text For Today Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.—John, xiv:6.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

HE HAS a heart in a position corresponding to our hearts, but as he has no lungs he has no double circulation; the dogfish heart, like the heart of a human embryo, is a single pump and drives all the blood forward via the gills to the rest of the body.

He has a stomach lying rather to the left of his abdominal cavity and kidneys at the back; he has a liver and portal veins, a spleen, thyroid, pineal and pituitary glands, cerebrum and cerebellum testes or ovaries. The homology of his organs can be traced even in minute details, in the courses and branching of his nerves and arteries.

H. G. Wells

Upon point after point the differences between a dogfish and ourselves are modifications of a plan common to both. And in many cases where the homologies of the two adults are not apparent a study of the human embryo shows how the two correspond.

The position might be summarized by saying that if we had a model dogfish made of plasticine we could twist and stretch and bend it bit by bit, increasing the quantity at this point, perhaps, but adding nothing essentially new, until we had a very passable model mammal—a modifying process that is crudely reproduced in the stages of our own embryonic development.

If we examined any other vertebrate—a frog, say, or a tortoise, or a sparrow—we should find a similar agreement of plan. They all possess more or less the same set of organs, put together in the same way.

On the other hand this does not apply to a great multitude of other animals. A lobster, for example, has organs that do not correspond at all to ours, and the whole architecture of his body is distinct; the same is true of a starfish, or a tepeworm, or an oyster.

A plasticine model of any of these creatures would have to be broken down to nearly nothing before you could begin to worry it into the form of a vertebrate.

Such then is the import of "phylum."

In reply to the question, what are the characteristic features of vertebrates, as distinct from other animals? A trained zoologist could reel off a string of anatomical points, particularly if he was a teacher or a student about to undergo examination.

Nevertheless, there is a simple definition; the vertebrates are the athletes of the animal kingdom. They have better devices for supplying those muscles with oxygen than any other creatures.

The mammals on land, the birds in the air, the fish in the water—these include in their ranks the largest, strongest and swiftest of creatures, and those with the greatest powers of endurance.

That is why their one phylum thrusts itself upon our attention in front of all the other phyla of the Animal Kingdom.

Theirs is the best pattern; they include all the high-grade makes in the world of life.

THE CLASSES OF VERTEBRATE PHYLA

AT THE head of any survey of vertebrate forms must come the mammals and birds.

They have dominated this earth for many millions, perhaps for scores of millions of years, and are manifestly the best-adapted creatures to the present climatic variety and uncertainties of our planet.

But they have not always ruled the terrestrial scene. In the past, stupendous ages passed in which neither bird flew nor mammal ran, and beings less adapted to an active life in a fluctuating temperature prevailed.

There was an age when the reptiles ruled, before nature, it would seem, had invented the hair or feathers, the double circulation and the blood at a constant temperature, which accounted for the active presence of the bird and the mammal all over the globe and all round the year.

3A. MAMMALS.

THE class Mammalia includes most of the animals with which we are familiar—ourselves and dogs, cats and horses, pigs and mice. They are warm-blooded animals, a distinction which they share with the birds, and in order to keep their temperature up they are more or less completely covered with hair. This hair, we may note, is one of the distinguishing features of mammals. Moreover, they are peculiar in the treatment of their young.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Loud hoots for Grover Whalen's regulation of the theater traffic have simmered to a mere hum. The idea has definitely clicked, and those who looked upon Mayor Walker's police commissioner as a sort of civic fop are chanting his praise. He is now the white haired boy.

Whalen took a big gambling chance in his quixotic effort to cut the noose that was slowly strangling theatrical life in America's amusement capital. Had he failed he would have been swept out of office on a gale of laughter. Older heads wagged dubiously. Whalen practically went it alone.

Before his plans were set in motion, theater goers in some instances had to start for the theater an hour before curtain time and even then often arrived late. The nightly chaos was indescribable and growing worse. The situation was more serious than the public realized.

Had a great fire broken out in the theatrical zone between 7:30 and 8:30 the probable loss of life and property, due to clogged and impassable streets, could not be calculated. Although Whalen knew this, he did not stress the danger in forcing his plan.

In making such startling changes, there was needed, of course, a period for adjustment. In six weeks, things began to run smoothly. Today it has been proven by actual timing that a trip requiring usually an hour in other days can be made in 16 minutes.

The hardest blow fell on restaurants in the theatrical district. Due to strict parking orders, they have suffered severe losses. Some were forced to quit. But the innovation has been for the greatest good of the greatest number.

One of the big howls came from the operators of cruising taxis who were completely shunted out of the area during restricted periods. In a few weeks, however, these charioteers discovered that instead of business slumping it was better than ever.

So it is the dandified Mr. Whalen with his white spats, lapel rose and silken mustache, has completely confounded his critics, like the top-booted city chap in the play. The fact that Whalen also quitted a commercial post, which with bonuses totaled $100,000 a year, to accept the most unstable of civic jobs for $10,000 a year, has added to his popularity.

Two lady magazine writers are making faces. One accuses the other of piracy because one of her phrases appeared under the name of her contemporary in another magazine several months after the first appearance. A checkup will likely show this is frequent in the writing world and is the product of coincidence. With so many thousands writing, the wonder is it happens so infrequently.

George Bernard Shaw recently said a person writing for a livelihood is bound to have moments of "unconscious plagiarism." He points out that a writer is usually an omniverous reader and is influenced by the phrasing of others even though he may not employ the exact words.

George Ade was once sent by a New York editor a colorful paragraph from a book by Theodore Dreiser. It was almost word for word a paragraph from one of Ade's earlier books, "Pink Marsh." The editor expected to inspire a stinging retort from the gentleman at Brook, Ind. He paralleized the paragraphs and inquired: "What do you think of this?"

Ade replied: "I am flattered pink."

When Eugene Field was running his masterly column in Chicago, a small town daily in a nearby state used to reproduce it, signed by another name. Field's only answer was to write a paragraph now and then to praise the author as the best paragrapher in America.

In a New York hotel shortly after the war a waiter confided he was a Russian prince. I accepted his confidence with mild scepticism. Two years ago I saw him among the fashionable hotel guests at St. Moritz. Jay O'Brien presented him. "Do you believe me now?" he inquired a little stiffly. And was I confused!

One of the hilarious revue skits shows the figure of a sweet faced mother such as Whistler used to draw and like we all read about and cry over, knitting by a dim lamp light. A child approaches with: "How are you, grandma?"

"Lousey," she replies, and the curtain drops.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

AS a person past middle age, do you have a tendency to over-dress or to wear clothing more suitable to a person half your age?

Then you are a vain old peacock.

You make a studied effort to appear much younger than you are. You think you are getting away with it, but you are not.

Time leaves marks that are indelible. You can't erase them—you can't beat the old fellow. If your efforts to do so are carried too far, you appear ridiculous.

There is the woman past middle age who tries to be kittenish.

The old fellow who tries to act like a young gallant.

Both are trying to make themselves more attractive to younger persons.

And the youngsters laugh at them.

Those of their own age pity them. They guess rightly that there must be a wheel missing in their mental mechanism.

Normal persons have desires, ideas and manners of the usual run of those their own age.

If not there is a weakness somewhere.
